Cold Diverts President To Palm Beach

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy, suffering from "a heavy cold," stopped in Palm Beach today instead of returning directly to Washington from his weekend trip to Latin America.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy's present plan is to leave for Washington Tuesday morning.

Salinger told newsmen that the decision to stay over in Palm Beach was made only this morning, en route to Florida from a refueling stop at Ramey Air Force Base in Puerto Rico.

Salinger used the description "heavy cold" in describing the chief executive's illness.

Navy Capt. George W. Burkley, assistant White House physician, treated Kennedy once during the night. He drove into the estate where the Kennedys are staying about 15 minutes after the Kennedys arrived.

The Air Force jet carrying the presidential party had been scheduled to stop here only long enough to let off Mrs. Kennedy, who was to join her children at Palm Beach for the Christmas holidays.

Kennedy had intended to get together with them on Friday, on his return from a meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in Bermuda.

Salinger's announcement that Kennedy's present plan is to continue on to Washington Tuesday indicated the President still expects to keep the date with Macmillan. His schedule has called for a flight from Washington to Bermuda Thursday.

Clothing Fire Kills Woman

Vanport Resident Burned In Mishap

A 74-year-old Vanport woman burned to death at her home Saturday night at 9:15 after her clothing caught fire.

Mrs. Ethel Thompson, 468 Ohio Ave., was found dead in a second story bedroom by firemen who said she suffered third degree burns of the entire body. The Beaver County coroner ruled the death accidental.

Fire Chief Tom Lotz of Vanport said there were gas space heaters in each of the upstairs rooms and it is possible that her clothing was ignited as she brushed by one of them.

Evidence showed Mrs. Thompson had first rolled on two beds

250 Killed As Fire Hits Circus Tent

Arsonist May Have Fired Blaze, Worst In Brazil's History

NITEROI, Brazil (AP) — Fire roared through a nylon circus tent Sunday afternoon as 2,500 persons watched a performance. Police estimated 250 were killed.

It was Brazil's worst disaster and the worst circus fire in history, worse than the Ringling Bros. fire in Hartford, Conn,. in 1944 in which 168 died.

Officials early today said 180 bodies had been recovered, many of them children. An estimated 500 were injured, some seriously.

Gov. Celso Pecanha of Rio de Janeiro State said arson was suspected. Niteroi is across Guanabara Bay from Rio de Janeiro.

The fire flashed up the tent as two trapeze performers began their aerial act. Within five minutes the flames had enveloped the mammoth tent and seared the ropes. The blazing mass fell on the spectators.

Some were trapped in their seats. Others could not get near the exits. Some were trampled to death.

Fear-crazed women and children rushed for the exits, fell atop each other and caught fire.

Treatment of the hundreds of injured was hampered by shortages of medicine, blood plasma, hospital beds, doctors and nurses. Air force helicopters flew medicine and plasma from Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo. Radio appeals brought doctors and nurses from Rio.

Niteroi's five hospitals were filled. Others of the injured were

Locals Clear Merger Plan

5 Unions Of IBOP To Form Lone Unit

Five small locals of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, each with less than 100 members, agreed voluntarily to merge into one unit at a general membership meeting Saturday morning at the former union headquarters on W. 6th St.

An IBOP spokesman said Locals 4, Casters; 10, Turners and Handlers; 12, Jiggermen; 22, Mouldmakers, and 29, Dishmakers, voluntarily decided to proceed with the merger.

Details of the merger remain to be worked out, the spokesman said, but indicated each local will have its books audited and the local officers will meet with IBOP Secretary - Treasurer Charles Jordan prior to another general meeting Feb. 3.

Officers of the new local probably will be named at the February meeting.

The union's constitution allows the Executive Board to order the consolidation of smaller locals, but the international officers said they prefer the mergers be handled on a voluntary basis.

Youngster Dashes Into Path Of Auto Near Kensington

A Kensington youngster dashing from his home to the family mailbox across the road was struck by a car and killed Saturday afternoon.

Robert C. Toalston, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Toalston of Kensington R. D., was struck as he was crossing Route 664 a mile south of the town.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Salem Central Clinic at 1:40 p. m. of a skull fracture.

The Lisbon State Highway Patrol said the boy ran into the path of the southbound car of Shirley Ann Kreps, 26, of Hanoverton R. D. 1.

The patrol said the youngster was crossing the road to the family mailbox after a mail truck had departed a short time preceding the mishap.

The driver was not held, the patrol said. The victim was the 18th traffic fatality in Columbiana County this year, compared to 25 at the same time in 1960.

Born in Salem Oct. 16, 1955, to James and Martha Jean Fields Toalston, he attended the Glade Run Presbyterian Church. He had not yet attended school.

Besides his parents, survivors include a brother, James Leslie Toalston, two sisters, Patricia Kaye Tolston and Diane Elizabeth Toalston, all at home; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fields of Salineville, and the paternal grandfather, Leslie Toalston of Kensington R. D.

Weatherman Stymies Santa Claus With Rain

Santa Claus, working out a long-range forecast for his trip next weekend, could see nothing but rain over the Ohio Valley when he checked his radar scope at the North Pole today.

What's more, the Ohio weatherman said there will be more rain Tuesday, along with falling temperatures. But he has five more days to produce snow for St. Nick's sleigh.

The Stratton Dam recorded an unseasonable high of 58 degrees at 1 p. m. Sunday. The overnight low was 40. Showers that started at 4:15 a. m. continued well into the morning and more rain is expected this afternoon and tonight. The high today will be 36-42 and the overnight low will be 33-38.

Attack May Cause U.N. To Censure

Nehru Ignores Bid By U Thant To Set Talks On Questions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —India's invasion of Goa and the other two Portuguese territories was expected today to bring on a meeting of the U.N. Security Council and possibly censure of Prime Minister Nehru's government.

The invasion of Goa, Damao and Diu came after U.N. acting Secretary-General U Thant failed to get Indian Prime Minister Nehru to negotiate with Portuguese Premier Antonio Salazar over the enclaves.

He sent both men identical cables Thursday appealing to them to see that the situation on the borders of the three enclaves on the west coast of India did not deteriorate into a threat to peace.

Salazar accepted the suggestion for negotiations. Nehru's rejection said India had consistently lived up to the United Nations charter, but Portugal had "consistently ignored United Nations resolutions on ending colonialism" and refused to send the United Nations required reports on her colonies.

Nehru accused the Portuguese of repressing the inhabitants of the territories and staging daily raids into India.

Salazar said Portugal was ready to negotiate international guarantees that the Portuguese territories would not be used against India's security.

Stay Denied By Court In 'Riders' Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court unanimously refused today to order a stay of proceedings against "Freedom Riders" arrested in Jackson, Miss.

The court acted on a request by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which protested asserted delays in trials and burdens inflicted on the arrested persons "by virtue of the vexations multiple prosecution program."

The court's action was announced in an order which said that the persons asking that the Jackson proceedings be stayed were apparently not those being prosecuted in Mississippi courts.

Today's action by the high tribunal came one week after it struck down "breach of the peace" convictions of 16 Negro sit-in demonstrators who tried to desegregate lunch counters in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

That decision last Monday did not decide broad constitutional questions raised in the cases. It was based on the comparatively narrow ground that there was no evidence the defendants breached the peace.

Today's refusal to stay the Jackson proceedings does not necessarily mean the Supreme Court might not act on the cases later, after the state courts act.

The Supreme Court's order today commented that "a federal

U.N. Besieges Capital

U.S. Envoy Seeks Unity Move In Katanga Crisis

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo, (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion today flew to meet Moise Tshombe and hoped to bring the Katanga president back for unity talks with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Gullion took off at daybreak in a U.S. Air Force Constellation as President Kennedy's personal peace envoy.

One report from Elisabethville said Tshombe was still inside his heavily defended official palace in the Katanga capital under siege by U.N. troops only yards away. Other reports placed him in the African district south of Elisabethville.

A press dispatch said a furious battle raged in the streets of Elisabethville when the first U.N. armored patrol pushed into the center of the city. The patrol drew withering fire but was making a steady advance and it seemed the fall of the capital was near, the dispatch added.

Earlier reports from the United Nations indicated that the fighting was less intense than in the previous few days.

American officials here said unless Gullion's pilot got definite word that Tshombe was waiting in his capital, the ambassador would land at Ndola, in neighboring Northern Rhodesia, and hope to meet the separatist Katanga leader there.

Gullion decided on his sudden flight after conferring Sunday night with Adoula shortly after the premier's return from a trip to Kivu Province.

Adoula reportedly agreed to meet Tshombe but Congolese government officials here clearly were in no mood for talks except on their own terms — bringing Katanga back under the wing of the Leopoldville regime.

American officials emphasized that Gullion had no intention of offering Tshombe a cease-fire in his embattled secessionist province as a condition for talks with Adoula.

But the ambassador was empowered — with U.N. approval — to guarantee Tshombe and his party safe passage and protection from arrest should he agree to come to a meeting with Adoula. Kitona, the U.N. military base along the Congo's Atlantic coast, was mentioned as a likely site.

Tshombe reportedly has indicated in informal contacts with U.S. diplomats in the past few days that he would agree to this arrangement.

Gullion's mission was limited to setting up the meeting between the two Congo leaders — not to mediating their talks. Kennedy stepped in the Congo crisis directly after Tshombe appealed to him to intervene to bring a cease-fire in the fighting between U.N. and Katanga forces.

U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant, backed by the United States, has repeatedly made clear that there will be no cease-fire until U.N. objectives in Katanga are achieved.

U.N. troops were crushing Katanga resistance in Elisabethville today with only two remaining objectives still needed to give them virtual control of the city — Tshombe's palace and Radio Katanga.

The drive launched by 5,000 U.N. troops has carried into the heart of Elisabethville with a giant pincer movement clamping a vise to isolate the city.

U.N. Asked For Session By Portugal

India Claims Gains Include Capture Of Damao, Diu Areas

BOMBAY, India (AP)—India today claimed capture of two Portuguese enclaves—Damao and Diu—and gains on all sectors in a lightning campaign against Goa, the third and largest of Portugal's possessions on the subcontinent.

Portugal asked for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council and a denunciation of India "for an unprovoked military aggression."

Spurning a U.N. appeal for negotiations, Prime Minister Nehru sent troops, tanks, warships and bombers of this second most populous of the world's nations against the tiny territories under Portugal's flag since the 16th century.

The Indian government announced in New Delhi that Damao and Diu, north of Bombay, were "liberated" in this first day of what Nehru termed a police action.

A spokesman for Nehru's regime, leader of the Asian-African neutralist bloc, announced the Indian navy put a Portuguese warship out of action in a sea battle off Goa, 200 miles south of Bombay.

Portugal, a charter member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, said it had only one warship in the area, the 30-year-old sloop Alfonso de Albuquerque.

The National Information Secretariat in Lisbon denied India's claim to occupation of Diu and Damao. It said the defenders were using a scorched earth policy in all three enclaves, plus minefields to hinder Indian advances. A Goan radio broadcast said the Indians suffered heavy losses in battles near two towns, Sanquilem and Sarvona.

The Portuguese, who had agreed to negotiations, said their forces were outnumbered more than 2-1, but were putting up gallant resistance in Goa. Men from the Diu and Damao garrisons were reported to have been withdrawn to strengthen the defenses of Goa, a territory of 1,537 square miles and a population of 600,000.

By Indian account, the three-pronged strike into Goa — with tanks helping to batter the way—was going according to schedule. Several towns were reported seized. Authoritative reports from Belgaum, near the Goa frontier, said the invaders were within a few miles of Nova Goa, the capital.

Goa, the main battleground, is on the Arabian Sea at about the latitude of Guatemala. Indian air force planes bombed Nova Goa's airport, an Indian spokesman announced. He said the runway and one radio station were put out of commission.

India adopted bombing tactics because of the impossibility of entering the capital's harbor, which had been heavily mined by the Portuguese, he said.

Otherwise Indian troops had gone between eight and 10 miles

Negroes Due Hearings In 'Jail March'

Arrests Total 700 In Demonstrations At Albany, Georgia

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—A Negro desegregation drive moves back into the courtroom today following a week of demonstrations that resulted in more than 700 arrests.

Hearings for some of those arrested were scheduled in the city hall that has been the focal point of the demonstrations.

Negroes en masse marched on the building five times in protest of segregation and the jailing of eight "Freedom Riders" and three Albany residents.

The Freedom Rider group was arrested after trying to desegregate railway facilities Dec. 10.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., of Atlanta led the latest march Saturday and was arrested along with 265 others, including Dr. W. G. Anderson, president of the Albany Movement and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, secretary

Appeal Filed On Eichmann Trial Verdict

JERUSALEM (AP) — One of Adolf Eichmann's attorneys Sunday filed notice of appeal against the death sentence given the former Gestapo official.

The Israeli Supreme court is expected to start hearings in January on the appeal.

Eichmann's attorneys, Robert Servatius and Dieter Wechtenbruch, are expected to challenge the conviction with the claims that their client was unlawfully returned to Israel, that Israel had no right to try Eichmann for crimes committed before Israel was a state and that the death sentence was not justified.

Eichmann is being held in the prison at Ramleh, 10 miles east of Tel Aviv. He has no contact with any other prisoner and is shackled and handcuffed when he walks in the prison yard.

U.S. Troops Defy Reds On Berlin Road

Army Convoy Rolls Along Autobahn In Training Exercise

BERLIN (AP) — Another U.S. infantry company rolled westward along the lifeline autobahn from isolated West Berlin today, defying a new Communist demand that American troop movements along the highway stop.

Capt. Robert R. Rafferty of Huntington, N.Y., led about 120 men and 17 vehicles to the control point on the city limits before daylight today.

The company, moving in three groups, was cleared without a hitch by the Soviet control officers. It was below freezing as the vehicles headed along the 110 miles of ice crusted highway to West Germany.

The unit, Co. C of the 3rd Battle Group, 6th Infantry Regiment, will spend four days in West Germany on field training, the Army said. Then it will return to West Berlin.

The move began less than 36 hours after the Communist regime of East Germany demanded in a formal note that the United States stop sending Army units along the autobahn.

The U.S. government always ignores notes from the East German regime, which the Western powers do not recognize.

Dominicans Approve New Balaguer Council

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—President Joaquin Balaguer's creation of a new state governing council with a promise to resign once the Dominican Republic is accepted back in the Western Hemisphere family of nations won cautious general approval today.

Balaguer, whose old ties with the Trujillo regime have brought him under attack, agreed to bow out the minute the Organization of American States lifts diplomatic and economic sanctions imposed on the island republic 16 months ago.

In Washington, the U.S. State Department praised Balaguer's provisional government plan and said, "We consider it to be a most encouraging development."

Bulldozer Nears Brownie

Trapped Hound Spends 50th Day In Mine Shaft

GILBERT, W. Va. (AP) — Brownie the hound began his 50th day in underground confinement today as a bulldozer chugged closer to his rescue.

The earth-moving equipment was brought here from Bluefield Saturday in an effort to free 3-year-old Brownie from an abandoned and caved-in mine shaft in which he became entrapped while chasing a rabbit seven weeks ago.

Brownie's plight has brought forth compassionate offers of help from persons in West Virginia and other states.

A woman who identified herself as television actress Marlane MacLane offered Brownie a lot of good eating once he gets out. She wants to donate a six-month supply of dog food, help pay the rescue expenses, and if Brownie isn't rescued soon, she wants to come here and take a personal hand in the operation.

"I just love animals," she told a reporter in a telephone conversation from Toledo, Ohio, over the weekend. "I usually keep between 30 and 40 homeless dogs and cats at my farm in Pennsylvania."

Brownie, the pet of Richard Hatfield, 21, has lived on underground water and on food scraps that Hatfield has been able to slip to him through a crevice.

Three weekend searchers almost got lost themselves while exploring mine corridors in an effort to locate a possible entry to Brownie's chamber. They could not leave the mine the same way they entered because of a rock fall, but after a time, they found another way out.

The dozer spent most of yesterday carving out an access road to the mountainside rescue scene.

But the ambassador was empowered — with U.N. approval — to guarantee Tshombe and his party safe passage and protection from arrest should he agree to come to a meeting with Adoula. Kitona, the U.N. military base along the Congo's Atlantic coast, was mentioned as a likely site.

Tshombe reportedly has indicated in informal contacts with U.S. diplomats in the past few days that he would agree to this arrangement.

Gullion's mission was limited to setting up the meeting between the two Congo leaders — not to mediating their talks. Kennedy stepped in the Congo crisis directly after Tshombe appealed to him to intervene to bring a cease-fire in the fighting between U.N. and Katanga forces.

U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant, backed by the United States, has repeatedly made clear that there will be no cease-fire until U.N. objectives in Katanga are achieved.

U.N. troops were crushing Katanga resistance in Elisabethville today with only two remaining objectives still needed to give them virtual control of the city — Tshombe's palace and Radio Katanga.

The drive launched by 5,000 U.N. troops has carried into the heart of Elisabethville with a giant pincer movement clamping a vise to isolate the city.

U.N. Asked For Session By Portugal

India Claims Gains Include Capture Of Damao, Diu Areas

BOMBAY, India (AP)—India today claimed capture of two Portuguese enclaves—Damao and Diu—and gains on all sectors in a lightning campaign against Goa, the third and largest of Portugal's possessions on the subcontinent.

Portugal asked for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council and a denunciation of India "for an unprovoked military aggression."

Spurning a U.N. appeal for negotiations, Prime Minister Nehru sent troops, tanks, warships and bombers of this second most populous of the world's nations against the tiny territories under Portugal's flag since the 16th century.

The Indian government announced in New Delhi that Damao and Diu, north of Bombay, were "liberated" in this first day of what Nehru termed a police action.

A spokesman for Nehru's regime, leader of the Asian-African neutralist bloc, announced the Indian navy put a Portuguese warship out of action in a sea battle off Goa, 200 miles south of Bombay.

Portugal, a charter member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, said it had only one warship in the area, the 30-year-old sloop Alfonso de Albuquerque.

The National Information Secretariat in Lisbon denied India's claim to occupation of Diu and Damao. It said the defenders were using a scorched earth policy in all three enclaves, plus minefields to hinder Indian advances. A Goan radio broadcast said the Indians suffered heavy losses in battles near two towns, Sanquilem and Sarvona.

The Portuguese, who had agreed to negotiations, said their forces were outnumbered more than 2-1, but were putting up gallant resistance in Goa. Men from the Diu and Damao garrisons were reported to have been withdrawn to strengthen the defenses of Goa, a territory of 1,537 square miles and a population of 600,000.

By Indian account, the three-pronged strike into Goa — with tanks helping to batter the way—was going according to schedule. Several towns were reported seized. Authoritative reports from Belgaum, near the Goa frontier, said the invaders were within a few miles of Nova Goa, the capital.

Goa, the main battleground, is on the Arabian Sea at about the latitude of Guatemala. Indian air force planes bombed Nova Goa's airport, an Indian spokesman announced. He said the runway and one radio station were put out of commission.

India adopted bombing tactics because of the impossibility of entering the capital's harbor, which had been heavily mined by the Portuguese, he said.

Otherwise Indian troops had gone between eight and 10 miles

Negroes Due Hearings In 'Jail March'

Arrests Total 700 In Demonstrations At Albany, Georgia

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—A Negro desegregation drive moves back into the courtroom today following a week of demonstrations that resulted in more than 700 arrests.

Hearings for some of those arrested were scheduled in the city hall that has been the focal point of the demonstrations.

Negroes en masse marched on the building five times in protest of segregation and the jailing of eight "Freedom Riders" and three Albany residents.

The Freedom Rider group was arrested after trying to desegregate railway facilities Dec. 10.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., of Atlanta led the latest march Saturday and was arrested along with 265 others, including Dr. W. G. Anderson, president of the Albany Movement and the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, secretary

Appeal Filed On Eichmann Trial Verdict

JERUSALEM (AP) — One of Adolf Eichmann's attorneys Sunday filed notice of appeal against the death sentence given the former Gestapo official.

The Israeli Supreme court is expected to start hearings in January on the appeal.

Eichmann's attorneys, Robert Servatius and Dieter Wechtenbruch, are expected to challenge the conviction with the claims that their client was unlawfully returned to Israel, that Israel had no right to try Eichmann for crimes committed before Israel was a state and that the death sentence was not justified.

Eichmann is being held in the prison at Ramleh, 10 miles east of Tel Aviv. He has no contact with any other prisoner and is shackled and handcuffed when he walks in the prison yard.

Viet War Intensifies

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The South Viet Nam government reported heavy fighting between government and Viet Cong units over the weekend in several provinces.

U.S. Troops Defy Reds On Berlin Road

Army Convoy Rolls Along Autobahn In Training Exercise

BERLIN (AP) — Another U.S. infantry company rolled westward along the lifeline autobahn from isolated West Berlin today, defying a new Communist demand that American troop movements along the highway stop.

Capt. Robert R. Rafferty of Huntington, N.Y., led about 120 men and 17 vehicles to the control point on the city limits before daylight today.

The company moving in three groups, was cleared without a hitch by the Soviet control officers. It was below freezing as the vehicles headed along the 110 miles of ice crusted highway to West Germany.

The unit, Co. C of the 3rd Battle Group, 6th Infantry Regiment, will spend four days in West Germany on field training, the Army said. Then it will return to West Berlin.

The move began less than 36 hours after the Communist regime of East Germany demanded in a formal note that the United States stop sending Army units along the autobahn.

The U.S. government always ignores notes from the East German regime, which the Western powers do not recognize.

Dominicans Approve New Balaguer Council

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—President Joaquin Balaguer's creation of a new state governing council with a promise to resign once the Dominican Republic is accepted back in the Western Hemisphere family of nations won cautious general approval today.

Balaguer, whose old ties with the Trujillo regime have brought him under attack, agreed to bow out the minute the Organization of American States lifts diplomatic and economic sanctions imposed on the island republic 16 months ago.

In Washington, the U.S. State Department praised Balaguer's provisional government plan and said, "We consider it to be a most encouraging development."

Bulldozer Nears Brownie

Trapped Hound Spends 50th Day In Mine Shaft

GILBERT, W. Va. (AP — Brownie the hound began his 50th day in underground confinement today as a bulldozer chugged closer to his rescue.

The earth-moving equipment was brought here from Bluefield Saturday in an effort to free 3-year-old Brownie from an abandoned and caved-in mine shaft in which he became entrapped while chasing a rabbit seven weeks ago.

Brownie's plight has brought forth compassionate offers of help from persons in West Virginia and other states.

A woman who identified herself as television actress Marlane MacLane offered Brownie a lot of good eating once he gets out. She wants to donate a six-month supply of dog food, help pay the rescue expenses, and if Brownie isn't rescued soon, she wants to come here and take a personal hand in the operation.

"I just love animals," she told a reporter in a telephone conversation from Toledo, Ohio, over the weekend. "I usually keep between 30 and 40 homeless dogs and cats at my farm in Pennsylvania."

Brownie, the pet of Richard Hatfield, 21, has lived on underground water and on food scraps that Hatfield has been able to slip to him through a crevice.

Three weekend searchers almost got lost themselves while exploring mine corridors in an effort to locate a possible entry to Brownie's chamber. They could not leave the mine the same way they entered because of a rock fall, but after a time, they found another way out.

The dozer spent most of yesterday carving out an access road to the mountainside rescue scene.

Try Horseback Riding!

City Dentist Saddles Up At 89

With all the talk about the need for physical fitness, 89-year-old Dr. Joseph M. Cartwright has one solution — try horseback riding!

Dr. Cartwright is mounted on "Cliff," a Tennessee walking horse owned by Dr. C. Marvin Kinsey, preparing for a canter through the woods.

An avid horseman since he was a youth, the veteran dentist, who still practices in the Potters Savings & Loan Co. building, will celebrate his 90th anniversary next May 31.

But for all his love of horses and riding, Dr. Cartwright doesn't ride as much as he formerly did — he can't always find a companion!

"You should never ride a trail alone," he explained, "because there's always a chance the horse may stumble and fall and you might be hurt."

Dr. Cartwright recalls that he, Mr. Vodrey, Mrs. Vodrey and the late Frank Gardner spent many pleasurable hours riding on the trails, spending as much as eight hours at a time following the paths through the woods.

"When the weather's good, it is nice to go for a ride; there's so much to see in the woods."

One of the dentist's greatest pleasures is in harness horses. He has pictures and drawings of several horses in his office, subscribes to a magazine devoted to harness horses and can quote the records of outstanding trotters and pacers.

Dr. Cartwright and Mr. Vodrey attended many of the outstanding harness races and sales, particularly the Keeneland Sales at Lexington, Ky.

Dr. Cartwright notes the subtle difference between those interested in thoroughbred racers and the harness racing fans. The racing fan asks "Who won and how much did he pay?' while the follower of the harness horse is interested in the time required for the trotter or pacer to win a heat.

A native of East Liverpool, Dr. Cartwright and Mr. Vodrey were boyhood chums, attending city schools and Bethany College together. Dr. Cartwright went on to the University of Michigan to pursue his dental career and then began practice here in 1899.

The dentist also is a baseball fan, was a member of the varsity baseball team at Michigan and recalls playing against the late Honus Wagner in a game in Steubenville when Wagner was starting a career that led to baseball's Hall of Fame.

Dr. Cartwright resides on Elysian Way. He has one son, J. Burchfield Cartwright of Park Blvd.

40 & 8's Tribute Given To Widow Of Weirton Man

A memorial certificate and resolution of remembrance was presented to Mrs. Karl Rinehart of Weirton at a meeting of Hancock County Voiture 1459, 40 & 8 Society, Sunday night in the home of Weirton American Legion Post 10.

The presentation was made by Charles W. Morris of Chester, past grand chef de gare of West Virginia, on behalf of the voiture. She is the widow of Karl Rinehart, chairman of the voiture's cheminots. He died recently.

Reports were presented by John Merriman of Chester, child welfare officer, Dwight Allison of Chester, commissaire intendant, and Morris, director of nurses' training.

Members were asked to meet tonight at 9 at Chester American Legion Post 121 to attend a memorial service for Orell Johnson of Newell, past chef de gare. The service will be held at the Martin Funeral Home. He died Saturday.

Allison conducted business. Next meeting is Jan. 21 at 7:30 p. m. at Lawrenceville American Legion Post 163.

Tshombe Sets Speech At Rally In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Moise Tshombe, president of the Congo's secessionist Katanga Province, has accepted an invitation by Young Americans for Freedom to speak at a rally here March 7.

The conservative youth group said Tshombe had cabled his acceptance to address the rally on "world liberation from Communism." The organization said Saturday it would give Tshombe an award for his country's "dedicated stand against communism and continuing fight for freedom."

Santa Gives 'Treats' To 1,000 In East End

Over 1,000 treats were distributed to children in East End Saturday morning, when Santa visited the district.

The event was under the auspices of the East End merchants. A parade was featured, with Santa riding on a red truck surrounded by the treats. Others who participated were Mayor Bert Goodhallet and Fire Chief Charles Bryan.

The treats were distributed on the parking lot of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association.

City Man Given Term In Intoxication Case

Unless Santa or the New Year's baby intervene, a North Side man will spend the holidays in the County Jail at Lisbon.

William Compa, 1108 Riverview St., who was released from County Jail Dec. 6 after serving out an intoxication fine, was fined $100 and costs this morning by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on another state intoxication count.

"I hate to do it, Bill, but this is the eighth time this year," Judge Chertoff commented before pronouncing the sentence.

Compa was arrested Friday night on Bradshaw Ave. and Patrolman Charles Winters said he had received complaints from two business places that Compa was panhandling from clerks.

Boy Killed As Church Explodes In Alabama

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Ala. (AP) —An explosion demolished a rural church and killed a 10-year-old boy who had arrived early for Sunday school. The blast injured five others, including the boy's mother, a brother and a sister.

"There'd have been 75 inside if it had been 15 minutes later," said Russell Morgan, who lives beside the little church in this northeast Alabama community.

Morgan's nephew, David Morgan, was killed in the explosion, which occurred when the Sunday school superintendent, John Sizemore, tried to light a heater.

The Trip Was Uneventful

One shooting incident caused by an East German policemen while the vanguard of an American battle group moved across East Germany to reach West Berlin could have been a spark hot enough to ignite a hot war in Europe.

But today the cold war still shivers on its indeterminate conclusion. A calculated risk by the United States was offset by the calculated caution of the puppet police of East Germany.

Movement of the battle group was a chance for the Soviet Union to tell the East Germans to create an incident. It was a test of Russian policy, which in the past has employed puppet states to start wars.

BUT MOST OF ALL it was a demonstration.

The soundest common sense of U.S. military men and administrators who have had experience with the modern Russian mind holds that only one way exists to match it. That is to duplicate the boldness of the totalitarian philosophy.

The totalitarian mind drives relentlessly toward its goal. All speech and action are aimed toward one target. Nothing must be permitted to interfere, including trouble from outside sources.

Thus the totalitarian mind has a healthy respect toward all relentless drives toward a single purpose and avoids collisions.

THE RUSSIAN totalitarians have told the world what they intend to do about East Germany and Berlin. They intend to keep Germany. So far so good.

But they intend to do this without going to war, because that would defeat their purpose. Russians, who despise Germans, would not fight in their behalf. Germans, who hate Russia and its puppet politicians, could not be trusted to fight on their own responsibility.

The trip across East Germany was uneventful.

What was to have been demonstrated was demonstrated.

The Kind Of A World It Is

Before the end of the unhappy experience with the callup of national guardsmen and reservists in the Berlin crisis, the Kennedy administration will have reached a conclusion about national defense policy.

In the kind of a world it is, which is not the kind of a world it used to be, there may be no place any more for standby military forces.

The idea of a people's militia ready to spring into action for the common defense grew out of a civilization that no longer exists even in the most remote sections of the United States.

Wars aren't fought with squirrel rifles taken down from above the cabin door and lugged off to frontier skirmish lines. A more radical change is the fact wars no longer are emergencies that can be handled by a spontaneous eruption of volunteer help, like an old-fashioned bucket brigade. The cold war of today is chronic. It never ends.

Wars now are waged by technicians with intricate equipment. In the highest echelon are skilled pilots who operate the Strategic Air Command bombers. Technical skills range downward from pilots to minor specialists who would be expected to do a single job in event of an emergency, no matter how small the job might be.

Gone is the adventure. Gone is the glamor and the heroism. In their place are infinite patience, tireless devotion and a coldly professional attitude toward a job that someone must be willing to do. National defense has quit being an emergency and become a routine. Boredom is its constant companion.

This very well may be the beginning of the end for all standby military forces, and the end very well may be hastened by the embarrassing complaints of the standby militarists who have been called to duty as part of the strategy of controlling the Berlin crisis.

This may mark the beginning of a rapid end to the theory of a ready reserve and a national guard, standing by to take up the slack until a citizen army can be organized.

It may mark the beginning of a standing army composed entirely of professional soldiers reconciled to the shortcomings of military life.

Busiest Week Of The Year

This will be for most of us the busiest week of the year.

Anyone who can't think of 100 things that should be done before Christmas Eve hasn't let himself become involved in the spirit of the occasion.

And because this is so obviously the kind of a week it's going to be, it might help to make an early reservation for at least one interlude in it somewhere to think about the reason it always turns out to be the busiest week in the year—this last week before Christmas.

Is it not because everything that needs to be done is concerned in some way with the happiness of other people? And is it not because the kind of busy-ness this represents has been added gladly to the routine of our lives?

It is the fact we derive pleasure from doing this that causes us to overcrowd our schedules—to plan to do more than we can reasonably do.

This is what we might stop to think about sometime this week, lest the whole week slip by with no real appreciation of the happiness we earn for ourselves when we think of the happiness of others.

People who wonder about the spirit of Christmas and suspect we have mislaid it somewhere or twisted it into something it shouldn't be might think about this, too. What really has happened is that the spirit of Christmas has exploded into such gigantic proportions it defies their measurement and comprehension.

Who's Winning In United Nations?

As we were saying a few days ago, you can't keep track of the war in the Congo without a scorecard — and there are no scorecards.

But when Lieut. Gen. Sean McKeown, United Nations commander in the Congo, asked to be relieved of his post on Dec. 31, he made a few remarks about criss-crossed identities in the Congo.

He agreed with Dr. Canor Cruise O'Brien, who has just given up his post as director of U.N. operations in Katanga Province, that the United Nations was fighting Britain, Belgium, South Africa, Rhodesia and "certain others" and he wanted no more of it.

Hanson W. Baldwin, the widely respected military writer of The New York Times, declared that the chaos in the Congo reflects chaos in the United Nations, which is demonstrating in the Congo why a U.N. police force is out of the question. Its sponsors would never be of one mind about policy.

At the outset of the Congo chaos, the Soviet Union was charged with creating confusion; it supposedly pulled out only when ordered to do so by the late Dag Hammarskjold, U.N. secretary-general. It now seems possible it shifted responsibility for confusion to other members of the United Nations.

Kremlin prescience of things about to occur must have revealed to it that other nations with presumably cleaner hands were about to get them dirty in the Congo.

Two highly placed U.N. officials who have looked at Congo chaos from close up are satisfied in their own minds that the real question is: Who's winning in the United Nations? — not who's winning in the Congo?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Toys of horror and violence this Christmas would seem to make revision of Clement Moore's famous poem in this fashion:

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the home
Not a creature was stirring, not even a gnome;
The children were nestled popeyed in their beds
While visions of violence danced in their heads.
Their stockings were hung by the chimney with care
In hopes Boris Karloff himself would be there;
And then in a twinkling I heard, I confess,
A noise like a battle with Eliot Ness;
"On, Rocket! On, Trackdown! On, Moloch! On, Sutton!
On, Titan! On, M-Squad! On all, by PUSHBUTTON!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall
With all the weird toys that the reindeer can haul!
ALFRED HITCHCOCK HAD TAKEN HIS JOB ON THIS YEAR.)

1961 Christmas can be harrowing experience for parents of very young. They will wind up terrorized if not wounded, judging from some horror toys featured as gift suggestions over airwaves.

Home screens project image of Gargantua, Dracula, Caliban, Atilla, Billy the Kid and the James Boys instead of jolly St. Nick.

It will be hard to tell foot of Christmas tree from the Chamber of Horrors. Moppets can easily assume Santa Claus operates from the Eden Musee.

It wouldn't be a surprise to hear salespitch for a doll with cauliflower ears, and brass knuckles.

Message "Peace on Earth" may take a beating from "Off with his head! "Hands up!" "To the wall!" and "Calling all Frankensteins!" Many toys seem straight out of jungles, prehistoric caves and haunted houses and the worst days of the old West.

Among Yuletide commercials is one offering, not only a rifle named after one of world's most deadly types, but a shoulder-holster right out of the gangster world. Another current plub, almost attuned to children's hour, portrays tots' joyous reaction to horror monster, pushbutton operated, that in grandpa's day would have scared Vigilantes, Gyp the Blood and Chief Crazy Horse. Brace, yourselves, mom and pop; it looks like a rough Christmas.

Reuther Future Rests With Meany

By Victor Riesel

BAL HARBOUR, Fla.

At the noon break of the national labor convention last Wednesday a husky man grabbed Walter Reuther and pinned him down. But there was no need for bodyguard action. The grabber was an ex-boxer, King Levinsky, selling neckties and obviously unknowing of Walter's sartorial insouciance. Reuther's mind was on other ties that bind — ties with the AFL-CIO which many had predicted he would sever at this conclave. He did not, though he had his chance in an 8½-hour marathon internal labor peace session of the executive council the previous night.

Victor Riesel

Now some of those who believe they know him well believe he is pondering a basic policy — should he switch from his role of playing crown prince to leading the opposition to George Meany?

That is the question. It is of great fascination to the nation. Should he take the former role, there is no doubt he will become president of the 12½ million member AFL-CIO.

There are many elder statesmen in the national labor leadership who firmly believe this.

SHOULD Walter R. attempt to build an opposition, he will isolate himself further and his role will diminish inside labor as well as in the nation "outside." Despite all the political obituaries, some partially inspired by Jimmy Hoffa, on George Meany's demise as an influence, he is today more powerful and more influential in affairs than any other labor leader in recent history. This is the big story of the convention's final hours.

Meany — Mr. Labor — proved that chomping a cold cigar doesn't kill off any Disraeli - type talent. There was, for example, the successful all-night council effort to make peace between the Reuther bloc and the more conservative Building and Construction Trades Unions.

When it began at 7:30 Tuesday night, there was dynamite and blood in the air. The AFL-CIO could have split right there. Reuther and his allies, Dave McDonald of "steel" and Al Hayes of the Machinists — representing a total of almost three million members — called for an immediate vote on their proposal.

THE TECHNICALITIES of their proposition, which they believe would protect jobs of their men in the big factories and on missile sites, is not important here. What is important is the fact that Meany ruled against a vote.

We are, he said in effect, member leaders of a great labor organization and matters as explosive and vital as these should not be settled with a vote. One can win the argument and lose the sale.

Let's talk this one out. Let's not take the fight out there on the convention floor so the entire world can see us cut each other up.

For the first two hours it was tough. At one point, when one of the topmost leaders in the federation complained of being raided by another union and losing members to it, Meany said, aw, don't be a crybaby.

At midnight these men, some with more than 50 years' experience behind them, began to negotiate. Reuther gave a little. Meany pushed the construction trades. They moved a little.

There was a Franklin D. Roosevelt touch to the blunt-speaking Meany, ex-plumber from the Bronx. His toughest task was with David McDonald.

THE LEADER of the United Steelworkers kept insisting through the tense hours that the Sheet Metal Workers Union be expelled.

The latter unit had moved in on the big Carrier Corp. plant at Syracuse where McDonald's people had held the contract but had gone out on strike. Now the Sheet Metal Union — one of the construction trades outfits — held the contract.

Meany finally won out. The Sheet Metal Workers will be reprimanded. Expulsion, says Meany's colleagues, would have split the AFL-CIO wide open and prevented the peace settlement inside.

Not only during the closed session of the executive council, but on the convention floor, Meany showed parliamentary skill, massive strength (he went sleepless Tuesday night), and humor. There was one tense moment during the "Hoffa" debate. Mike Quill had hit Meany a low blow. Meany finally took the podium.

"I was very happy," said Mr. Labor, "to hear from my old friend Mike Quill. Hearing him brought back some fond memories when Mike and I used to meet once a week in the massage room of the Hotel Astor where we discussed Mike's arthritis and my inability to keep my weight down . . ."

THE CROWD roared. Mike looked silly. The tension broke. The few Hoffa supporters sent word back to Harold Gibbons, Hoffa's prime minister waiting in the outer lobby, that it was all over.

Small incident, big history. There were a score of such moments. Easy handling took the convention over the civil rights hurdle.

There is no doubt that Meany is the leader and will be able to name his successor two or four or six years from now. And it could well be Walter Reuther —if the Red Head plays crown prince instead of the isolated opposition. Without Meany, the leader from Detroit has no chance to lead the giant federation.

Letters To The Editor

I am writing this letter at the request of Jimmie Grimes, who is a cerebral palsy patient at Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland.

Jimmie is in the hospital for corrective surgery which doctors have informed his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Grimes of R.D. 1, will take a year, and possibly more.

On Dec. 8 there appeared in The Review an appeal for a typewriter for Jimmie to take to the hospital to enable him to continue his education. This appeal was answered by Elks Lodge 258 of East Liverpool, assisted by the Lady Elks. Many thanks to these wonderful people who have made a very happy boy of Jimmie Grimes.

The Glenmoor Volunteer Firemen and their association, assisted by the Ladies Auxiliary, sponsored a coverdish dinner on Dec. 14 for Jimmie at which time Mr. G. D. Wilkinson, chairman of the Elks Cerebral Palsy Committee, and Mr. Samuel Webber, exalted ruler of the lodge, came and presented the typewriter to climax a very successful going-away party.

Many thanks to all these people, but Jimmie asked me to be sure to thank the following organizations and people:

1. — The Review for its cooperation in letting his needs be known.

2. — The Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles Lodge 772 of Wellsville for sponsoring a benefit, proceeds of which were used for necessary clothing to be used during his stay at the hospital.

3. — Mrs. McCormack, a tutor who has helped Jimmie to receive his education and for the Bible which he took with him to the hospital.

4. — To the Beaver Local School for furnishing him with his school books.

5. — To the Civil Defense team of St. Clair Township for their wonderful help when needed.

6. — To the state for taking care of his hospital and doctor bills.

7. — To Mr. and Mrs. John Mahoney for providing transportation to and from the doctors and the hospital.

8. — And last but not least to all his wonderful friends who helped in any way to make his going-away party a huge success.

I, as a friend of Jimmie's, would just like to say "thanks" for opening your hearts and assisting this wonderful lad. May God bless you and grant you continued health.

MRS. PEARL LONKERT
R.D. 1, Glenmoor

P.S.—Since writing this letter, I have been informed by Mrs. Grimes that Jimmie's first operation will take place Tuesday. His address is James L. Grimes, Lakeside 50 North, Cleveland, Ohio.

I wonder what people are celebrating on Dec. 25?

Is it because of a Christ born in a manger or is it just for some one called Santa Claus?

You can't find in the Bible where the Wise Men ran from market to market to hunt gifts for Christ, but they brought what gifts they had. Why did they offer gifts? I believe it was because they loved Christ, who was later to die on the cross that all people might be saved and have eternal life.

Can you find in the Bible where the Wise Men or Mary trimmed a fir tree fancy? Let's celebrate Dec. 25 by giving our money to missions and church instead of so much as gifts for relatives and other friends. Put Christ into the spirit of Dec. 25 so all may hear and know about His death on the cross so that all may be saved and have eternal life in Heaven. Not be foolish for the few years we have here on earth. If Christ was born on Dec. 25 let's live for Christ on that day.

Odd Facts

The swastika, which was the symbol of the Nazi party during World War II, was originally symbolic of the sun in the nature religions of the ancient Near East. Similar designs appear in the remains of ancient Mexican and Peruvian civilizations, and it was used by North American Indians as well. Actually, it is a very widely used symbol and its use goes back thousands of years, and is almost always associated with the worship of sun-gods.

Nehru's Turnabout

By James Marlow

Indian Premier No Longer 'Man Of Peace'

WASHINGTON

India's Prime Minister Nehru, who made himself the world's No. 1 holier-than thou moralizer and man of peace, can no longer act as the conscience of mankind.

He ranged from critical to indignant when Britain, France and Israel invaded Egypt, when the Soviet Union crushed the Hungarian revolt, and when the United States backed the rebel invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Now, after Sunday's Indian invasion of tiny Portuguese Goa, he is in the same boat with those he condemned. Goa has 1,537 square miles and 650,000 people on the southwest coast of India, a nation that has 450 million people.

Nehru may have achieved greatness in a number of ways as an Indian leader. But he has preached peace and avoidance of force so much that he has created an unreal image of himself.

When he was Mohandas Gandhi's disciple he accepted the master's doctrine of nonviolence as a political weapon simply because it happened to be the right policy at the time India was seeking freedom from Britain.

It was not something he believed in absolutely. He explained once: "The majority of us, I take it, judge the issues not on moral but on practical grounds, and if we reject the way of violence it is because it promises no substantial results."

This is the doctrine of oportunism. Taking Goa promised substantial results because it would be easy. Far-off Portugal could hardly make war on India to hold its possessions.

The results if India had attacked Red China would look very much less substantial since the Communists have 650 million people and a far greater military force.

Since 1959, when Red China occupied about 12,000 square miles of Indian territory — almost 9 times the size of Goa — Nehru simply has argued.

Nehru has been under great pressure in anticolonial India to seize Goa, which Portugal took in 1510 and still holds as a colony.

Next year is election year in India for Nehru and his Congress party.

The prime minister ignored President Kennedy's plea of last Thursday to avoid the use of force.

This was a switch for Nehru, who in the past could always be relied on to deplore the use of force anywhere. He has now adopted the philosophy that might makes right.

It wasn't Nehru's only switch. Portugal has no more right to Goa than Britain had to India or France to Indochina. All three took territory because they had the power to and held the native people under thumb.

This was imperialism. Nehru has been a life-long foe of it. But his action against Goa also is imperialism, although he may call it liberation.

If all this seems a contradiction in the man, perhaps it can be understood by this statement by Frank Moraes, an Indian journalist who knew Nehru a long time and five years ago wrote the story of his life: "It is interesting to see how his mind persuades his conscience of many things."

It explains how he can make a complete turnabout in six years.

In 1955, when some Indians suggested taking Goa wasn't much of a military problem, Nehru drew back from the thought of war.

"The fact that a war is a little war doesn't make it less of a war," he said.

Then Sunday he made war, although it was a pretty safe kind of war.

Political Giving

By Raymond Moley

The soundness of our two parties depends upon an adequate amount of money for their support. Their health is just as important a matter as is the ridding us of disease, deliqneucny and involuntary poverty.

The character of a political party depends upon the breadth of its base. To expect a party to serve the public, rather than the private interest of a few, when its financial support is narrowly based is to blind ourselves to what we all know of human nature.

When we scan the list of contributors after any campaign there appears the melancholy, not to say frightening fact that both of our parties rest upon the support of a very few major contributors.

The Republican party must, if it is to survive, reach into the pockets of a relatively few "fat cats" for the major part of its financial support.

This not only is detrimental to the public interest but it is unfair to the contributors themselves. For the opposition can point to those individuals as undesirable citizens who seek by lavish gifts to buy favor.

On the other hand, the contributions to the Democratic party and its candidates have become altogether heavily weighted by special groups, notably the labor unions.

It is true that there is federal legislation forbidding this. But it is applicable only to the nomination and election of federal officers. All other elections, except where there are state laws forbidding it, may be financed by the labor organizations themselves.

The Republicans can and do excoriate the Democrats for this labor support.

TO AVOID such accusations, dozens of committees are formed for this or that candidate or party and thus there are split contributions all of which go to the same end.

Two ways have been suggested to provide a broader base by law for contributions and to relieve the two parties from obligations which now prevail.

One would be to have Congress appropriate subsidies to the parties. But this is not only impractical but undesirable. Such subsidies would presumably apply only to the nomination and election of candidates for federal offices. And the enactment of such subsidies by Congress would involve partisan bickering and also create bureaucratic control.

The best way to broaden the base of both parties would be through the incentive now in operation to encourage contributions for charitabble and civic purposes.

That would be by an enactment of Congress of a provision to allow a deduction or a credit in income tax returns of a limited amount as a contribution to the individual's party of choice.

I like best a suggestion made by a distinguished New York lawyer and jurist who served on the federal bench for some years before resuming private practice. He is Simon H. Rifkind.

HE SUGGESTS that a tax credit of $10 be allowed for party contributions. But since he believes, quite correctly, that the returns would not be great enough from these small contributions, there should be allowed a credit against "income" (meaning a deduction rather than a tax credit) up to an aggregate of $3,000.

This would be fair to both parties, since the greater number of those who could afford only the smaller figure would probably be Democrats. But the provision for larger contributors would also bring in large Democratic sums. There are lots of well-to-do Democrats these days.

The amount collected with these inducements would then depend upon the energy and skill with which the respective party leaders mustered collections.

As we were saying a few days ago, you can't keep track of the war in the Congo without a scorecard — and there are no scorecards.

But when Lieut. Gen. Sean McKeown, United Nations commander in the Congo, asked to be relieved of his post on Dec. 31, he made a few remarks about criss-crossed identities in the Congo.

He agreed with Dr. Canor Cruise O'Brien, who has just given up his post as director of U.N. operations in Katanga Province, that the United Nations was fighting Britain, Belgium, South Africa, Rhodesia and "certain others" and he wanted no more of it.

Hanson W. Baldwin, the widely respected military writer of The New York Times, declared that the chaos in the Congo reflects chaos in the United Nations, which is demonstrating in the Congo why a U.N. police force is out of the question. Its sponsors would never be of one mind about policy.

At the outset of the Congo chaos, the Soviet Union was charged with creating confusion; it supposedly pulled out only when ordered to do so by the late Dag Hammarskjold, U.N. secretary-general. It now seems possible it shifted responsibility for confusion to other members of the United Nations.

Kremlin prescience of things about to occur must have revealed to it that other nations with presumably cleaner hands were about to get them dirty in the Congo.

Two highly placed U.N. officials who have looked at Congo chaos from close up are satisfied in their own minds that the real question is: Who's winning in the United Nations? — not who's winning in the Congo?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Toys of horror and violence this Christmas would seem to make revision of Clement Moore's famous poem in this fashion:

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the home
Not a creature was stirring, not even a gnome;
The children were nestled popeyed in their beds
While visions of violence danced in their heads.
Their stockings were hung by the chimney with care
In hopes Boris Karloff himself would be there;
And then in a twinkling I heard, I confess,
A noise like a battle with Eliot Ness;
"On, Rocket! On, Trackdown! On, Moloch! On, Sutton!
On, Titan! On, M-Squad! On all, by PUSHBUTTON!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall
With all the weird toys that the reindeer can haul!
ALFRED HITCHCOCK HAD TAKEN HIS JOB ON THIS YEAR.)

1961 Christmas can be harrowing experience for parents of very young. They will wind up terrorized if not wounded, judging from some horror toys featured as gift suggestions over airwaves.

Home screens project image of Gargantua, Dracula, Caliban, Atilla, Billy the Kid and the James Boys instead of jolly St. Nick.

It will be hard to tell foot of Christmas tree from the Chamber of Horrors. Moppets can easily assume Santa Claus operates from the Eden Musee.

It wouldn't be a surprise to hear salespitch for a doll with cauliflower ears, and brass knuckles.

Message "Peace on Earth" may take a beating from "Off with his head! "Hands up!" "To the wall!" and "Calling all Frankensteins!" Many toys seem straight out of jungles, prehistoric caves and haunted houses and the worst days of the old West.

Among Yuletide commercials is one offering, not only a rifle named after one of world's most deadly types, but a shoulder-holster right out of the gangster world. Another current plub, almost attuned to children's hour, portrays tots' joyous reaction to horror monster, pushbutton operated, that in grandpa's day would have scared Vigilantes, Gyp the Blood and Chief Crazy Horse. Brace, yourselves, mom and pop; it looks like a rough Christmas.

Reuther Future Rests With Meany

By Victor Riesel

BAL HARBOUR, Fla.

At the noon break of the national labor convention last Wednesday a husky man grabbed Walter Reuther and pinned him down. But there was no need for bodyguard action. The grabber was an ex-boxer, King Levinsky, selling neckties and obviously unknowing of Walter's sartorial insouciance. Reuther's mind was on other ties that bind — ties with the AFL-CIO which many had predicted he would sever at this conclave. He did not, though he had his chance in an 8½-hour marathon internal labor peace session of the executive council the previous night.

Victor Riesel

Now some of those who believe they know him well believe he is pondering a basic policy — should he switch from his role of playing crown prince to leading the opposition to George Meany?

That is the question. It is of great fascination to the nation. Should he take the former role, there is no doubt he will become president of the 12½ million member AFL-CIO.

There are many elder statesmen in the national labor leadership who firmly believe this.

SHOULD Walter R. attempt to build an opposition, he will isolate himself further and his role will diminish inside labor as well as in the nation "outside." Despite all the political obituaries, some partially inspired by Jimmy Hoffa, on George Meany's demise as an influence, he is today more powerful and more influential in affairs than any other labor leader in recent history. This is the big story of the convention's final hours.

Meany — Mr. Labor — proved that chomping a cold cigar doesn't kill off any Disraeli-type talent. There was, for example, the successful all-night council effort to make peace between the Reuther bloc and the more conservative Building and Construction Trades Unions.

When it began at 7:30 Tuesday night, there was dynamite and blood in the air. The AFL-CIO could have split right there. Reuther and his allies, Dave McDonald of "steel" and Al Hayes of the Machinists — representing a total of almost three million members — called for an immediate vote on their proposal.

THE TECHNICALITIES of their proposition, which they believe would protect jobs of their men in the big factories and on missile sites, is not important here. What is important is the fact that Meany ruled against a vote.

We are, he said in effect, member leaders of a great labor organization and matters as explosive and vital as these should not be settled with a vote. One can win the argument and lose the sale.

Let's talk this one out. Let's not take the fight out there on the convention floor so the entire world can see us cut each other up.

For the first two hours it was tough. At one point, when one of the topmost leaders in the federation complained of being raided by another union and losing members to it, Meany said, aw, don't be a crybaby.

At midnight these men, some with more than 50 years' experience behind them, began to negotiate. Reuther gave a little. Meany pushed the construction trades. They moved a little.

There was a Franklin D. Roosevelt touch to the blunt-speaking Meany, ex-plumber from the Bronx. His toughest task was with David McDonald.

THE LEADER of the United Steelworkers kept insisting through the tense hours that the Sheet Metal Workers Union be expelled.

The latter unit had moved in on the big Carrier Corp. plant at Syracuse where McDonald's people had held the contract but had gone out on strike. Now the Sheet Metal Union — one of the construction trades outfits — held the contract.

Meany finally won out. The Sheet Metal Workers will be reprimanded. Expulsion, says Meany's colleagues, would have split the AFL-CIO wide open and prevented the peace settlement inside.

Not only during the closed session of the executive council, but on the convention floor, Meany showed parliamentary skill, massive strength (he went sleepless Tuesday night), and humor. There was one tense moment during the "Hoffa" debate. Mike Quill had hit Meany a low blow. Meany finally took the podium.

"I was very happy," said Mr. Labor, "to hear from my old friend Mike Quill. Hearing him brought back some fond memories when Mike and I used to meet once a week in the massage room of the Hotel Astor where we discussed Mike's arthritis and my inability to keep my weight down . . ."

THE CROWD roared. Mike looked silly. The tension broke. The few Hoffa supporters sent word back to Harold Gibbons, Hoffa's prime minister waiting in the outer lobby, that it was all over.

Small incident, big history. There were a score of such moments. Easy handling took the convention over the civil rights hurdle.

There is no doubt that Meany is the leader and will be able to name his successor two or four or six years from now. And it could well be Walter Reuther —if the Red Head plays crown prince instead of the isolated opposition. Without Meany, the leader from Detroit has no chance to lead the giant federation.

Letters To The Editor

I am writing this letter at the request of Jimmie Grimes, who is a cerebral palsy patient at Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland.

Jimmie is in the hospital for corrective surgery which doctors have informed his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Grimes of R.D. 1, will take a year, and possibly more.

On Dec. 8 there appeared in The Review an appeal for a typewriter for Jimmie to take to the hospital to enable him to continue his education. This appeal was answered by Elks Lodge 258 of East Liverpool, assisted by the Lady Elks. Many thanks to these wonderful people who have made a very happy boy of Jimmie Grimes.

The Glenmoor Volunteer Firemen and their association, assisted by the Ladies Auxiliary, sponsored a coverdish dinner on Dec. 14 for Jimmie at which time Mr. G. D. Wilkinson, chairman of the Elks Cerebral Palsy Committee, and Mr. Samuel Webber, exalted ruler of the lodge, came and presented the typewriter to climax a very successful going-away party.

Many thanks to all these people, but Jimmie asked me to be sure to thank the following organizations and people:

1. — The Review for its cooperation in letting his needs be known.

2. — The Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles Lodge 772 of Wellsville for sponsoring a benefit, proceeds of which were used for necessary clothing to be used during his stay at the hospital.

3. — Mrs. McCormack, a tutor who has helped Jimmie to receive his education and for the Bible which he took with him to the hospital.

4. — To the Beaver Local School for furnishing him with his school books.

5. — To the Civil Defense team of St. Clair Township for their wonderful help when needed.

6. — To the state for taking care of his hospital and doctor bills.

7. — To Mr. and Mrs. John Mahoney for providing transportation to and from the doctors and the hospital.

8. — And last but not least to all his wonderful friends who helped in any way to make his going-away party a huge success.

I, as a friend of Jimmie's, would just like to say "thanks" for opening your hearts and assisting this wonderful lad. May God bless you and grant you continued health.

MRS. PEARL LONKERT
R.D. 1, Glenmoor

P.S.—Since writing this letter, I have been informed by Mrs. Grimes that Jimmie's first operation will take place Tuesday. His address is James L. Grimes, Lakeside 50 North, Cleveland, Ohio.

I wonder what people are celebrating on Dec. 25?

Is it because of a Christ born in a manger or is it just for some one called Santa Claus?

You can't find in the Bible where the Wise Men ran from market to market to hunt gifts for Christ, but they brought what gifts they had. Why did they offer gifts? I believe it was because they loved Christ, who was later to die on the cross that all people might be saved and have eternal life.

Can you find in the Bible where the Wise Men or Mary trimmed a fir tree fancy? Let's celebrate Dec. 25 by giving our money to missions and church instead of so much as gifts for relatives and other friends. Put Christ into the spirit of Dec. 25 so all may hear and know about His death on the cross so that all may be saved and have eternal life in Heaven. Not be foolish for the few years we have here on earth. If Christ was born on Dec. 25 let's live for Christ on that day.

Odd Facts

The swastika, which was the symbol of the Nazi party during World War II, was originally symbolic of the sun in the nature religions of the ancient Near East. Similar designs appear in the remains of ancient Mexican and Peruvian civilizations, and it was used by North American Indians as well. Actually, it is a very widely used symbol and its use goes back thousands of years, and is almost always associated with the worship of sun-gods.

Nehru's Turnabout

By James Marlow

Indian Premier No Longer 'Man Of Peace'

WASHINGTON

India's Prime Minister Nehru, who made himself the world's No. 1 holier-than thou moralizer and man of peace, can no longer act as the conscience of mankind.

He ranged from critical to indignant when Britain, France and Israel invaded Egypt, when the Soviet Union crushed the Hungarian revolt, and when the United States backed the rebel invasion of Fidel Castro's Cuba.

Now, after Sunday's Indian invasion of tiny Portuguese Goa, he is in the same boat with those he condemned. Goa has 1,537 square miles and 650,000 people on the southwest coast of India, a nation that has 450 million people.

Nehru may have achieved greatness in a number of ways as an Indian leader. But he has preached peace and avoidance of force so much that he has created an unreal image of himself.

When he was Mohandas Gandhi's disciple he accepted the master's doctrine of nonviolence as a political weapon simply because it happened to be the right policy at the time India was seeking freedom from Britain.

It was not something he believed in absolutely. He explained once: "The majority of us, I take it, judge the issues not on moral but on practical grounds, and if we reject the way of violence it is because it promises no substantial results."

This is the doctrine of oportunism. Taking Goa promised substantial results because it would be easy. Far-off Portugal could hardly make war on India to hold its possessions.

The results if India had attacked Red China would look very much less substantial since the Communists have 650 million people and a far greater military force.

Since 1959, when Red China occupied about 12,000 square miles of Indian territory — almost 9 times the size of Goa — Nehru simply has argued.

Nehru has been under great pressure in anticolonial India to seize Goa, which Portugal took in 1510 and still holds as a colony.

Next year is election year in India for Nehru and his Congress party.

The prime minister ignored President Kennedy's plea of last Thursday to avoid the use of force.

This was a switch for Nehru, who in the past could always be relied on to deplore the use of force anywhere. He has now adopted the philosophy that might makes right.

It wasn't Nehru's only switch. Portugal has no more right to Goa than Britain had to India or France to Indochina. All three took territory because they had the power to and held the native people under thumb.

This was imperialism. Nehru has been a life-long foe of it. But his action against Goa also is imperialism, although he may call it liberation.

If all this seems a contradiction in the man, perhaps it can be understood by this statement by Frank Moraes, an Indian journalist who knew Nehru a long time and five years ago wrote the story of his life: "It is interesting to see how his mind persuades his conscience of many things."

It explains how he can make a complete turnabout in six years.

In 1955, when some Indians suggested taking Goa wasn't much of a military problem, Nehru drew back from the thought of war.

"The fact that a war is a little war doesn't make it less of a war," he said.

Then Sunday he made war, although it was a pretty safe kind of war.

Political Giving

By Raymond Moley

The soundness of our two parties depends upon an adequate amount of money for their support. Their health is just as important a matter as is the ridding us of disease, deliqneucny and involuntary poverty.

The character of a political party depends upon the breadth of its base. To expect a party to serve the public, rather than the private interest of a few, when its financial support is narrowly based is to blind ourselves to what we all know of human nature.

When we scan the list of contributors after any campaign there appears the melancholy, not to say frightening fact that both of our parties rest upon the support of a very few major contributors.

The Republican party must, if it is to survive, reach into the pockets of a relatively few "fat cats" for the major part of its financial support.

This not only is detrimental to the public interest but it is unfair to the contributors themselves. For the opposition can point to those individuals as undesirable citizens who seek by lavish gifts to buy favor.

On the other hand, the contributions to the Democratic party and its candidates have become altogether heavily weighted by special groups, notably the labor unions.

It is true that there is federal legislation forbidding this. But it is applicable only to the nomination and election of federal officers. All other elections, except where there are state laws forbidding it, may be financed by the labor organizations themselves.

The Republicans can and do excoriate the Democrats for this labor support.

TO AVOID such accusations, dozens of committees are formed for this or that candidate or party and thus there are split contributions all of which go to the same end.

Two ways have been suggested to provide a broader base by law for contributions and to relieve the two parties from obligations which now prevail.

One would be to have Congress appropriate subsidies to the parties. But this is not only impractical but undesirable. Such subsidies would presumably apply only to the nomination and election of candidates for federal offices. And the enactment of such subsidies by Congress would involve partisan bickering and also create bureaucratic control.

The best way to broaden the base of both parties would be through the incentive now in operation to encourage contributions for charitabble and civic purposes.

That would be by an enactment of Congress of a provision to allow a deduction or a credit in income tax returns of a limited amount as a contribution to the individual's party of choice.

I like best a suggestion made by a distinguished New York lawyer and jurist who served on the federal bench for some years before resuming private practice. He is Simon H. Rifkind.

HE SUGGESTS that a tax credit of $10 be allowed for party contributions. But since he believes, quite correctly, that the returns would not be great enough from these small contributions, there should be allowed a credit against "income" (meaning a deduction rather than a tax credit) up to an aggregate of $3,000.

This would be fair to both parties, since the greater number of those who could afford only the smaller figure would probably be Democrats. But the provision for larger contributors would also bring in large Democratic sums. There are lots of well-to-do Democrats these days.

The amount collected with these inducements would then depend upon the energy and skill with which the respective party leaders mustered collections.

Invasion

inside the border in a wide arc, the spokesman said.

The Indian invasion to seize the territories ruled for more than four centuries by Portugal brought sharp criticism from the United States.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called an urgent meeting of his top aides in Washington and a high-ranking official said afterward: "This is a classic example of the use of force by one of the most moralistic members of the neutral bloc."

President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan earlier had appealed directly to Nehru to seek a peaceful settlement of the long-standing dispute. But Nehru turned a deaf ear to their pleas.

Portugal ordered internment of all Indian nationals in Portuguese overseas territories and froze their assets. There are sizable Indian populations in Mozambique and Angola in Africa and in Macao on the Red China border.

Details of the fighting were skimpy but heavy firing could be heard at this Indian command post only a few miles from the Goan frontier.

The Indian forces swept across the Goan border at three places in full force, with tanks, armored cars and air cover.

Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon said in New Delhi that the invaders were being helped by underground sympathizers inside Goa. He said there was evidence the Portuguese were blowing up bridges and destroying oil storage tanks in a scorched earth policy.

The Indian command said the invasion was going as planned.

Heaviest fighting was reported in Goa, an area of 1,348 square miles with a population of about 600,000. Only nominal resistance was reported in Diu and Damao, which together total only 53 square miles and have about 43,000 people.

of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. They were charged with parading without a permit, obstructing traffic and blocking sidewalks. Each was jailed under $200 bond.

The Negroes voiced determination Sunday night to continue their campaign. M. S. Page, who took command of the movement in the absence of Anderson, said that an economic boycott of white merchants would be pressed, and Christmas celebrations would be postponed until civil rights goals were achieved.

Juvenile Court Judge Hudson Malone released 33 girls and 38 boys who were arrested in Saturday's march. He made them wards of the state, released them without bond to the custody of their parents and warned them not to violate any laws.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I repair a shoelace that has lost its metal tip?

A. Dip the end of the lace into some colorless fingernail polish, give it a twist, and let it dry. It'll end up stiff enough to poke through the eyelets of your shoes.

Q. I am forever sneezing when using some of my soap powders. Any suggestions?

A. Try putting a teaspoonful of salt into your dishwater or laundry machine before adding the soap powder.

Q. How is the best way to clean my electric toaster?

A. Never put it into water! Use a damp (not wet) cloth to wipe it off. Use a mild abrasive to take off stains or butter, but be gentle about it. The heating element cleans itself when you turn it on. A small paint brush, kept exclusively for the purpose, is good for removing stubborn crumbs. For safety's sake, remember to let the toaster become thoroughly cool before storing it away.

cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and tonight.

The patrol also investigated two other mishaps in the district over the Rev. Ralph Johnson officiating. Burial will be in the church neral Home in Kensington with the weekend in which two women were injured, not seriously.

In a two-car crash on Route 14 in Unity Saturday at 8:30 p.m., Mrs. Betty J. Lester received a bruised left knee.

She was a passenger in the auto of her husband, Albert R. Lester, 36, of East Palestine, that collided with another driven by Herbert H. Givens, 49, of Negley R. D. 1.

The patrol said Givens, northbound, pulled from another road into the path of Lester's eastbound car, striking it broadside. Givens was cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way, the patrol reported.

Mrs. Clara Schmelzenbach, 63, of 804 Illinois Ave., suffered an injury of the right leg when the car driven by her husband, Frank, 64, collided with another driven by Allen G. Goodwin, 38, of 7th Ave., LaCroft.

The mishap occurred Sunday at 1:15 p. m. at the intersection of County Road 424 and Route 267 in Glenmoor. Schmelzenbach was cited on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. There was moderate damage to both cars, the patrol reported.

The boy's death was one of six pedestrian fatalities throughout Ohio over the weekend — one of the highest two-day tolls of the year.

John Yarosh Jr., 16, and his brother, Michael, 12, of Poland, were hit and killed by a car as they stood next to their father's stalled auto on Route 164 just west of their hometown Saturday.

Susan Haviland, 14, of Canfield R. D. 1, was hit by a car as she crossed Route 46 a mile north of Canfield Sunday. Cars also killed John Wolfe, 61, of Warren and Millard Meadows, 43, of Portsmouth in those cities over the weekend.

injunction to stay state criminal proceedings is an extraordinary remedy."

The court added:

"In addition to the considerations normally attending an application for such relief, a serious question of standing is presented on this motion (for a stay), in that it appears that the movants (those making the motion) themselves are not being prosecuted in the Mississippi Courts. On the record before us, the motion for a stay injunction pending appeal is denied."

The action today resulted from refusal by a three-judge federal court in Mississippi to order a halt to continuing prosecution of Freedom Riders.

The three judge court on Nov. 17 ruled that issues raised by Freedom Riders had to be decided first in state courts.

From this Nov. 17 ruling, the legal defense fund of NAACP appealed to the Supreme Court asking that it stay all Jackson proceedings pending a review of the three-judge court ruling.

The NAACP request asserted state prosecutors had refused to agree to a test suit in state appellate courts, with the result that a long delay appeared possible before the highest tribunal could be given an appeal on the merits of the case.

A reply brief filed with the Supreme Court by lawyers for the city of Jackson asserted that they had offered to litigate a test case after the first group of Freedom Riders arrived in the city.

Today's Supreme Court rejection of the stay request turned down a Justice Department contention that a stay should be granted."

The department, in a brief, asserted that "federal abstention at this juncture will result in the virtual suspension in Jackson of federal constitutional rights."

Hard Physical Work Seen Cure For Softness

CHICAGO (AP) — Americans, living in a push - button age, are going soft physically, says a researcher at the University of Illinois.

Dr. Thomas K. Cureton, director of physical fitness research, says this softness can be overcome by hard physical work and the addition of wheat germ and other nutritionally high supplements in the diet.

His observations highlight a report on the training methods of Olympic athletes just readied for publication. He gives four reasons why U. S. athletes seldom win in the 1,500 meter, 10,000 meter, steeplechase and martahon runs.

Youngsters do not compete in endurance events in high schools. They are careless about diet in relation to performance. Physical education emphasizes fun. American physicians discourage endurance work for American youth.

Woman, 104, Not One To Let Days Drift By

CHETICAMP, N. S. (AP) — Mrs. Dan Arsenault may be 104 but she is not one to let the days just drift by.

After a nine - hour sleep she is up at 6 a.m., ready for a full day of knitting. She currently is working on a bedspread.

The thrice-married widow says she never takes a pill or a drop of medicine and has never owned a pair of eyeglasses. Mrs. Arsenault, who lives with a son and his wife, adds that she enjoys a good appetite.

Cadillac

Craftsmanship a creed...accuracy a law!

The headline of this advertisement was written almost sixty years ago.

It is the motto of the men who build Cadillac cars —and it has served as proud legend and stern taskmaster for three generations of Cadillac craftsmen.

We selected it to help tell our story today, because we think it still summarizes perfectly the quality and the care—the pride and the precision—that go into the making of every Cadillac motor car.

There is no really adequate way to describe the crafting of a Cadillac. But perhaps this brief recitation of facts might be helpful.

1. The average Cadillac craftsman has more than ten years of experience on the job.

2. One out of every seven people involved in the building of the car is an inspector.

3. Cadillacs are built in only one place—and they are built by men who build nothing else.

4. The car is crafted to unbelievably fine tolerances. Some engine parts, for example, must be accurate to within one ten-thousandth of an inch.

5. Every model undergoes more than 1400 different checks in the course of its assembly.

The list is longer, of course. But however lengthy, it could never be more impressive than the result.

See and drive the 1962 Cadillac soon. We know you'll understand why it has been so widely acclaimed as the Standard of the World.

Invasion

inside the border in a wide arc, the spokesman said.

The Indian invasion to seize the territories ruled for more than four centuries by Portugal brought sharp criticism from the United States.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called an urgent meeting of his top aides in Washington and a high-ranking official said afterward: "This is a classic example of the use of force by one of the most moralistic members of the neutral bloc."

President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan earlier had appealed directly to Nehru to seek a peaceful settlement of the long-standing dispute. But Nehru turned a deaf ear to their pleas.

Portugal ordered internment of all Indian nationals in Portuguese overseas territories and froze their assets. There are sizable Indian populations in Mozambique and Angola in Africa and in Macao on the Red China border.

Details of the fighting were skimpy but heavy firing could be heard at this Indian command post only a few miles from the Goan frontier.

The Indian forces swept across the Goan border at three places in full force, with tanks, armored cars and air cover.

Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon said in New Delhi that the invaders were being helped by underground sympathizers inside Goa. He said there was evidence the Portuguese were blowing up bridges and destroying oil storage tanks in a scorched earth policy.

The Indian command said the invasion was going as planned.

Heaviest fighting was reported in Goa, an area of 1,348 square miles with a population of about 600,000. Only nominal resistance was reported in Diu and Damao, which together total only 53 square miles and have about 43,000 people.

of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. They were charged with parading without a permit, obstructing traffic and blocking sidewalks. Each was jailed under $200 bond.

The Negroes voiced determination Sunday night to continue their campaign. M. S. Page, who took command of the movement in the absence of Anderson, said that an economic boycott of white merchants would be pressed, and Christmas celebrations would be postponed until civil rights goals were achieved.

Juvenile Court Judge Hudson Malone released 33 girls and 38 boys who were arrested in Saturday's march. He made them wards of the state, released them without bond to the custody of their parents and warned them not to violate any laws.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I repair a shoelace that has lost its metal tip?

A. Dip the end of the lace into some colorless fingernail polish, give it a twist, and let it dry. It'll end up stiff enough to poke through the eyelets of your shoes.

Q. I am forever sneezing when using some of my soap powders. Any suggestions?

A. Try putting a teaspoonful of salt into your dishwater or laundry machine before adding the soap powder.

Ham Radio Links City Woman And Serviceman Son

A city woman and her son exchanged holiday greetings early today with the aid of a "ham" radio operator in Columbiana.

The amateur radio operator relayed messages spoken over the telephone by Mrs. Wilbur Forester, 1748 Montana Ave., to Airman 1C Robert Forester, stationed with the Air Force in Iceland.

The "ham" and the airman talked on the radio circuit and decided to reach Mrs. Forester by telephone from Columbiana so that she could extend Christmas greetings.

Receiving the telephone call at 8:40, Mrs. Forester wished her son holiday greetings and a happy birthday and the message was relayed by the "ham" to her son in Iceland.

The mother and her son were unable to talk directly because of static on the circuit, the unidentified "ham" told her.

Airman Forester was graduated from East Liverpool High School in 1957 and attended Ohio University at Athens for a year. He works at a radar control station in Iceland. His birthday is Saturday.

You'll need about a tablespoon of flour for "coating" an eight- or nine-inch baking pan that has had its bottom greased.

Rome Beauty apples hold their shape well during baking. They may be had medium or large and their yellow greenish skin is more or less mottled with bright red and striped with carmine.

SANTA and the FLYING SHOE

by Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Santa and King Ferdinand of Polydora disguise themselves as woodchoppers and try to trap the giant Ipswitch by stretching a rope across its path. But the monster passes by without touching the rope!

The townsmen were overcome with awe at the two magicians.

"It's impossible!" declared Santa. "How could it pass and not trip over the rope?"

The King shook his head. "The whole thing is impossible and I have never known anything to equal it in any mystery story I've ever read."

"When we get to the bottom of this," said Santa, "I shall have one of my writers do a story about it. It will be a good thing to have on the Book List next Christmas."

"Perhaps we shall never get to the bottom of it," said the King dolefully. "And by next Christmas I won't even be King."

"Nonsense," said Santa. "I have a brand new plan. We will dig a ditch and the next time the Ipswitch comes around it will fall into it and that will be that."

"It will have to be an awfully big ditch," said the King. "We couldn't dig it."

"We will have your people dig it," said Santa.

"But they no longer do anything I command!"

"But if a magician commands it?"

"Magician?"

SANTA WAS busily pulling costumes from his inexhaustible bag. "We will disguise ourselves as magicians. Then we will promise the people to get rid of the Ipswitch if they will dig a hole."

Before he knew it, the King found himself no longer a woodchopper but a magician dressed in black tails and tall silk hat and carrying a magic wand.

Santa dressed in the same disguise and they headed back to the town. In no time at all they were surrounded by townsmen. These poor people had often heard of but never seen a magician and when they found themselves visited by two they were overcome with awe.

When Santa explained to them what he wanted they agreed willingly. There was nothing they would not do to rid themselves of the cursed Ipswitch.

They rushed to their homes for shovels and pickaxes and then marched, one thousand strong, to the narrow plain between the hills. There was already a deep depression made by the Ipswitch's last trip and the two magicians stood at the edge of this hole and directed the laborers to enlarge and deepen it.

The eager workers dug and dug without stopping and the hole got deeper and deeper and wider and wider. Santa and the King stood at the side and from time to time waved their wands, pretending that magic was being invoked.

WHEN AT LAST the ditch was large enough they ordered the workers home and then the two magicians climbed into the hole.

"It's huge!" cried Santa. "It's bound to work."

"Oh, my!" said the King, waving his wand excitedly, "I just wish the Ipswitch would come this very minute! I'd like to see it's face when it falls in here."

"Watch that wand!" cautioned Santa. "Yiu never can tell—"

But it was too late. Somehow magic had been invoked or maybe it was a coincidence but anyway the Ipswitch was on its way again. Hearing the distant thuds, the two magicians struggled wildly out of the ditch just in time to see an enormous left foot descending on them from above.

Panic stricken, Santa and the King tumbled again to the bottom of the ditch. They picked each other up and raced forward hand in hand. Then Santa stumbled and both of them crashed headlong. An instant later, the foot landed not two yards in front of them.

Open mouthed, they stared. It was a shoe. But there was no leg. No body. No head. Only a left-footed shoe that already was rising in front of them to land again miles away.

DiSalle Asks Retarded Aid

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says a great deal of mental retardation can be prevented through proper care of a mother during pregnancy.

Proposing an expanded program to combat and treat mental retardation Sunday, the governor commented:

"We must make it known how important this nine-month period is in acting to prevent what primarily is a children's disease."

However, DiSalle told a meeting of the Parents Volunteer Association for Retarded Children "causes of retardation are not generally known, and research is needed so that we can pinpoint the cause."

Federal money available for research into retardation could be doubled in the future as a result of the recommendation of a commission appointed by President Kennedy, DiSalle said.

He noted that much can be done in training the mentally retarded so they are developed to their full abilities.

No ways are known to bring them back to normal, the governor said, but many can be made self - supporting, useful members of society.

He said the program he proposed would require money. He attacked the Republican - dominated state legislature for cutting the amount his administration had asked for the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

Wet Weather Sweeps U.S.

By The Associated Press

A variety of weather, mostly miserable, hit wide sections of the nation in a wet and stormy weekend.

The foul weather touched nearly all bases in the climatic cycle—snow, cold, strong winds, rain, sleet, fog, a tornado, thunderstorms and floods. The effects were nearly nationwide.

Freezing rain and fog in many areas in the eastern half of the nation made conditions hazardous for both motorists and pedestrians. Many storm-related deaths, most of them in traffic accidents on slippery highways, were reported, including nine in Iowa, eight in Indiana and two in New England.

A snowstorm and cold air, powered by strong northerly winds, swept across Idaho into Montana and Wyoming and moved across the northern Rockies into the north central region. The mercury dropped to zero and below from Montana into Minnesota as the arctic air spread into the midlands.

Snow also hit many areas in the West, including parts of Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, Oregon and Washington. Up to 42 inches of snow covered mountain areas near Flagstaff, Ariz.

Mild moisture-laden air dumped more than two inches of rain in a six-hour period in parts of Alabama and eastern Tennessee. Lighter rain and drizzle sprinkled areas westward into the lower Mississippi Valley and northward into the Ohio Valley and middle Atlantic states.

Pursued Car Rams Pickup

An Ohio motorist, being tailed by a Chester policeman in a cruiser, lost control of his car and smashed into a parked pickup truck on Carolina Ave. between Dunn and 6th Sts., Chester, Sunday at 2:15 a. m.

Lesse L. Lewis, 33, of Amsterdam was arrested for driving while intoxicated and driving without an operator's permit following the crash. He posted bonds totaling $151 for hearings Dec. 28 at 7 p. m. before Mayor Ray Collins of Chester.

Patrolman Clarence Lennens said he became suspicious after spotting the car parked at various places around town earlier in the evening. He alerted the Hancock County Sheriff's office of the vehicle just prior to going off duty at 2 a. m.

Lennens said he then spotted the car on Carolina Ave. and decided to turn around and follow to learn where it was headed.

Lewis apparently spotted the cruiser because he picked up speed but then lost control and smashed into the pickup truck owned by Emanuel Volino of Substation Rd., East Liverpool. The truck was knocked up over the curb and into a tree.

A passenger in the car, Donald Eakel, 21, of Steubenville, was injured slightly but refused medical aid.

DiSalle Wavers On Election Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle expressed uncertainty today over his decision against seeking re-election.

Commenting to newsmen on a draft-DiSalle movement, the governor denied claims it was sponsored by so-called self-seeking politicians.

Recalling that soon after his Oct. 20 announcement of noncandidacy he had said he felt it was the right decision, DiSalle observed today: "I don't know. In view of developments, I just don't know."

DiSalle said he has never discussed the draft movement sponsored by Port Clinton publisher Robert Reider and Richard F. Guggenheim of Cincinnati, Civil Rights Commission chairman, both Democrats, and Dale Stump, Columbus attorney, a Republican.

The governor said Reider had done him a service rather than asking anything for himself. He said Guggenheim had refused a cabinet appointment and recently offered his resignation as Civil Rights Commission chairman, which was refused. He added that Stump "has never sought any favors from me for any public office."

Chertoff To Vacation; Shay To Act As Judge

Atty. Donald D. Shay will take over as acting judge of Municipal Court Wednesday to serve out the balance of the year as Judge Samuel M. Chertoff concludes his vacation.

Judge Chertoff left this afternoon to visit his daughter and son-in-law in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He will return to East Liverpool after the holiday and resume his duties on the bench on Jan. 2.

Chester Club Raises $35 With Yule Dance

Sixty-five couples attended the annual Christmas dance, "The Mistletoe Ball," of the Chester Junior Women's Club Saturday night at the Elks Lodge ballroom in East Liverpool.

Music was provided by Eddie Yance and his orchestra from Steubenville. Mrs. Alvin Arner Jr., ticket chairman, announced that about $35 was realized and will be used for club projects.

At Band Parents' Event

Miss Kiddey Receives 4 Awards At Wellsville

Four awards, including the coveted "outstanding bandsman" trophy, were presented Miss Bonnie Kiddey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kiddey, 1137 Hillcrest Rd., at the first annual awards banquet held Saturday by the Wellsville Band Parents at the First Christian Church.

Miss Kiddey, a senior, was voted "outstanding bandsman" by the band members. She was cited for "doing the best for the band as a whole."

A flute player, she also was cited as the best marcher, was named as the outstanding senior member of the band and was recognized as a section leader.

Miss Kiddey is shown with Theodore Koenig, band director, who is holding a plaque presented him by members of the band.

In being named the best marcher, Miss Kiddey was cited for "picking up her feet, strutting and keeping up a good appearance."

A bronze pin with a blue ribbon was presented to each band member and the majorettes. Gold pins with yellow ribbons were presented section leaders.

OSU Giving Cupid Little Assistance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University is giving cupid a little assistance.

The new university directory now includes a person's marital status. Numbers listed after each name indicate whether a man or woman is single, married, separated, divorced or widowed.

Cannibalism still exists in parts of the world today. It is practiced among certain isolated South American tribes, in west equatorial and central Africa, the Malay Archipelago, certain South Sea islands, and in parts of Australia.

Jury Chosen In Auto Death

A jury was chosen today in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon for the trial of James E. Orr, 29, of 1209 Commerce St., Wellsville, charged with second degree manslaughter in the traffic death of Gerald Bentz, 18, of Wellsville R. D. 1 on Dec. 19, 1960.

The indictment was returned by the April Grand Jury. The fatality occurred when cars driven by Orr and Ralph T. Samberson, 28, of Wellsville collided on Route 39 about three miles west of Wellsville, killing the youthful passenger in Samberson's car. The youth was a Wellsville High School senior.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard is presiding.

The jury visited the scene of the accident and then returned to court to hear the opening statements and testimony.

Members of the jury are Daisy B. Gilmore, Goldie Garner, Herman Aufderheide and Frances E. Crable of East Liverpool; Marcis Griffith of Salineville; Raymond Thompson, Betty Greenamyer, Russell C Gibbs, T. M. Eckstein and Margaret Graybell of Salem; Ruth E. Chamberlin of Leetonia, and Evelyn Simpson of East Palestine. M. E. Hardgrove of Salem is the alternate.

Missing Clothing Found By Hunter

Several articles of clothing stolen from the Woodbine Laundry plant on W. 4th St. were found over the weekend by a Wellsville man while hunting on a farm near Wellsville, city police said today.

Officers said Ira Blosser, 311 15th St., discovered a two-piece tuxedo, a three-piece gray suit, three pairs of trousers, a topcoat and sports jacket while hunting.

Blosser turned the articles over to Wellsville Patrolman Robert Wellington, who notified James Walker, co-owner of the laundry, and local police.

Thieves stole the articles, along with several other items, from the racks in the drivers' pickup room in the plant Friday night or early Saturday. Some other items still are missing, police said.

All Greek To Him

Yule Play Staged At Youth Session

Thirty-three members of the Presniks youth group met Sunday evening at the Calvary Presbyterian Church of Salineville. The group is comprised of members of six Presbyterian churches in the Wellsville area.

Following devotions, led by Misses Cynthia Smith and Eileen Pierson, a play entitled "A Legend of Christmas" was presented. The sermonette was given by Timonthy McCollam.

The eight new officers, headed by Donald Frischkorn of the Oak Ridge church, were installed by Daniel Duersksen, student pastor of the Yellow Creek church.

Following the meeting, the group went caroling in the Salineville area.

A council meeting is scheduled Jan. 7 and the regular meeting is set Jan. 21, both at the Covenant church of Wellsville.

Murder Charge Filed

HUNTINGTON (AP) — Ruby Wright, 34, of Huntington, was charged with murder last night after Robert Sampson, 31, died of a butcher knife wound in the chest. Authorities quoted the woman as saying Sampson had abused and threatened her.

2 Men Jailed On Auto Tags

NEW CUMBERLAND — Two Wheeling brothers were charged with having improper license plates on their autos Sunday at 2:35 p. m. by Chief William Webster.

Herbert P. George, 31, and James A. George, 17, posted $32.50 bonds for hearings tonight at 7:30 before Municipal Judge John D. Herron.

The older brother was cited after he had reported to the Hancock County sheriff's office that his auto had been stolen. Actually, it had been towed away from its parking spot for a traffic violation under orders of the police chief.

Chief Weber checked the license number with Ohio County authorities and found that the plates were registered to William E. Hickmar. They had been reported stolen, he said.

When the older George claimed his auto, he was cited by Chief Webster. He was accompanied by his younger brother to where the car had been towed. James George was then cited for having expired temporary plates on his car.

New Car, 1953 Model Damaged In Collision

The new auto of a Weirton man was damaged in a two-car crash on State Route 2 south of New Cumberland Saturday afternoon at 5:35 p. m.

The crash involved a 1962 Chrysler operated by Henry K. Wilson, 60, of Weirton, and the 1953 model sedan of Sherril Thomas LeMasters, 40, of New Cumberland R. D. 1.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said the mishap occurred as LeMasters, northbound, tried to make a left turn as the Weirton man started to pass.

Deputies estimated $200 damage to the new car and $150 to Le Masters' car. Neither driver was injured.

History's first round-the-world nonstop flight was made in 1949 when Captain James Gallagher and his U.S. Air Force crew of 13 men flew around the world nonstop from Fort Worth, Texas, and return — a distance of 23,452 miles, in 94 hours and one minute, with four aerial refuelings enroute.

day as the first U.N. armored patrol pushed into the center of the city.

After entering the town against negligible resistance, the U.N. troops ran into withering fire from shops and private houses. It is uncertain whether the firing came from Katanga troops or whites putting up a last ditch stand.

These seemed to be the last hours before most of Elisabethville fell to the slowly advancing U.N. force.

Grazing Deer Pose New Golfing Hazard

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Golfers everywhere have their alibis. At the Lawrence Country club the best excuse is deer.

Bud Snavely, greenskeeper at the club, reports that a herd of eight 'amazingly tame" deer has been nibbling at the 2nd, 13th and 15th greens. Besides eating the grass, their hooves leave deep cuts that are hard to repair.

Recently Snavely has used smudge-pot flares to ring the greens in an effort to keep the deer away at night.

James Watt, famed pioneer power engineer, coined the term "horsepower".

SANTA and the FLYING SHOE

by Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Santa and King Ferdinand of Polydora disguise themselves as woodchoppers and try to trap the giant Ipswitch by stretching a rope across its path. But the monster passes by without touching the rope!

The townsmen were overcome with awe at the two magicians.

"It's impossible!" declared Santa. "How could it pass and not trip over the rope?"

The King shook his head. "The whole thing is impossible and I have never known anything to equal it in any mystery story I've ever read."

"When we get to the bottom of this," said Santa, "I shall have one of my writers do a story about it. It will be a good thing to have on the Book List next Christmas."

"Perhaps we shall never get to the bottom of it," said the King dolefully. "And by next Christmas I won't even be King."

"Nonsense," said Santa. "I have a brand new plan. We will dig a ditch and the next time the Ipswitch comes around it will fall into it and that will be that."

"It will have to be an awfully big ditch," said the King. "We couldn't dig it."

"We will have your people dig it," said Santa.

"But they no longer do anything I command!"

"But if a magician commands it?"

"Magician?"

SANTA WAS busily pulling costumes from his inexhaustible bag. "We will disguise ourselves as magicians. Then we will promise the people to get rid of the Ipswitch if they will dig a hole."

Before he knew it, the King found himself no longer a woodchopper but a magician dressed in black tails and tall silk hat and carrying a magic wand.

Santa dressed in the same disguise and they headed back to the town. In no time at all they were surrounded by townsmen. These poor people had often heard of but never seen a magician and when they found themselves visited by two they were overcome with awe.

When Santa explained to them what he wanted they agreed willingly. There was nothing they would not do to rid themselves of the cursed Ipswitch.

They rushed to their homes for shovels and pickaxes and then marched, one thousand strong, to the narrow plain between the hills. There was already a deep depression made by the Ipswitch's last trip and the two magicians stood at the edge of this hole and directed the laborers to enlarge and deepen it.

The eager workers dug and dug without stopping and the hole got deeper and deeper and wider and wider. Santa and the King stood at the side and from time to time waved their wands, pretending that magic was being invoked.

WHEN AT LAST the ditch was large enough they ordered the workers home and then the two magicians climbed into the hole.

"It's huge!" cried Santa. "It's bound to work."

"Oh, my!" said the King, waving his wand excitedly, "I just wish the Ipswitch would come this very minute! I'd like to see it's face when it falls in here."

"Watch that wand!" cautioned Santa. "Yiu never can tell—"

But it was too late. Somehow magic had been invoked or maybe it was a coincidence but anyway the Ipswitch was on its way again. Hearing the distant thuds, the two magicians struggled wildly out of the ditch just in time to see an enormous left foot descending on them from above.

Panic stricken, Santa and the King tumbled again to the bottom of the ditch. They picked each other up and raced forward hand in hand. Then Santa stumbled and both of them crashed headlong. An instant later, the foot landed not two yards in front of them.

Open mouthed, they stared. It was a shoe. But there was no leg. No body. No head. Only a left-footed shoe that already was rising in front of them to land again miles away.

DiSalle Asks Retarded Aid

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says a great deal of mental retardation can be prevented through proper care of a mother during pregnancy.

Proposing an expanded program to combat and treat mental retardation Sunday, the governor commented:

"We must make it known how important this nine-month period is in acting to prevent what primarily is a children's disease."

However, DiSalle told a meeting of the Parents Volunteer Association for Retarded Children "causes of retardation are not generally known, and research is needed so that we can pinpoint the cause."

Federal money available for research into retardation could be doubled in the future as a result of the recommendation of a commission appointed by President Kennedy, DiSalle said.

He noted that much can be done in training the mentally retarded so they are developed to their full abilities.

No ways are known to bring them back to normal, the governor said, but many can be made self - supporting, useful members of society.

He said the program he proposed would require money. He attacked the Republican - dominated state legislature for cutting the amount his administration had asked for the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

Wet Weather Sweeps U.S.

By The Associated Press

A variety of weather, mostly miserable, hit wide sections of the nation in a wet and stormy weekend.

The foul weather touched nearly all bases in the climatic cycle—snow, cold, strong winds, rain, sleet, fog, a tornado, thunderstorms and floods. The effects were nearly nationwide.

Freezing rain and fog in many areas in the eastern half of the nation made conditions hazardous for both motorists and pedestrians. Many storm-related deaths, most of them in traffic accidents on slippery highways, were reported, including nine in Iowa, eight in Indiana and two in New England.

A snowstorm and cold air, powered by strong northerly winds, swept across Idaho into Montana and Wyoming and moved across the northern Rockies into the north central region. The mercury dropped to zero and below from Montana into Minnesota as the arctic air spread into the midlands.

Snow also hit many areas in the West, including parts of Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, Oregon and Washington. Up to 42 inches of snow covered mountain areas near Flagstaff, Ariz.

Mild moisture-laden air dumped more than two inches of rain in a six-hour period in parts of Alabama and eastern Tennessee. Lighter rain and drizzle sprinkled areas westward into the lower Mississippi Valley and northward into the Ohio Valley and middle Atlantic states.

HAL HUMPHREY

Molly Gives Arlene Another Chance

Arlene Francis reported on the set of Gertrude Berg's "Mrs. G. Goes to College" show recently to do a guest role. "The last time I was on your show, you fired me," Arlene told Gertrude.

Hal Humphrey

For one of the rare times in her career, Gertrude was left speechless. Arlene hastily went on to explain that it all happened back in the early days of radio on one of Gertrude's first "Goldbergs" shows.

"I was 17 years old, so it must have been during the Punic Wars," recalls Arlene, "and Gertrude had sent out a call for someone to play a friend for the daughter.

"I hadn't even finished the first rehearsal when I heard Gertrude say, 'She won't do.' She probably was right. I must have been terrible."

-:-

AFTER ARLENE filled Gertrude in on the details of this incident from their dim pasts, both had a good laugh. And this time, you can be assured, Arlene was not fired.

She's playing the part of the overly protective mother of a freshman coed in an episode due to be aired on CBS sometime in January.

"To keep me from interfering so much in my daughter's life, Mrs. G. and her landlady try to find a man for me, which they do — miraculously," says Arlene, as she describes the intricacies of a typical TV situation comedy plot.

"When does an actress decide to give herself up to playing mother roles?" I asked.

"It depends on the part, I think. If it's a good part, I don't care if I'm a grandmother. If it isn't, then I wouldn't even want to be the mother of a small 4-year-old."

-:-

"BUT IN 'MRS. G.' you say you're to be the mother of a college girl?"

"Yes, but she's a freshman. I might have drawn the line at a sophomore, you see!"

The charm which Arlene turns on at an interview like this is much more real than what she displays as a charter member of the venerable "What's My Line?" panel. I even mentioned this, and she was too charming to argue the point.

Arlene also is loaded with energy. When she leaves New York for a Hollywood film job like this one, it means a week of pretaping five radio shows (three of them are daily), which she does besides her weekly guessing job on "What's My Line?"

Dinah Shore is always highly touted as a sure winner in this glands-for-energy derby, but I will put my dough on Arlene.

LAST SPRING she was in Hollywood to play James Cagney's wife in the Billy Wilder movie, "One, Two, Three," released this month. She got the role because Wilder wanted "somebody who looks like Arlene Francis." When they couldn't find anyone, they decided to settle for the original.

Next month she spends a week in a stage revival of "Old Acquaintance" in Phoenix, Ariz. Arlene was all busted up when her "Home" show folded four years ago. She believes daytime TV hasn't been the same since, and legions of housewives will agree with her. Arlene injected almost as much exitement into that homemaking melange as one can find in today's quiz shows and soap operas.

SHE HAS HAD no trouble filling her time since then, however, and still is available for any situation that may arise, from a Gertrude Berg show to filling in for a vacationing Jack Paar.

Would she like to take over the Paar show when he leaves next March?

"No one ever can replace Jack Paar. He has reached a stature on that show where he can say anything he pleases," replies Arlene.

What she says is true enough, but Paar seems to be running out of things to say, and that never would happen to Arlene.

Voter Stand Tops School News Listing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Falling off of voter approval of school bond issues and levies at the November general election was the top Ohio education story of the year, according to a survey of the state's daily and weekly newspaper education writers.

The enactment of state legislation to permit establishing locally controlled community colleges was ranked the No. 2 story in the survey. The poll was conducted by the Ohio Education Association's Education News Service.

Lessening of voter support for school financing issues was sharp. Only 54 per cent of school bond issues and 87 per cent of levies passed, compared with lows for the previous four general elections of 67 per cent on bond issues and 93 per cent on levies.

Listing a top 10 developments of 1961 from the writers' poll, Education News Service ranked as No. 3 the widespread disagreement within Ohio over President Kennedy's federal aid to education program. In a companion survey of the Ohio writers on national education news, the congressional controversy over federal aid to education legislation was rated the top news development of the year.

The rest of the state top 10:

4. Controversy surrounding state law which opponents charge prevents adequate teaching about communism.

5. Dispute between Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and the legislature over how much state money should be spent on public education.

6. Origination of airborne television project serving Ohio and five other midwestern states.

7. Continued consolidation of districts and revocation of charters of substandard high schools.

8. Increased emphasis on quality education.

9-10 (tie). Strengthening of vocational education, and the climb of public school enrollment in Ohio past the 2 million mark.

Midland Group Will Play Carols

The brass ensemble of the Midland Lincoln High School Band will go caroling Tuesday at the high and elementary schools, Presentation Parochial School and at other locations in the borough.

Dominic DiVecchio, band director, said caroling will be held then since he is leaving Wednesday morning to attend a national band clinic in Chicago until Saturday.

Principal William A. Walters said the Busy-C's, girls of the Commercial Department, will present a Christmas skit Friday after the lunch period. Homeroom parties will follow and students will be dismissed at 2:30 for the Christmas vacation. They will return Jan. 2.

Ohio Union Acts To Oust Top Aide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The men who run heavy road construction machinery are trying to change the election laws of Ohio Local 18, International Union of Operating Engineers, in an effort to end the 30-year reign of Frank Converse as president and general business manager.

Eight representatives from each of six districts in the local's statewide jurisdiction met here Sunday. They drew up a platform involving election principles for the union.

The faction called for election of all business representatives, all planning board members and all executive board members under "new and democratic" election procedures.

Melvin Jackfert of Cleveland, speaking for the faction, said there had been no opposition to any candidates running for the six main offices in the union for a number of years. "They're all hand - picked by Converse," he said.

Converse, of Cleveland, also selected business representatives of the local, Jackfert said, rather than having the membership elect them.

Labor Leader Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — William J. McSorley, 86, a long-time leader in organized labor, died Saturday. He had been general president of the Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers International Union for more than 50 years before he retired in 1955.

Industrialist Dies

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) —Stanly Alexander Easton, 88, retired president and board chairman of the Bunker Hill Co., died Sunday after a brief illness. Easton had been associated with the company, one of the nation's top producers of lead, zinc, antimony, cadmium and silver, for more than 50 years. He was born in Santa Cruz, Calif.

Crooksville Man Dies From Traffic Injuries

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Charles Alexander, 60, of Crooksville, a Perry County worker for the Ohio Highway Department, died here Sunday of injuries received when he was hit by a car in a construction area.

The accident happened last Wednesday on Ohio 75, a half-mile north of New Straitsville in Perry County. At that time, the driver, Mona Davis, 41, of New Straitsville, was cited for reckless operation and no driver's license, the Ohio Highway Patrol said.

Pursued Car Rams Pickup

An Ohio motorist, being tailed by a Chester policeman in a cruiser, lost control of his car and smashed into a parked pickup truck on Carolina Ave. between Dunn and 6th Sts., Chester, Sunday at 2:15 a. m.

Lesse L. Lewis, 33, of Amsterdam was arrested for driving while intoxicated and driving without an operator's permit following the crash. He posted bonds totaling $151 for hearings Dec. 28 at 7 p. m. before Mayor Ray Collins of Chester.

Patrolman Clarence Lennens said he became suspicious after spotting the car parked at various places around town earlier in the evening. He alerted the Hancock County Sheriff's office of the vehicle just prior to going off duty at 2 a. m.

Lennens said he then spotted the car on Carolina Ave. and decided to turn around and follow to learn where it was headed.

Lewis apparently spotted the cruiser because he picked up speed but then lost control and smashed into the pickup truck owned by Emanuel Volino of Substation Rd., East Liverpool. The truck was knocked up over the curb and into a tree.

A passenger in the car, Donald Eakel, 21, of Steubenville, was injured slightly but refused medical aid.

DiSalle Wavers On Election Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle expressed uncertainty today over his decision against seeking re-election.

Commenting to newsmen on a draft-DiSalle movement, the governor denied claims it was sponsored by so-called self-seeking politicians.

Recalling that soon after his Oct. 20 announcement of noncandidacy he had said he felt it was the right decision, DiSalle observed today: "I don't know. In view of developments, I just don't know."

DiSalle said he has never discussed the draft movement sponsored by Port Clinton publisher Robert Reider and Richard F. Guggenheim of Cincinnati, Civil Rights Commission chairman, both Democrats, and Dale Stump, Columbus attorney, a Republican.

The governor said Reider had done him a service rather than asking anything for himself. He said Guggenheim had refused a cabinet appointment and recently offered his resignation as Civil Rights Commission chairman, which was refused. He added that Stump "has never sought any favors from me for any public office."

At Band Parents' Event

Miss Kiddey Receives 4 Awards At Wellsville

Four awards, including the coveted "outstanding bandsman" trophy, were presented Miss Bonnie Kiddey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kiddey, 1137 Hillcrest Rd., at the first annual awards banquet held Saturday by the Wellsville Band Parents at the First Christian Church.

Miss Kiddey, a senior, was voted "outstanding bandsman" by the band members. She was cited for "doing the best for the band as a whole."

A flute player, she also was cited as the best marcher, was named as the outstanding senior member of the band and was recognized as a section leader.

Miss Kiddey is shown with Theodore Koenig, band director, who is holding a plaque presented him by members of the band.

In being named the best marcher, Miss Kiddey was cited for "picking up her feet, strutting and keeping up a good appearance."

A bronze pin with a blue ribbon was presented to each band member and the majorettes. Gold pins with yellow ribbons were presented section leaders.

They included Louis Heiney, trombone, Nancy Leith, baritone, Allida Carosiello, flute, Suzanna Culp, saxophone, Darrell Stover, trumpet, Mike Sedor, trumpet, Doris Nelson, clarinet, Judy Rose, clarinet, and John Graham, tuba, all sophomores; Pete Commarato, clarinet, a junior, and Miss Kiddey, flute, Sue McCauley, saxophone, Lee Tice, drum, and Pat Davidson, clarinet, all seniors.

Sterling silver pins with white ribbons went to the outstanding members of each class. They are Barbara Heaton, freshman; Doris Nelson and Louis Heiney, sophomores; Sandy Glass, junior, and Miss Kiddey.

Robert E. Andrews, pastor of the host church, gave the invocation. William Farrell, former president, gave the welcome and introduced Koenig. Koenig made the presentation of awards. Miss Davidson, president of the Wellsville Band, presented the plaque to him.

Senior members of the band are Pat Davison, Becky Fiber, Bonnie Kiddey, Jane Manypenney, Sue McCauley, Kay McClelland and Lee Tice. Senior majorettes are Paula Creaturo, Rita DeSarro and Anna Mae Cianni.

Guests at the dinner included Earl Bake, Board of Education president, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dysert, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glass, Mr. and Mrrs. Raymond Rolley, Mr. and Mrs. William Menough, James Ferry, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Koenig Sr. and Andrews.

A dance followed at the high school gymnasium.

The committee in charge included Mr. and Mrs. Warren Steele, Mrs. Alice Pickens, Mrs. Dorothy Kiddey, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heaton, Koenig, Mrs. Anthony DeSarro, Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Stover, Mr. and Mrs. Ferrall, Mrs. Vivian Bratt and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clark.

Jury Chosen In Auto Death

A jury was chosen today in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon for the trial of James E. Orr, 29, of 1209 Commerce St., Wellsville, charged with second degree manslaughter in the traffic death of Gerald Bentz, 18, of Wellsville R. D. 1 on Dec. 19, 1960.

The indictment was returned by the April Grand Jury. The fatality occurred when cars driven by Orr and Ralph T. Samberson, 28, of Wellsville collided on Route 39 about three miles west of Wellsville, killing the youthful passenger in Samberson's car. The youth was a Wellsville High School senior.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard is presiding.

The jury visited the scene of the accident and then returned to court to hear the opening statements and testimony.

Members of the jury are Daisy B. Gilmore, Goldie Garner, Herman Aufderheide and Frances E. Crable of East Liverpool; Marcis Griffith of Salineville; Raymond Thompson, Betty Greenamyer, Russell C Gibbs, T. M. Eckstein and Margaret Graybell of Salem; Ruth E. Chamberlin of Leetonia, and Evelyn Simpson of East Palestine. M. E. Hardgrove of Salem is the alternate.

Missing Clothing Found By Hunter

Several articles of clothing stolen from the Woodbine Laundry plant on W. 4th St. were found over the weekend by a Wellsville man while hunting on a farm near Wellsville, city police said today.

Officers said Ira Blosser, 311 15th St., discovered a two-piece tuxedo, a three-piece gray suit, three pairs of trousers, a topcoat and sports jacket while hunting.

Blosser turned the articles over to Wellsville Patrolman Robert Wellington, who notified James Walker, co-owner of the laundry, and local police.

Thieves stole the articles, along with several other items, from the racks in the drivers' pickup room in the plant Friday night or early Saturday. Some other items still are missing, police said.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The loot taken from Mary's Grill here recently was all Greek to the thief. Grill owner James J. Chakeres told police the thief stole a Greek alphabet typewriter.

Yule Play Staged At Youth Session

Thirty-three members of the Presniks youth group met Sunday evening at the Calvary Presbyterian Church of Salineville. The group is comprised of members of six Presbyterian churches in the Wellsville area.

Following devotions, led by Misses Cynthia Smith and Eileen Pierson, a play entitled "A Legend of Christmas" was presented. The sermonette was given by Timonthy McCollam.

The eight new officers, headed by Donald Frischkorn of the Oak Ridge church, were installed by Daniel Duersksen, student pastor of the Yellow Creek church.

Following the meeting, the group went caroling in the Salineville area.

A council meeting is scheduled Jan. 7 and the regular meeting is set Jan. 21, both at the Covenant church of Wellsville.

'TEMAC' Proves Surprising

Learning Speeded By New Device

By GLENN WAIGHT

Trigonometry is no trick at all, 11 Beaver Local High School seniors have found in teaching themselves this semester by means of a new "programmed materials" device which has already demonstrated some surprising results.

Gary Hickman of Substation has finished the 18-week course in five weeks, and school officials have had to send away for advanced mathematics material for him and others rapidly completing the instruction.

MRS. JUNE McBane of Columbiana, instructor for the class of nine boys and two girls, says the device, called TEMAC and part of the programmed learning materials courses of Encyclopedia Britannica Films, has put the group ahead of the previous pace of regular teaching methods.

Lee Kirkland, high school principal, and George VanHorne, executive head of the district, said they are greatly impressed by the effectiveness shown by the device so far, and say the course serves as an experiment to determine if the approach should be expanded to other math subjects next year.

Basically, the device is a booklet with a series of statements and explanations on the left side of the pages with blank spaces for answers.

THE ANSWERS are printed on the right side of the page, opposite the blanks, but covered with a sliding plastic mask.

The student reads the explanatory paragraphs, or "frames," then mentally answers the questions or fills in the blanks. He then moves the mask down the page, reads the correct answer and determines if he is right and whether he understands the problem and its meaning.

If the student finds he is wrong, he goes back over the material again for review to determine what he misunderstood. If necessary, he confers with the teacher about the problem.

The trig course consists of three filler booklets which fit into the plastic mask folder. Each has about 140 pages and is read one direction, then reversed in the folder and read the opposite direction.

THE TEACHER provides periodic tests as the student finishes each section at his own pace, and also is present to help explain the proper method or clarify some difficult point.

Use of the individual booklets permits the student to learn at his own speed, compared to the conventional instruction by the teacher to the whole classroom at a uniform rate of progress.

This new method, which is not actually a radical shift from present curriculum programs of many modern schools in the nation, was put into operation on a test basis by the sponsoring firm in 1960 at Roanoke, Va.

Subject-matter specialists conducted extensive field studies on programming, sequence of presentation and the extent to which teachers could be relieved of mere rote textbook instruction.

PRELIMINARY surveys indicated that a student, when placed on his own with programmed material, tends to reach his own conclusions through his own thought processes rather than relying on the teacher's explanation. A by-product was more self-reliance of the student and better preparation for college work.

Following use of the device by some 900 students at three Roanoke high schools, it was determined that despite wide variation in learning rates under the new method, it provided a generally faster rate than the conventional system. The number of failures was also less.

Mrs. McBane plans to compare the results of the present trig class with those of previous years to evaluate its effectiveness.

OF THE 11 students in the course, two more are expected to complete it in six or seven weeks, five or six in 10 weeks and all within 12 weeks.

Those who complete the course early will study "The Language of Algebra," an advanced programmed course.

Kirkland is enthusiastic about the course — "I'm 100 per cent in back of it," he declared.

Mrs. McBane says the devices, which cost $13.75 each, have helped considerably to present the subject materials to the students. "This is the first year it has been used, and it is a different approach, but it is effective and the students like it."

Another innovation at the high school is found in the chemistry department where semi-micro—or half-size — equipment is being used, again to provide more individual learning.

INSTEAD OF conventional test tubes, beakers and a supply room source of chemicals, each student has the smaller-size glass equipment along with his own supply of 88 reagents in small bottles in a kit on his own desk.

Walter Lineberry, head of the science department, said in past years, four students worked on each experiment, and the teacher was almost a "stock boy," in having to hand out the various materials.

Now, each of the 22 students has his or her own equipment and materials, conducts individual experiments and gets more out of the procedure, while the instructor can spend more time and attention on each student.

"Because he is responsible for the experiment and because of the smaller scale, the student has to pay closer attention," Lineberry explains. He also cited the safety factor of the miniature equipment, lower costs and the instruction on individual basis permits undertaking more experiments.

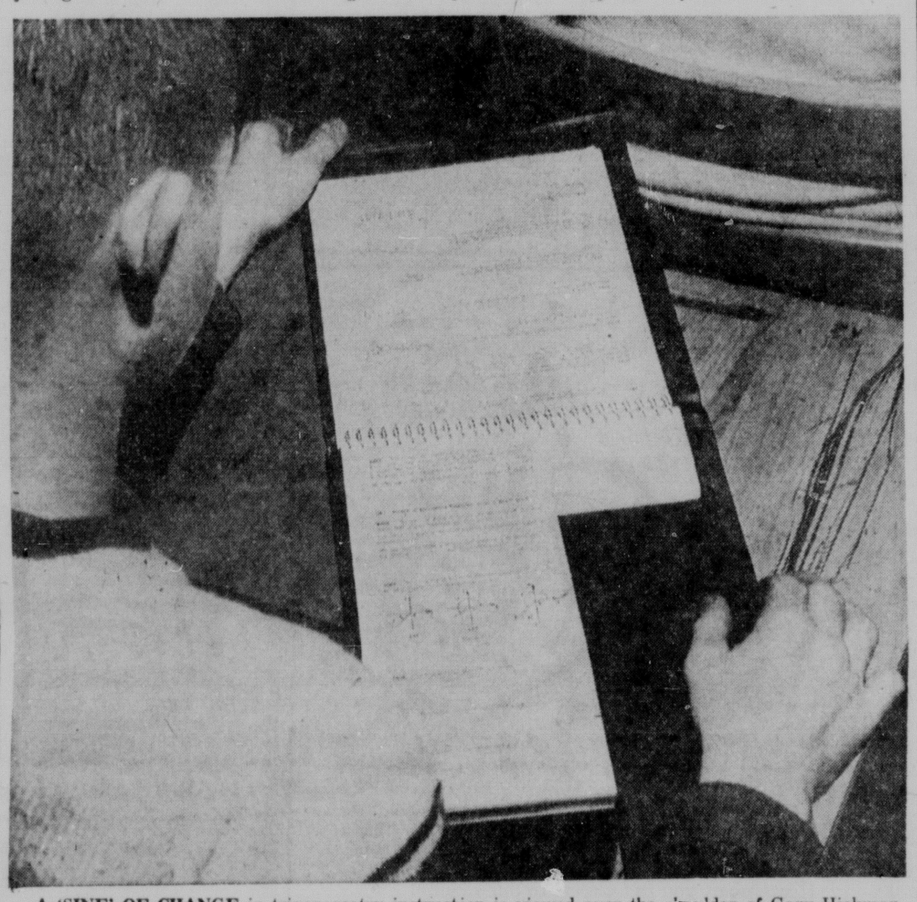
A SIMILAR approach is utilized in the physics course where each student employs his own equipment. This program, designed by a national Physical Sciences Study Committee, also places more individual study effort on each student, and devotes more attention to theory and intangibles than formula work.

A number of other area school leaders have indicated an interest in the programmed learning system, and samples have been requested for East Liverpool schools.

"There is no royal road to geometry," Euclid wrote. "Nor to algebra, trigonometry or calculus," many high school students add.

But the road can be made easier with a capable teacher or successful supplementary equipment, and it appears Beaver Local is utilizing both.

NEW SEMI-MICRO CHEMISTRY test tube is compared with the larger conventional size tube by William Plate of West Point, Beaver Local High School junior. At the right is the kit of small chemical containers each student has in conducting his own individual experiments instead of joining with other students for the larger-scale experiments as in previous years.



A 'SINE' OF CHANGE in trigonometry instruction is viewed over the shoulder of Gary Hickman of Substation, Beaver Local High School senior who completed the 18-week trig course in five weeks with a new programmed materials device. Gary reads the explanations and questions printed on the left of the page, then slides down the plastic mask with his right hand to read the proper answers to check his own answer.

200 Jurors Selected For New Court Term

LISBON — Jury Commissioners J. Clifford Conley of East Liverpool and James Gregg of Salem today started selection of the names of 200 persons to serve as jurors in the January Term of Common Pleas Court.

The first 50 whose names are drawn will be prospective Grand Jury members.

The new term will begin at noon Jan. 8 with a dinner of the County Bar Association at the First Presbyterian Church.

The 50 prospective Grand Jurors will report Jan. 9 at 9 a. m. Those who are not selected for the Grand Jury will act as petit jurors in the January term.

27 Cars Damage Tracks At Lima After Derailment

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Trainmen report it will be Wednesday before the twisted wreckage of 27 derailed freight cars is cleaned up, the Allen County sheriff's office said.

The derailment of the 78 - car Erie-Lackawanna Railroad freight train tore up about 100 yards of main east - west tracks Saturday night. The east line was repaired Sunday night while work continued on the westbound track.

The train was en route from Marion, Ohio, to Huntington, Ind., home of its crew members, when the accident occurred about eight miles east of Lima.

One car spilled caustic soda on the wet ground, and two and possibly three railroad employes were burned when they came in contact with the strong alkaline substance.

Clifford Agler, a flagman on the train, said a hotbox (overheated journal) apparently caused the derailment.

No damage estimate was available.

The Arcade Building, built in 1827-28 in Providence, R. I., is the sole survivor of many such "temples of trade" built in America during the Greek Revival period. The building's 12 columns each weigh twelve tons.

Man Goes To Hospital On Morals Conviction

Sheriff's deputies took Ralph W. Byers, 35, of 313 Norton St. to Lima State Hospital today after he was sentenced Wednesday to 1 to 10 years for molesting a 15-year-old East Liverpool youth.

Execution of Byers' sentence was suspended by the court after he was found to be a pyschopathic offender. He was taken to the Lima hospital until he is found able to serve a penitentiary sentence.

Kennedy

to a dinner given in honor of the Kennedys by President and Mrs. Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia. There was a slight huskiness in his voice.

The Kennedys' whirlwind trip to the upper tier of South America was an obvious personal success. An enthusiastic greeting at Caracas, Venezuela, where leftists had made violent attempts to incite demonstrations against the United States and an overwhelming reception at Bogota, Colombia, reassured Kennedy.

Puerto Rico had reacted as expected on Friday at the start of the weekend journey, with more than 200,000 exuberant spectators on the streets of San Juan cheering the President.

Although the success of his Alliance for Progress hinges primarily on the good will and cooperation of governments in power, Kennedy was openly gratified by his welcome from the people in Caracas and Bogota.

Half a million or more Colombians lined country roads and jammed Bogota's streets Sunday to cheer the Kennedys. Colombian officials called the demonstration the greatest by far in their capital's history.

The Kennedys' reception in Caracas on Saturday and their sendoff Sunday contrasted dramatically with the trepidation felt that pro-Castro elements and groups hostile to Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt would cause grief.

Kennedy emphasized two positions in his 6,300 miles of travel:

1. An appeal for hemispheric support of his Alliance for Progress, the $20-million plan for public and private funds to raise Latin American living standards.

2. Wholehearted support for Betancourt and President Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia. Kennedy made clear that he counts on their example to generate wide backing for the alliance.

in a back room in an attempt to extinguish the flames and then ran into the front bedroom, where she also rolled on the bed. She was found lying on the floor.

Lotz was driven back by the dense smoke when he first attempted to enter the home. Two firemen then donned smoke masks and entered the upstairs.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor, Mrs. Raymond Storer, who smelled the smoke. She notified the fire department after finding it coming from the Thompson home.

Mrs. Thompson's husband, Donald Thompson, was not at home at the time. The fire, smoke and water damage was estimated at $2,000.

Among the survivors were the two trapeze artists. The woman, Antonietta Estevanovich, said she was standing on the platform and her partner was swinging through the air when they saw the fire.

"I didn't yell fearing he would fall," she said. "he completed his swing and we both jumped into the net and escaped."

Inspection Of Radio Pays Off In Reward

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — An inspection disclosed that the radio in Mrs. Norman H. Pecores' automobile wasn't working because a leather folder, slipped up under the dashboard, was interfering.

The folder was found to contain $2,700 in U.S. Savings bonds, issued to F. H. Tewkbury, a former owner of the car.

Mrs. Pecores notified Tewkbury, who had been wondering for two years what had happened to the bonds. He gave an unsolicited reward of $100 to Mrs. Pecores' adopted son, Charles, 11.

Postmarks Give Yule Flavor To Santa's Mail Bag

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of youngsters are getting pre-Christmas letters via Santa Claus, Inc. But yuletide postmarks aren't limited to small fry appeal.

Santa might like a Big Chimney, W.Va., postmark.

For general correspondence try Christmas, Fla.; Christmas Cove, Maine; Noel, Va., and Holliday, Kan.

Wives might hint for gifts via Ermine, Ky.; Beaver, Iowa; Fox, Okla.; Diamond, W.Va.; Pearl, Ill., and Cadillac, Mich.

Husbands could reply: Economy, Ind.

For the weariest people in the house on Christmas Eve—Paw Paw, Mich., or Pawpaw, Ill., and Mummie, Ky.

For last minute shoppers—Hurry, Md.; Scurry, Tex.; Rush, W.Va., and DeLay, Miss.

For the decorator—Holly, Colo.; Bells, Tenn.; Candle, Alaska; Ribbon, Ky., and Snow, Okla.

Gift for dad—Tye, Tex.

For the Christmas cook—Turkey, Tex.; Roll, Ariz.; Cranberry, Pa.; Goodwine, Ill.; Olive, Calif.; Coffey, Mo., and Pie, W.Va.

For the romantic—Misteltoe, Ky.

For after Christmas — Exchange, W.Va.

2 Men Jailed On Auto Tags

NEW CUMBERLAND — Two Wheeling brothers were charged with having improper license plates on their autos Sunday at 2:35 p. m. by Chief William Webster.

Herbert P. George, 31, and James A. George, 17, posted $32.50 bonds for hearings tonight at 7:30 before Municipal Judge John D. Herron.

The older brother was cited after he had reported to the Hancock County sheriff's office that his auto had been stolen. Actually, it had been towed away from its parking spot for a traffic violation under orders of the police chief.

Chief Weber checked the license number with Ohio County authorities and found that the plates were registered to William E. Hickmar. They had been reported stolen, he said.

When the older George claimed his auto, he was cited by Chief Webster. He was accompanied by his younger brother to where the car had been towed. James George was then cited for having expired temporary plates on his car.

New Car, 1953 Model Damaged In Collision

The new auto of a Weirton man was damaged in a two-car crash on State Route 2 south of New Cumberland Saturday afternoon at 5:35 p. m.

The crash involved a 1962 Chrysler operated by Henry K. Wilson, 60, of Weirton, and the 1953 model sedan of Sherril Thomas LeMasters, 40, of New Cumberland R. D. 1.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said the mishap occurred as LeMasters, northbound, tried to make a left turn as the Weirton man started to pass.

Deputies estimated $200 damage to the new car and $150 to Le Masters' car. Neither driver was injured.

History's first round-the-world nonstop flight was made in 1949 when Captain James Gallagher and his U.S. Air Force crew of 13 men flew around the world nonstop from Fort Worth, Texas, and return — a distance of 23,452 miles, in 94 hours and one minute, with four aerial refuelings enroute.

day as the first U.N. armored patrol pushed into the center of the city.

After entering the town against negligible resistance, the U.N. troops ran into withering fire from shops and private houses. It is uncertain whether the firing came from Katanga troops or whites putting up a last ditch stand.

These seemed to be the last hours before most of Elisabethville fell to the slowly advancing U.N. force.

Grazing Deer Pose New Golfing Hazard

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Golfers everywhere have their alibis. At the Lawrence Country club the best excuse is deer.

Bud Snavely, greenskeeper at the club, reports that a herd of eight 'amazingly tame" deer has been nibbling at the 2nd, 13th and 15th greens. Besides eating the grass, their hooves leave deep cuts that are hard to repair.

Recently Snavely has used smudge-pot flares to ring the greens in an effort to keep the deer away at night.

James Watt, famed pioneer power engineer, coined the term "horsepower".

Patricia Converse Marries In East Fairfield Ceremony

Miss Patricia Converse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carney Converse of Leetonia, became the bride of William Settlemyre, son of Mrs. John Settlemyre of Oregonia, Ohio, and the late John Settlemyre, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the East Fairfield Methodist Church.

The Rev. Mark George, pastor, officiated for the double - ring ceremony before an altar background of white gladiolus, chrysanthemums, pine sprays and holly.

Miss Carol Karrer presented a quarter hour of wedding music and Miss Joan Converse sang "Because" and "O Promise Me."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore floor-length gown of peau de soie and Alencon lace, which she made. The princess style dress was designed with an Empire waistline and released box pleats. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and holly.

Miss Jean Converse, sister of the bride, wore a dress of Royal blue velvet, fashioned with a soft, pleated full skirt. She wore a matching Dior bow as a headpiece and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink carnations and roses.

Miss Beth Morrison of Marysville, Miss Nancy Settlemyre, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Linda Converse, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore costumes identical to that of the maid of honor. They carried Colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

Stanley Purdy of Parma Heights was best man. Ushers were Robert Hansen and Philip Converse and James Converse, brothers of the bride.

A reception was held in the social rooms. A three-tiered cake centered the bridal table.

Aides were Mrs. Wava Gillespie, Mrs. Betty Kitchel, Mrs. Barbara Cunningham, Mrs. Virginia Purdy, Miss Sally Converse and Miss Virginia Converse.

Guests were from Columbiana, Leetonia, Salem, Canfield, Lisbon, Lebanon, Wilmington, Dayton, Columbus and Cleveland.

For the honeymoon trip, the bride wore a blue wool suit with black accessories and her bridal corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Ohio State University and is employed as home economics extension agent at Wilmington. Her husband also was graduated from the university and is manager of the Settlemyer Seed Farms near Lebanon.

The newlyweds will reside in Oregonia.

Girl In Driver's Exam Involved In Car Crash

Miss Carol Marie Nell, 17, of East Palestine R. D. 1 was taking a test for a driver's license Saturday at Lisbon when she was involved in — of all things — a traffic mishap.

Lisbon police said Miss Nell's car was involved in a crash about 3 p. m. at Maple St. and south Lincoln Ave. with an auto driven by William C. Pannier, 16, of 134 N. Jefferson St. There was $150 damage to the left rear of the Pannier car, but the Nell car was undamaged, police said.

A collision at 11:10 p. m. Saturday at Washington and S. Market Sts. involved cars driven by Albert R. Shasteen, 57, of Lisbon R. D. 1 and Dennis L. Perkins, 56, of 227 Maple St., officers said.

100 Attend Yule Fete Of Midland's Firemen

One hundred attended the annual family Christmas party held Sunday afternoon by Midland volunteer fire company No. 1 at the Hi-Spot Youth Center in the Borough Building.

Santa Claus distributed gifts to the wives and children. Refreshments were served and a magic act was presented for entertainment. William Monac Jr. was chairman.

Members of the department canvassed 7th St. and Midland Ave. Saturday evening, collecting canned goods for food baskets for the needy. The baskets will be made up by the Salvation Army and distributed in the Midland area.

The distribution will be made Christmas Eve. Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri will make the delivery in the emergency truck. Tony Monaco is president of the department.

British Approve Sale Of Fuel To Red China

LONDON (AP) — The British government was reported today to have approved the sale of aviation fuel to Communist China despite stiff American opposition.

The Daily Mail said a contract is now being negotiated for Britain to supply kerosene fuel and lubricating oil for the British Viscount airliners already ordered by the Chinese government.

Vatican Ready To List Council Session Dates

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The opening date of the Roman Catholic Church's forthcoming ecumenical council, the first in nearly 100 years — will be announced on Christmas Day.

The ecumenical council is expected to start in about a year. Pope John XXIII has frequently referred to it as one of the most important, if not the most important, event of his reign.

U.S. May Act If U.N. Fails African Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chester Bowles, special foreign affairs adviser to President Kennedy, says the United States would have to consider taking unilateral action in the Congo if U.N. unification efforts failed.

A U.N. failure, Bowles said in a television interview, could lead to Communist control of the African country.

HAL HUMPHREY

Molly Gives Arlene Another Chance

Arlene Francis reported on the set of Gertrude Berg's "Mrs. G. Goes to College" show recently to do a guest role. "The last time I was on your show, you fired me," Arlene told Gertrude.

Hal Humphrey

For one of the rare times in her career, Gertrude was left speechless. Arlene hastily went on to explain that it all happened back in the early days of radio on one of Gertrude's first "Goldbergs" shows.

"I was 17 years old, so it must have been during the Punic Wars," recalls Arlene, "and Gertrude had sent out a call for someone to play a friend for the daughter.

"I hadn't even finished the first rehearsal when I heard Gertrude say, 'She won't do.' She probably was right. I must have been terrible."

-:-

AFTER ARLENE filled Gertrude in on the details of this incident from their dim pasts, both had a good laugh. And this time, you can be assured, Arlene was not fired.

She's playing the part of the overly protective mother of a freshman coed in an episode due to be aired on CBS sometime in January.

"To keep me from interfering so much in my daughter's life, Mrs. G. and her landlady try to find a man for me, which they do — miraculously," says Arlene, as she describes the intricacies of a typical TV situation comedy plot.

"When does an actress decide to give herself up to playing mother roles?" I asked.

"It depends on the part, I think. If it's a good part, I don't care if I'm a grandmother. If it isn't, then I wouldn't even want to be the mother of a small 4-year-old."

-:-

"BUT IN 'MRS. G.' you say you're to be the mother of a college girl?"

"Yes, but she's a freshman. I might have drawn the line at a sophomore, you see!"

The charm which Arlene turns on at an interview like this is much more real than what she displays as a charter member of the venerable "What's My Line?" panel. I even mentioned this, and she was too charming to argue the point.

Arlene also is loaded with energy. When she leaves New York for a Hollywood film job like this one, it means a week of pretaping five radio shows (three of them are daily), which she does besides her weekly guessing job on "What's My Line?"

Dinah Shore is always highly touted as a sure winner in this glands-for-energy derby, but I will put my dough on Arlene.

LAST SPRING she was in Hollywood to play James Cagney's wife in the Billy Wilder movie, "One, Two, Three," released this month. She got the role because Wilder wanted "somebody who looks like Arlene Francis." When they couldn't find anyone, they decided to settle for the original.

Next month she spends a week in a stage revival of "Old Acquaintance" in Phoenix, Ariz. Arlene was all busted up when her "Home" show folded four years ago. She believes daytime TV hasn't been the same since, and legions of housewives will agree with her. Arlene injected almost as much exitement into that homemaking melange as one can find in today's quiz shows and soap operas.

SHE HAS HAD no trouble filling her time since then, however, and still is available for any situation that may arise, from a Gertrude Berg show to filling in for a vacationing Jack Paar.

Would she like to take over the Paar show when he leaves next March?

"No one ever can replace Jack Paar. He has reached a stature on that show where he can say anything he pleases," replies Arlene.

What she says is true enough, but Paar seems to be running out of things to say, and that never would happen to Arlene.

Voter Stand Tops School News Listing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Falling off of voter approval of school bond issues and levies at the November general election was the top Ohio education story of the year, according to a survey of the state's daily and weekly newspaper education writers.

The enactment of state legislation to permit establishing locally controlled community colleges was ranked the No. 2 story in the survey. The poll was conducted by the Ohio Education Association's Education News Service.

Lessening of voter support for school financing issues was sharp. Only 54 per cent of school bond issues and 87 per cent of levies passed, compared with lows for the previous four general elections of 67 per cent on bond issues and 93 per cent on levies.

Listing a top 10 developments of 1961 from the writers' poll, Education News Service ranked as No. 3 the widespread disagreement within Ohio over President Kennedy's federal aid to education program. In a companion survey of the Ohio writers on national education news, the congressional controversy over federal aid to education legislation was rated the top news development of the year.

The rest of the state top 10:

4. Controversy surrounding state law which opponents charge prevents adequate teaching about communism.

5. Dispute between Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and the legislature over how much state money should be spent on public education.

6. Origination of airborne television project serving Ohio and five other midwestern states.

7. Continued consolidation of districts and revocation of charters of substandard high schools.

8. Increased emphasis on quality education.

9-10 (tie). Strengthening of vocational education, and the climb of public school enrollment in Ohio past the 2 million mark.

Midland Group Will Play Carols

The brass ensemble of the Midland Lincoln High School Band will go caroling Tuesday at the high and elementary schools, Presentation Parochial School and at other locations in the borough.

Dominic DiVecchio, band director, said caroling will be held then since he is leaving Wednesday morning to attend a national band clinic in Chicago until Saturday.

Principal William A. Walters said the Busy-C's, girls of the Commercial Department, will present a Christmas skit Friday after the lunch period. Homeroom parties will follow and students will be dismissed at 2:30 for the Christmas vacation. They will return Jan. 2.

300 Workers Return To Cincinnati Firm

CINCINNATI (AP) — Some 300 workers were to report to their jobs today at the Trailmobile Inc. plant in nearby Oakley after settlement of a month-long strike.

Union officials said the new contract provides for pay raises of 18 cents an hour and for improvements in pensions, supplementary unemployment benefits, insurance and working conditions. Pay under the old contract was $2.63 an hour.

Ohio Union Acts To Oust Top Aide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The men who run heavy road construction machinery are trying to change the election laws of Ohio Local 18, International Union of Operating Engineers, in an effort to end the 30-year reign of Frank Converse as president and general business manager.

Eight representatives from each of six districts in the local's statewide jurisdiction met here Sunday. They drew up a platform involving election principles for the union.

The faction called for election of all business representatives, all planning board members and all executive board members under "new and democratic" election procedures.

Melvin Jackfert of Cleveland, speaking for the faction, said there had been no opposition to any candidates running for the six main offices in the union for a number of years. "They're all hand - picked by Converse," he said.

Converse, of Cleveland, also selected business representatives of the local, Jackfert said, rather than having the membership elect them.

Industrialist Dies

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) —Stanly Alexander Easton, 88, retired president and board chairman of the Bunker Hill Co., died Sunday after a brief illness. Easton had been associated with the company, one of the nation's top producers of lead, zinc, antimony, cadmium and silver, for more than 50 years. He was born in Santa Cruz, Calif.

Crooksville Man Dies From Traffic Injuries

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Charles Alexander, 60, of Crooksville, a Perry County worker for the Ohio Highway Department, died here Sunday of injuries received when he was hit by a car in a construction area.

The accident happened last Wednesday on Ohio 75, a half-mile north of New Straitsville in Perry County. At that time, the driver, Mona Davis, 41, of New Straitsville, was cited for reckless operation and no driver's license, the Ohio Highway Patrol said.

'TEMAC' Proves Surprising

Learning Speeded By New Device

By GLENN WAIGHT

Trigonometry is no trick at all, 11 Beaver Local High School seniors have found in teaching themselves this semester by means of a new "programmed materials" device which has already demonstrated some surprising results.

Gary Hickman of Substation has finished the 18-week course in five weeks, and school officials have had to send away for advanced mathematics material for him and others rapidly completing the instruction.

MRS. JUNE McBane of Columbiana, instructor for the class of nine boys and two girls, says the device, called TEMAC and part of the programmed learning materials courses of Encyclopedia Britannica Films, has put the group ahead of the previous pace of regular teaching methods.

Lee Kirkland, high school principal, and George VanHorne, executive head of the district, said they are greatly impressed by the effectiveness shown by the device so far, and say the course serves as an experiment to determine if the approach should be expanded to other math subjects next year.

Basically, the device is a booklet with a series of statements and explanations on the left side of the pages with blank spaces for answers.

THE ANSWERS are printed on the right side of the page, opposite the blanks, but covered with a sliding plastic mask.

The student reads the explanatory paragraphs, or "frames," then mentally answers the questions or fills in the blanks. He then moves the mask down the page, reads the correct answer and determines if he is right and whether he understands the problem and its meaning.

If the student finds he is wrong, he goes back over the material again for review to determine what he misunderstood. If necessary, he confers with the teacher about the problem.

The trig course consists of three filler booklets which fit into the plastic mask folder. Each has about 140 pages and is read one direction, then reversed in the folder and read the opposite direction.

THE TEACHER provides periodic tests as the student finishes each section at his own pace, and also is present to help explain the proper method or clarify some difficult point.

Use of the individual booklets permits the student to learn at his own speed, compared to the conventional instruction by the teacher to the whole classroom at a uniform rate of progress.

This new method, which is not actually a radical shift from present curriculum programs of many modern schools in the nation, was put into operation on a test basis by the sponsoring firm in 1960 at Roanoke, Va.

Subject-matter specialists conducted extensive field studies on programming, sequence of presentation and the extent to which teachers could be relieved of mere rote textbook instruction.

PRELIMINARY surveys indicated that a student, when placed on his own with programmed material, tends to reach his own conclusions through his own thought processes rather than relying on the teacher's explanation. A by-product was more self-reliance of the student and better preparation for college work.

Following use of the device by some 900 students at three Roanoke high schools, it was determined that despite wide variation in learning rates under the new method, it provided a generally faster rate than the conventional system. The number of failures was also less.

Mrs. McBane plans to compare the results of the present trig class with those of previous years to evaluate its effectiveness.

OF THE 11 students in the course, two more are expected to complete it in six or seven weeks, five or six in 10 weeks and all within 12 weeks.

Those who complete the course early will study "The Language of Algebra," an advanced programmed course.

Kirkland is enthusiastic about the course — "I'm 100 per cent in back of it," he declared.

Mrs. McBane says the devices, which cost $13.75 each, have helped considerably to present the subject materials to the students. "This is the first year it has been used, and it is a different approach, but it is effective and the students like it."

Another innovation at the high school is found in the chemistry department where semi-micro—or half-size — equipment is being used, again to provide more individual learning.

INSTEAD OF conventional test tubes, beakers and a supply room source of chemicals, each student has the smaller-size glass equipment along with his own supply of 88 reagents in small bottles in a kit on his own desk.

Walter Lineberry, head of the science department, said in past years, four students worked on each experiment, and the teacher was almost a "stock boy," in having to hand out the various materials.

Now, each of the 22 students has his or her own equipment and materials, conducts individual experiments and gets more out of the procedure, while the instructor can spend more time and attention on each student.

"Because he is responsible for the experiment and because of the smaller scale, the student has to pay closer attention," Lineberry explains. He also cited the safety factor of the miniature equipment, lower costs and the instruction on individual basis permits undertaking more experiments.

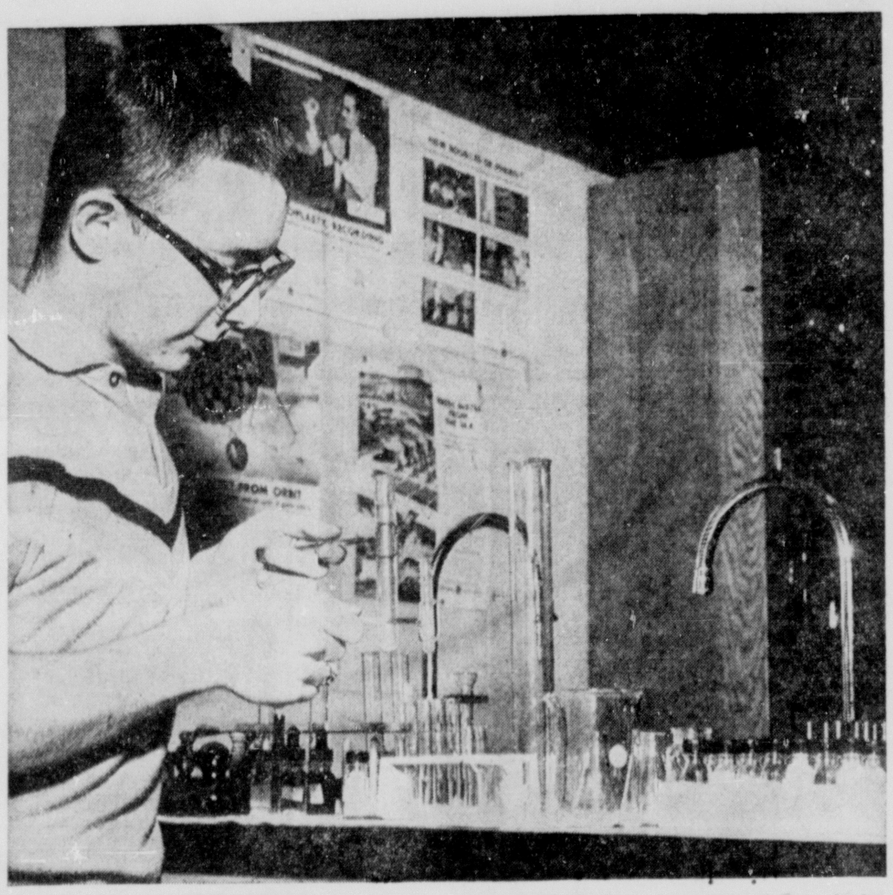
A SIMILAR approach is utilized in the physics course where each student employs his own equipment. This program, designed by a national Physical Sciences Study Committee, also places more individual study effort on each student, and devotes more attention to theory and intangibles than formula work.

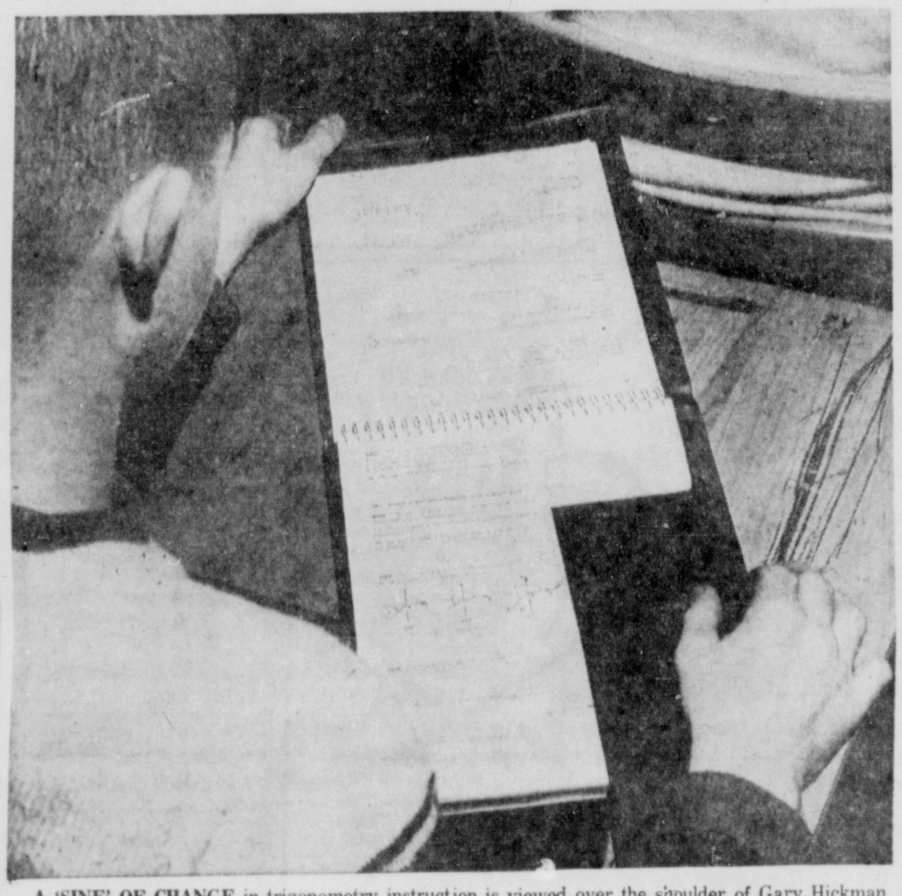
A number of other area school leaders have indicated an interest in the programmed learning system, and samples have been requested for East Liverpool schools.

"There is no royal road to geometry," Euclid wrote. "Nor to algebra, trigonometry or calculus," many high school students add.

But the road can be made easier with a capable teacher or successful supplementary equipment, and it appears Beaver Local is utilizing both.



NEW SEMI-MICRO CHEMISTRY test tube is compared with the larger conventional size tube by William Plate of West Point, Beaver Local High School junior. At the right is the kit of small chemical containers each student has in conducting his own individual experiments instead of joining with other students for the larger-scale experiments as in previous years.



A 'SINE' OF CHANGE in trigonometry instruction is viewed over the shoulder of Gary Hickman of Substation, Beaver Local High School senior who completed the 18-week trig course in five weeks with a new programmed materials device. Gary reads the explanations and questions printed on the left of the page, then slides down the plastic mask with his right hand to read the proper answers to check his own answer.

200 Jurors Selected For New Court Term

LISBON — Jury Commissioners J. Clifford Conley of East Liverpool and James Gregg of Salem today started selection of the names of 200 persons to serve as jurors in the January Term of Common Pleas Court.

The first 50 whose names are drawn will be prospective Grand Jury members.

The new term will begin at noon Jan. 8 with a dinner of the County Bar Association at the First Presbyterian Church.

The 50 prospective Grand Jurors will report Jan. 9 at 9 a. m. Those who are not selected for the Grand Jury will act as petit jurors in the January term.

27 Cars Damage Tracks At Lima After Derailment

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Trainmen report it will be Wednesday before the twisted wreckage of 27 derailed freight cars is cleaned up, the Allen County sheriff's office said.

The derailment of the 78 - car Erie-Lackawanna Railroad freight train tore up about 100 yards of main east - west tracks Saturday night. The east line was repaired Sunday night while work continued on the westbound track.

The train was en route from Marion, Ohio, to Huntington, Ind., home of its crew members, when the accident occurred about eight miles east of Lima.

One car spilled caustic soda on the wet ground, and two and possibly three railroad employes were burned when they came in contact with the strong alkaline substance.

Clifford Agler, a flagman on the train, said a hotbox (overheated journal) apparently caused the derailment.

No damage estimate was available.

The Arcade Building, built in 1827-28 in Providence, R. I., is the sole survivor of many such "temples of trade" built in America during the Greek Revival period. The building's 12 columns each weigh twelve tons.

Man Goes To Hospital On Morals Conviction

Sheriff's deputies took Ralph W. Byers, 35, of 313 Norton St. to Lima State Hospital today after he was sentenced Wednesday to 1 to 10 years for molesting a 15-year-old East Liverpool youth.

Execution of Byers' sentence was suspended by the court after he was found to be a pyschopathic offender. He was taken to the Lima hospital until he is found able to serve a penitentiary sentence.

Gets Citizenship

LISBON — Mrs. Ottilie Fetters, 34, of Beloit R. D. 2 was granted citizenship at a special hearing Friday in Common Pleas Court before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard. Mrs. Fetters, who is from Germany, was too late for the last citizenship class and was granted the special privilege so she can join her husband, Ronald Fetters, in Okinawa. Clerk of Courts Carl Stacey Jr. administered the oath.

Kennedy

to a dinner given in honor of the Kennedys by President and Mrs. Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia. There was a slight huskiness in his voice.

The Kennedys' whirlwind trip to the upper tier of South America was an obvious personal success. An enthusiastic greeting at Caracas, Venezuela, where leftists had made violent attempts to incite demonstrations against the United States and an overwhelming reception at Bogota, Colombia, reassured Kennedy.

Puerto Rico had reacted as expected on Friday at the start of the weekend journey, with more than 200,000 exuberant spectators on the streets of San Juan cheering the President.

Although the success of his Alliance for Progress hinges primarily on the good will and cooperation of governments in power, Kennedy was openly gratified by his welcome from the people in Caracas and Bogota.

Half a million or more Colombians lined country roads and jammed Bogota's streets Sunday to cheer the Kennedys. Colombian officials called the demonstration the greatest by far in their capital's history.

The Kennedys' reception in Caracas on Saturday and their sendoff Sunday contrasted dramatically with the trepidation felt that pro-Castro elements and groups hostile to Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt would cause grief.

Kennedy emphasized two positions in his 6,300 miles of travel:

1. An appeal for hemispheric support of his Alliance for Progress, the $20-million plan for public and private funds to raise Latin American living standards.

2. Wholehearted support for Betancourt and President Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia. Kennedy made clear that he counts on their example to generate wide backing for the alliance.

Lotz was driven back by the dense smoke when he first attempted to enter the home. Two firemen then donned smoke masks and entered the upstairs.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor, Mrs. Raymond Storer, who smelled the smoke. She notified the fire department after finding it coming from the Thompson home.

Mrs. Thompson's husband, Donald Thompson, was not at home at the time. The fire, smoke and water damage was estimated at $2,000.

Among the survivors were the two trapeze artists. The woman, Antonietta Estevanovich, said she was standing on the platform and her partner was swinging through the air when they saw the fire.

"I didn't yell fearing he would fall," she said. "he completed his swing and we both jumped into the net and escaped."

Inspection Of Radio Pays Off In Reward

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — An inspection disclosed that the radio in Mrs. Norman H. Pecores' automobile wasn't working because a leather folder, slipped up under the dashboard, was interfering.

The folder was found to contain $2,700 in U.S. Savings bonds, issued to F. H. Tewkbury, a former owner of the car.

Mrs. Pecores notified Tewkbury, who had been wondering for two years what had happened to the bonds. He gave an unsolicited reward of $100 to Mrs. Pecores' adopted son, Charles, 11.

Fugitive Nabbed Driving Car For Michigan Mother

PAW PAW, Mich. (AP)—An escapee from a Florida prison farm was captured by area police and federal agents Sunday night after he had driven from Cincinnati, Ohio, with an expectant mother in her car.

Held on a federal warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid detention was Eugene Napier, 26, an escapee from a prison farm in Duval County, Fla.

State police and federal agents said Napier was wanted for a series of offenses, including murder.

The story developed late Sunday night when Guy Holmes called the Rockford state police post from his home in Wyoming, a suburb of Grand Rapids, Mich., to report that his wife, Rita, 33, unsuspectingly was in the company of a desperate criminal fugitive.

Holmes said his wife, expecting her sixth child within six weeks, had flown to Cincinnati Saturday to get his car which was left there for repairs. It had become disabled while he was at a funeral.

"She called today and said she was driving the car back but she didn't say who she was with," Holmes added. "A little while later, my mother called from Cincinnati to say that she had learned my first cousin—Eugene Napier—was with my wife and apparently wanted for a whole string of crimes."

Patricia Converse Marries In East Fairfield Ceremony

Miss Patricia Converse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carney Converse of Leetonia, became the bride of William Settlemyre, son of Mrs. John Settlemyre of Oregonia, Ohio, and the late John Settlemyre, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the East Fairfield Methodist Church.

The Rev. Mark George, pastor, officiated for the double - ring ceremony before an altar background of white gladiolus, chrysanthemums, pine sprays and holly.

Miss Carol Karrer presented a quarter hour of wedding music and Miss Joan Converse sang "Because" and "O Promise Me."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore floor-length gown of peau de soie and Alencon lace, which she made. The princess style dress was designed with an Empire waistline and released box pleats. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and holly.

Miss Jean Converse, sister of the bride, wore a dress of Royal blue velvet, fashioned with a soft, pleated full skirt. She wore a matching Dior bow as a headpiece and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink carnations and roses.

Miss Beth Morrison of Marysville, Miss Nancy Settlemyre, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Linda Converse, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore costumes identical to that of the maid of honor. They carried Colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

Stanley Purdy of Parma Heights was best man. Ushers were Robert Hansen and Philip Converse and James Converse, brothers of the bride.

A reception was held in the social rooms. A three-tiered cake centered the bridal table.

Guests were from Columbiana, Leetonia, Salem, Canfield, Lisbon, Lebanon, Wilmington, Dayton, Columbus and Cleveland.

For the honeymoon trip, the bride wore a blue wool suit with black accessories and her bridal corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Ohio State University and is employed as home economics extension agent at Wilmington. Her husband also was graduated from the university and is manager of the Settlemyer Seed Farms near Lebanon.

The newlyweds will reside in Oregonia.

Girl In Driver's Exam Involved In Car Crash

Miss Carol Marie Nell, 17, of East Palestine R. D. 1 was taking a test for a driver's license Saturday at Lisbon when she was involved in — of all things — a traffic mishap.

Lisbon police said Miss Nell's car was involved in a crash about 3 p. m. at Maple St. and south Lincoln Ave. with an auto driven by William C. Pannier, 16, of 134 N. Jefferson St. There was $150 damage to the left rear of the Pannier car, but the Nell car was undamaged, police said.

A collision at 11:10 p. m. Saturday at Washington and S. Market Sts. involved cars driven by Albert R. Shasteen, 57, of Lisbon R. D. 1 and Dennis L. Perkins, 56, of 227 Maple St., officers said.

100 Attend Yule Fete Of Midland's Firemen

One hundred attended the annual family Christmas party held Sunday afternoon by Midland volunteer fire company No. 1 at the Hi-Spot Youth Center in the Borough Building.

Santa Claus distributed gifts to the wives and children. Refreshments were served and a magic act was presented for entertainment. William Monac Jr. was chairman.

Members of the department canvassed 7th St. and Midland Ave. Saturday evening, collecting canned goods for food baskets for the needy. The baskets will be made up by the Salvation Army and distributed in the Midland area.

The distribution will be made Christmas Eve. Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri will make the delivery in the emergency truck. Tony Monaco is president of the department.

British Approve Sale Of Fuel To Red China

LONDON (AP) — The British government was reported today to have approved the sale of aviation fuel to Communist China despite stiff American opposition.

The Daily Mail said a contract is now being negotiated for Britain to supply kerosene fuel and lubricating oil for the British Viscount airliners already ordered by the Chinese government.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lillian Schary Small, 60, a theatrical agent and sister of producer Dore Schary, died Saturday after a long illness.

Vatican Ready To List Council Session Dates

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The opening date of the Roman Catholic Church's forthcoming ecumenical council, the first in nearly 100 years — will be announced on Christmas Day.

The ecumenical council is expected to start in about a year. Pope John XXIII has frequently referred to it as one of the most important, if not the most important, event of his reign.

U.S. May Act If U.N. Fails African Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chester Bowles, special foreign affairs adviser to President Kennedy, says the United States would have to consider taking unilateral action in the Congo if U.N. unification efforts failed.

A U.N. failure, Bowles said in a television interview, could lead to Communist control of the African country.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband belongs to a gourmet club. They meet every two weeks for a late supper (men only) to study the preparation of food.

For several months now Paul has been coming home from these meetings after midnight. The meeting last night didn't end until 4 a.m., he said.

I asked him this morning what in the world kept him out so late and he said it takes time to prepare fine food. Last night's specialty was a Finnish dish — marinated trout. Paul claims it takes five hours of careful watching to prepare this dish because the trout must be turned every 15 minutes.

Naturally the fellows have a little drink every time they turn the trout. You can imagine the condition Paul was in when he got home. What does this sound like to you?—GOURMET'S WIFE.

Dear Wife: It sounds like the trout wasn't the only thing that got marinated.

Paul is overworking the gourmet routine. True, it takes time to prepare fine food, but it seems these gourmets could work on dishes that would get them home by midnight.

When the club starts to put up pickles tell Paul he'll have to skip that meeting. Pickles take at least two weeks.

A Wreck At 13

Dear Ann: I'm 13 years old and turning into a nervous wreck.

My little brother is 6. He can get anything he wants from Mom if he nags her long enough. When she says "no" he just keeps at her until she changes her answer. I have to give in to him all the time. He screams and kicks until my mother orders me to give in, because she can't stand the noise.

The other evening I had some girl friends over and we were watching a TV show. He kept changing the channel. I finally told him to keep his hands off the set or leave the room. He called my mother and threw such a fit that she made me change the channel to the show he wanted. I was humiliated to death in front of my guests.

What advice can yo give me? —SISTER.

Dear Sister: It's your mother who needs the advice. That son of hers is going to develop into a thoroughly obnoxious adult, totally unequipped to get along with the world, if your mother doesn't clamp down and teach him to respect the rights and privileges of others.

And she is being unfair to you. I hope you will show your mother this column. If she would like details, ask her to write to me.

Time Will Tell

Dear Ann: Since you are forever harping on the subject of a separate roof for every family I'd like to let you know that it can work. Listen to this:

My husband passed away three months ago. My children decided I should not be alone. My home is on three acres of land. I have seven bedrooms, a cook, a housekeeper and a maid. My son and his family (three children) are moving in with me next week. My daughter, her husband their two children are moving into the annex as soon as it is completed.

We are all looking forward to living together with great pleasure. Everyone is thrilled. So you see you can be wrong. —MOTHER.

Dear Mother: Write to me a year from today and tell me if everyone is still thrilled.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed, envelope.

2 Winners Campaign For Election In Texas

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Democrat Graham B. Purcell, top vote-getter in Saturday's special election to fill the 13th District post in the U.S. House, begins campaigning anew today.

So does Republican Joe Bailey Meissner, who will face Purcell in a runoff election to be held sometime between Jan. 22 and Feb. 6. Gov. Price Daniel will set the date.

Tabulation of all but about 120 votes showed Purcell with 8,935 votes to Meissner's 6,704. Three others were eliminated.

The House seat was vacated by Democrat Frank Ikard, who resigned to become executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute.

Both Purcell, 42, and Meissner, 36, said they welcome a clear cut Democratic-Republican choice for the voters in the runoff.

Ohio Scholar Picked

CHICAGO (AP) — Jeffrey E. Sicha, 21, of Independence, Ohio, a philosophy major at Oberlin College, has been selected to study in England under a Rhodes scholarship. Sicha is attending Oberlin on a national merit scholarship.

Cleveland Boy Posts Top Ohio Test Score

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jonathan H. Sunshine of Cleveland Heights and Nancy L. Sisson of Sylvania are the top scorers in the general scholarship test given last month to some 23,000 Ohio high school seniors.

State School Supt. E. E. Holt announced Sunday that Sunshine had the highest scorer among the boys, 254 of a possible 300, while Miss Sisson was highest among the girls with 233.

He said test results will be sent to any college or university at the request of the student tested. Holt claims that college grade averages can be predicted with this test as accurately as through any other national testing programs.

The top boys and girls, with their scores and schools, include: H. Pitcher Wayne, Portsmouth, 237; Jeanne M. Mallett, Port Clinton, 229; Judith N. Strommer, Bellevue, 213; Carol B. Schroder, Oberlin, 212, and Lynn A. Woodford, Port Clinton, 212.

Buses Roll In Dayton After 32-Day Walkout

DAYTON (AP)—For the first working day in more than a month, Daytonians could avail themselves of buses to and from their jobs today.

A 32-day strike by nearly 375 City Transit Co. bus drivers and mechanics came to an end Saturday with the ratification of a new contract. Bus service was fully restored by mid-afternoon that same day.

The new pact provides wage increases totaling 17 cents an hour over the length of the 29-month agreement. Drivers formerly made $2.30 an hour.

Fugitive Nabbed Driving Car For Michigan Mother

PAW PAW, Mich. (AP)—An escapee from a Florida prison farm was captured by area police and federal agents Sunday night after he had driven from Cincinnati, Ohio, with an expectant mother in her car.

Held on a federal warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid detention was Eugene Napier, 26, an escapee from a prison farm in Duval County, Fla.

State police and federal agents said Napier was wanted for a series of offenses, including murder.

The story developed late Sunday night when Guy Holmes called the Rockford state police post from his home in Wyoming, a suburb of Grand Rapids, Mich., to report that his wife, Rita, 33, unsuspectingly was in the company of a desperate criminal fugitive.

Holmes said his wife, expecting her sixth child within six weeks, had flown to Cincinnati Saturday to get his car which was left there for repairs. It had become disabled while he was at a funeral.

"She called today and said she was driving the car back but she didn't say who she was with," Holmes added. "A little while later, my mother called from Cincinnati to say that she had learned my first cousin—Eugene Napier—was with my wife and apparently wanted for a whole string of crimes."

Columbus Meeting Set

OSU Alumni Study Curb On Fullen In Bowl Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Alumni in a dozen Ohio counties are gathering support for an organized move to curb the activities of Ohio State University Alumni Secretary John B. (Jack) Fullen.

Fullen has been the controversial focal point on issues concerning Rose Bowl participation by the Ohio State football team. He is a long-time opponent of post season games.

Twenty - four alumni, including several life members of the university association, met Saturday in Columbus to organize the Alumni Committee for the Advancement of Ohio State University. Jack Cole of Dayton is serving as temporary chairman.

During the three-hour session, several alumni voiced opposition to Fullen's use of the alumni magazine, Ohio State University Monthly, to air his own opinions in the name of all alumni.

George Cole of Springfield told the conclave: "I'm tired of getting the 'needle' from others on articles in the Monthly. Jack Fullen is a good secretary, but I object to having my views presented through his mouth. He has no right to speak for me since I don't agree with him."

Fullen had no comment on the committee's organizing nor its intentions.

William Long of Middletown, a member of the Butler County chapter of the alumni organization, asked "How can we be loyal to the university without being loyal to Jack Fullen?"

Lucas County Association President Edward C. Kern of Toledo told of a survey of his county's membership wherein 25 per cent voiced opposition to Fullen, 25 per cent said they agreed with his ideas and 50 per cent said they would be for Fullen if he stopped feuding with Woody Hayes, the football coach.

The Fullen-Hayes battle began after the university's Faculty Council prevented Ohio State from accepting the Rose Bowl bid. Hayes accused Fullen of having used undue influence over the council and named him the man solely responsible for the council's action.

Although several at the meeting called for Fullen's ouster as alumni secretary, Kern cautioned the group to think carefully.

"Woody put us out on a limb by saying he was going to get Fullen fired," Kern said. "Our real thought has to be of advancing the university."

Dick Fredericks, president of the Allen County chapter, said his group had passed a resolution asking that the alumni secretary "refrain from meddling" in the policies of the university. "The feeling is high in Allen County against Fullen," he said.

"We no longer feel that Jack Fullen represents us and we're tired of defending what he has to say."

The group is scheduled to meet Jan. 13 in Columbus. At that time they hope to approve a statement of objectives being written by a subcommittee.

Radio Blamed In Fire At Virginia Ave. Home

Extensive smoke and heat damage resulted from a fire Saturday afternoon in an East End home, firemen reported.

Firemen said the blaze at the home of Cain Clapp, 515 Virginia Ave., apparently was caused by a radio left on an overstuffed chair. The alarm was received at 1:35 p. m.

The fuse box also was overfused, with a 30-ampere fuse being used, firemen added.

The department was called to the Crable Auditing Co. office on Broadway at 12:59 p. m. when a short circuit developed in an electrical fixture. There was slight damage to the ceiling, they said.

Police Nab 2 In Eastlake

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Two men accused by police of taking a Canton youth's car and robbing him were arrested Sunday after police from five cities in western Lake County trapped them on the roof of an Eastlake shopping center.

The two threw down their guns and surrendered, although earlier they had grabbed an Eastlake policeman and used him as a shield.

Arrested and turned over to Canton authorities were Jerry L. Keith, 19, of Dover and Melvin L. Gochneaur, 24, of Canton.

Capt. P. J. Slutz, chief of Canton detectives, said the pair forced Robert Catazaro, 19, of Canton to drive them from Canton to Ravenna Saturday night. They approached Catazaro in the American Legion parking lot at Canton, Slutz said, held a gun to his ribs and ordered him to drive the car.

At Ravenna, the pair took Catazaro's wallet containing $6 and put him out of the car, police said.

Keith and Gochneaur were sitting in Catazaro's car behind the Morgan Shopping Center in Eastlake when two Eastlake policemen spotted them early Sunday.

Blocking the car with their cruiser, patrolman John Angus and Sgt. Eugene Sidlow ordered the men out of the vehicle. Angus said he started to search Keith when the latter grabbed him as a shield and held a gun to his side.

"Nobody make a move, or there is going to be a dead cop," Angus quoted Keith as saying.

Angus shouted to Sidlow to run and get help. Sidlow, who had his gun out but did not shoot for fear of hitting his partner, stopped a motorist, who called Willoughby police.

In the meantime, the two took Angus' service revolver and told him to run.

Sheriff's deputies and police from Willoughby, Eastlake, Wickliffe, Willowick and Mentor-on-the-Lake rushed to the shopping center where they found Keith and Gochneaur on a roof.

Yule Lights Send Greeting Across Berlin's Barrier

BERLIN (AP) — Thousands of Christmas tree lights went on at dusk Sunday along Berlin's Red wall, carrying the greetings of West Berliners to countrymen in the Communist East. The Communists replied over their loudspeakers with propaganda and jazz music.

Mayor Willy Brandt symbolically switched on the lights in a moonlit ceremony as a Communist loudspeaker blared in the background.

More than 3,000 West Berliners braved near-zero cold to hear Brandt say, "We need make no demonstrations. The light of these trees will speak our greetings to our countrymen."

More than 800 evergreens placed along the 25-mile barrier of concrete and barbed wire through the city were lighted at twilight. Almost no part of the border was out of sight of at least one.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average three to six degrees below normal. Normal high 35-39, normal low 19-25. Colder Tuesday night and Wednesday, a little warmer by Friday, colder Saturday. Precipitation will average one-half to three-fourths of an inch in occasional rain tonight and Tuesday and occasional periods of snow during the remainder of the week.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband belongs to a gourmet club. They meet every two weeks for a late supper (men only) to study the preparation of food.

For several months now Paul has been coming home from these meetings after midnight. The meeting last night didn't end until 4 a.m., he said.

I asked him this morning what in the world kept him out so late and he said it takes time to prepare fine food. Last night's specialty was a Finnish dish — marinated trout. Paul claims it takes five hours of careful watching to prepare this dish because the trout must be turned every 15 minutes.

Naturally the fellows have a little drink every time they turn the trout. You can imagine the condition Paul was in when he got home. What does this sound like to you?—GOURMET'S WIFE.

Dear Wife: It sounds like the trout wasn't the only thing that got marinated.

Paul is overworking the gourmet routine. True, it takes time to prepare fine food, but it seems these gourmets could work on dishes that would get them home by midnight.

When the club starts to put up pickles tell Paul he'll have to skip that meeting. Pickles take at least two weeks.

A Wreck At 13

Dear Ann: I'm 13 years old and turning into a nervous wreck.

My little brother is 6. He can get anything he wants from Mom if he nags her long enough. When she says "no" he just keeps at her until she changes her answer. I have to give in to him all the time. He screams and kicks until my mother orders me to give in, because she can't stand the noise.

The other evening I had some girl friends over and we were watching a TV show. He kept changing the channel. I finally told him to keep his hands off the set or leave the room. He called my mother and threw such a fit that she made me change the channel to the show he wanted. I was humiliated to death in front of my guests.

What advice can yo give me? —SISTER.

Dear Sister: It's your mother who needs the advice. That son of hers is going to develop into a thoroughly obnoxious adult, totally unequipped to get along with the world, if your mother doesn't clamp down and teach him to respect the rights and privileges of others.

And she is being unfair to you. I hope you will show your mother this column. If she would like details, ask her to write to me.

Time Will Tell

Dear Ann: Since you are forever harping on the subject of a separate roof for every family I'd like to let you know that it can work. Listen to this:

My husband passed away three months ago. My children decided I should not be alone. My home is on three acres of land. I have seven bedrooms, a cook, a housekeeper and a maid. My son and his family (three children) are moving in with me next week. My daughter, her husband their two children are moving into the annex as soon as it is completed.

We are all looking forward to living together with great pleasure. Everyone is thrilled. So you see you can be wrong. — MOTHER.

Dear Mother: Write to me a year from today and tell me if everyone is still thrilled.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed, envelope.

2 Winners Campaign For Election In Texas

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Democrat Graham B. Purcell, top vote-getter in Saturday's special election to fill the 13th District post in the U.S. House, begins campaigning anew today.

So does Republican Joe Bailey Meissner, who will face Purcell in a runoff election to be held sometime between Jan. 22 and Feb. 6. Gov. Price Daniel will set the date.

Tabulation of all but about 120 votes showed Purcell with 8,935 votes to Meissner's 6,704. Three others were eliminated.

The House seat was vacated by Democrat Frank Ikard, who resigned to become executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute.

Both Purcell, 42, and Meissner, 36, said they welcome a clear cut Democratic-Republican choice for the voters in the runoff.

Ohio Scholar Picked

CHICAGO (AP) — Jeffrey E. Sicha, 21, of Independence, Ohio, a philosophy major at Oberlin College, has been selected to study in England under a Rhodes scholarship. Sicha is attending Oberlin on a national merit scholarship.

Cleveland Boy Posts Top Ohio Test Score

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jonathan H. Sunshine of Cleveland Heights and Nancy L. Sisson of Sylvania are the top scorers in the general scholarship test given last month to some 23,000 Ohio high school seniors.

State School Supt. E. E. Holt announced Sunday that Sunshine had the highest scorer among the boys, 254 of a possible 300, while Miss Sisson was highest among the girls with 233.

He said test results will be sent to any college or university at the request of the student tested. Holt claims that college grade averages can be predicted with this test as accurately as through any other national testing programs.

The top boys and girls, with their scores and schools, include: H. Pitcher Wayne, Portsmouth, 237; Jeanne M. Mallett, Port Clinton, 229; Judith N. Strommer, Bellevue, 213; Carol B. Schroder, Oberlin, 212, and Lynn A. Woodford, Port Clinton, 212.

Buses Roll In Dayton After 32-Day Walkout

DAYTON (AP)—For the first working day in more than a month, Daytonians could avail themselves of buses to and from their jobs today.

A 32-day strike by nearly 375 City Transit Co. bus drivers and mechanics came to an end Saturday with the ratification of a new contract. Bus service was fully restored by mid-afternoon that same day.

The new pact provides wage increases totaling 17 cents an hour over the length of the 29-month agreement. Drivers formerly made $2.30 an hour.

Holiday Rest Set For Wife Of President

The First Lady reportedly was fatigued from the hectic pace of the 6,300-mile trip to Latin America. She had kept up a steady pace for some 18 hours on the Colombia leg of the presidential trip. The day before in Caracas it was 16 hours.

Mrs. Kennedy gathered crowds of many thousands as she went to visit a charity children's hospital. Men, women and children, some of whom had waited for hours, turned out to catch a glimpse of her.

The crowds in Bogota shouted "Look! Look!" and "What a beauty!" as they caught sight of the 32-year-old First Lady of the United States in a gay yellow wool suit and matching straw hat.

She and the President shook hands with some 400 guests at an evening reception in their honor at San Carlos Palace, the historic 16th century residence of Colombia's President Alberto Lleras Camargo.

Mrs. Kennedy, who is fond of antiques, told Latin Americans she has long admired their culture.

Twice she used Spanish in public talks and won delighted applause.

'Coil' System Erases Snow

CHICAGO — Businessmen have found that the hydronic (circulating water) system of melting snow and ice is the easiest, best and usually most inexpensive way to beat this ravage of winter.

It quickly clears slick and dangerous sidewalks, streets, loading areas — any place where people and vehicles are slowed down and otherwise inconvenienced by ice, snow and slush.

The system is simply a network of coils imbedded in concrete or asphalt through which a heated water and anti-freeze solution is circulated to warm the surface above.

It operates very much like the radiant panel heating systems found in so many of today's modern homes, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau points out.

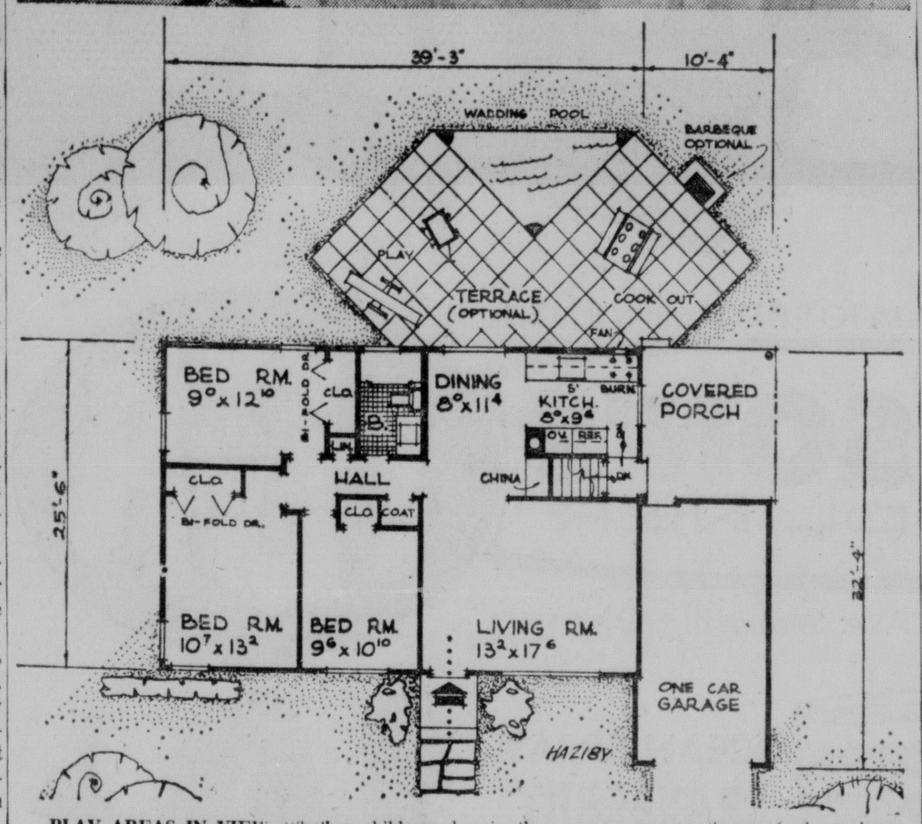
Many stores, hotels, restaurants and theaters have found, for one thing, that installation of this unique snow-melting system decreases labor costs. It eliminates the need for snowplows, corrosive chemicals and manual effort. More savings are found in drastically reduced cleaning costs for carpets and floors just inside main doors.

The greatest benefit, though, is increased business, as a clean, dry store front area invariably attracts customers. The convenience, good will and publicity it brings more than offset the nominal installation and operation costs.

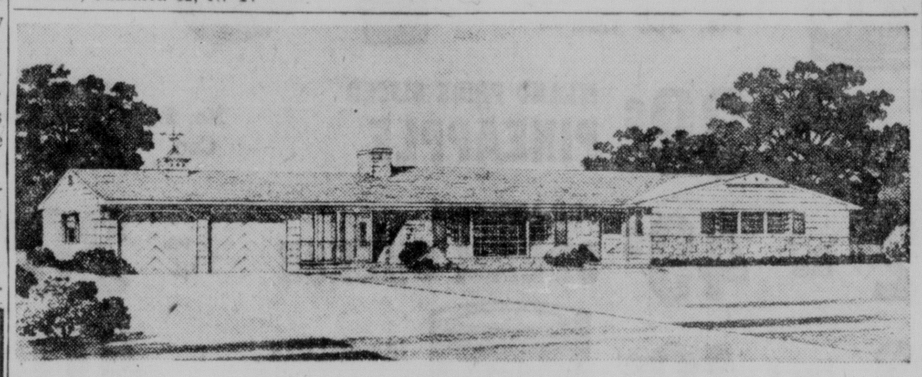
Service stations, hospitals and transportation terminals are likewise benefited by this service to their customers, not to mention the greatly reduced risk of accidents from slipping on an icy walkway.

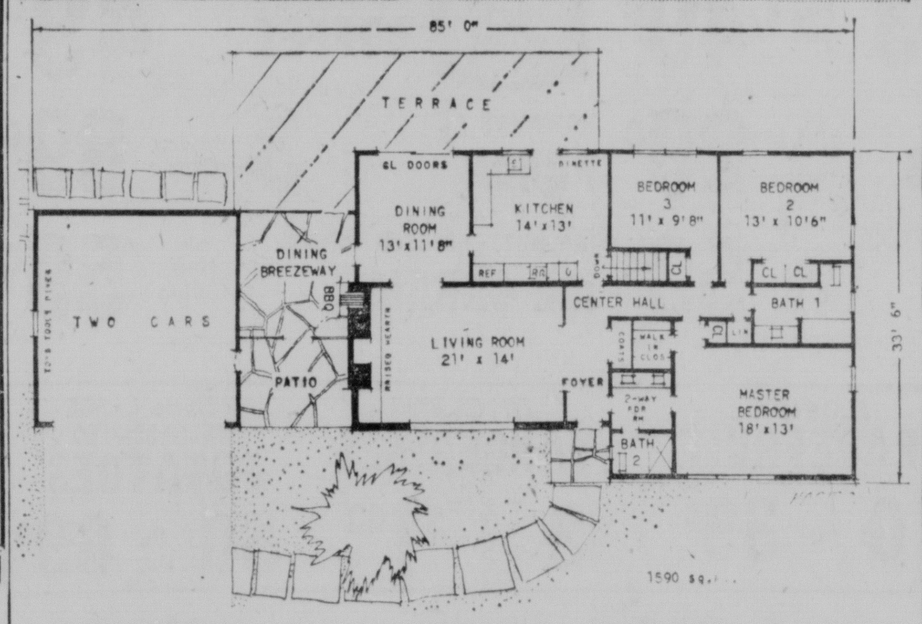
Businesses and industries of all kinds can enjoy the economic necessity of having loading areas and delivery ramps ice - free for traffic.

City, county and state governments have installed hydronic snow-melting systems on many potentially dangerous hills and curves to reduce driving hazards.



PLAY AREAS IN VIEW. Whether children play in the dining area, on the covered porch or outside on the terrace, they can be watched from the kitchen of this ranch house. The porch can be screened for summer dining; the bathroom is centrally located and convenient to all three bedrooms; cellar steps are accessible without walking through any habitable area; square footage is 1002, plus a 200 square-foot garage. House plan HA218Y is by architect Herman H. York. 90-04 161St., Jamaica 32, N. Y.





FAMILY RANCH. A dining breezeway and enclosed patio on one side and a terrace at the back extend the facilities of this lovely three-bedroom ranch house that has 1590 square feet of living space. Architect Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y., designed HA217C for for family comfort and convenience.

Officers Cite Young Driver In City Crash

An 18-year-old Wellsville driver was cited by police after a two-way crash Saturday at 3:45 p. m. on W. 8th St. at Oak Ln.

James K. Glitsch, 702 Aten Ave., was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his 1954 model station wagon hit the rear of another halted station wagon operated by Howard W. Gill, 36, of 940 Fairview St.

Gill told police he was halted in a traffic lane, waiting for oncoming autos to clear before making a turn from W. 8th St. into Oak Ln., when his vehicle was hit from the rear by the Glitsch auto.

Glitsch told police he applied the brakes, but they did not hold properly and his car skidded into the rear of Gill's. He estimated his speed at 40 miles an hour. The Glitsch vehicle skidded 60 feet, police said.

Glitsch forfeited a $32.50 bond this morning in Municipal Court.

Two cars were damaged in another mishap Sunday at 1 p. m. in the 700 block of the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.," police said.

A 1960 four-door sedan driven by Paul E. Carter, 34, of 610 Walnut St. hit the rear of a 1957 two-door sedan operated by Norma K. Cornman, 34, of Dixonville, officers said.

Both cars were westbound. Carter said his attention was distracted when his young daughter toppled from the seat and he attempted to catch her, causing his car to hit the rear of the Cornman auto, which was turning into a driveway.

There was damage to the entire left side of the Carter auto and the right rear of the Cornman car, police said.

A mishap at Jefferson and W. 6th Sts. Sunday at 1 a. m. damaged cars driven by Dorothy M. Adams, 38, of 507 Elm St. and Lester McClure, 252 Baum St., officers said. The woman driver said she was halted for a red traffic signal when her auto was struck in the rear.

It's Not Hard To Make Pair Of New Steps

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY
Written For Superior Features

As many suburban and country home owners know, wood steps have a habit of rotting away in spite of seasonal painting and general upkeep. To have them replaced is an expensive job.

In 90 out of 100 cases the rotting of the steps is caused by the fact that when the steps were built they were not painted on the underside where dampness is nearly always present. It is more important to paint the underside than it is to paint the top of the steps. Sun and wind get at the top and dry it.

The thing that makes step replacement an easy job for the amateur repairman is that he has a perfect pattern to follow in the old steps.

There is no estimating to be done regarding the number of steps, the slope of the carriage, or the height of the risers. It is all there in the old steps, which can be pried apart and new lumber cut to exactly the same measurements. A very simple operation.

After the new lumber has been cut, the first step is to paint each piece separately and thoroughly with heavy, outdoor paint. It is particularly important to paint the butts or ends which are freshly sawed. When this coat has dried, a second coat should be applied to the surfaces which will be on the underside.

In cases where the bottom of the steps rested upon posts sunk in the ground, the home owner may be surprised to find the posts solid and sound.

This will be because they are either locust or cypress posts. They can be used as they stand and probably will be good for another 50 years. If they are rotted away they should be pulled and replaced with cement blocks sunk to ground level as a footing for the sloping carriage.

Group At Newell Collects Food In Aid For Needy

A committee working to spread Christmas cheer to needy families of Newell collected about 18 bushel baskets of canned food in a house-to-house solicitation Saturday.

The Newell Lions Club and American Legion Post 114 will purchase other food to fill baskets for the needy. The food will be distributed Saturday.

Aiding in the solicitation were Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts. The Globe Brick Co. furnished a truck and another used is owned by William Gamble, co-chairman of the joint committee. The Newell fire truck also was pressed into service.

Gamble said 44 families have been tentatively scheduled to receive the food baskets. The names will be screened, he said. Albert Logston is co-chairman.

Home Insulation Tips Are Offered

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We expect to have a house built to order within a few months and have decided we would like to have electric heating.

We understand that our heating expense can be reduced considerably with the use of insulation. We would like to use mineral wool insulation. Can you tell us something about this in connection with electric heating?

Answer: First of all, any kind of insulation can cut down heating expenses, no matter how the house is heated.

For your specific problem, from 4 to 6 inches of mineral wool should be used in the ceilings and roof. Three-inch batts or blankets are recommended for the walls, with 2-or-3-inch batts or blankets underneath the floors. If the house is to have concrete slab floors, then what is known as perimeter insulation is necessary.

All this is merely for your information, since the final decision on how much insulation should be used is something that should be determined by your contractor or architect once you explain to him that you expect your new home to be insulated properly. The chances are that, even if you did not mention it, such insulation would be recommended and provided.

U.S. Fires 7th Blast Of New Atomic Series

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has announced its seventh underground nuclear explosion since the United States began its current series of tests.

The detonation Sunday was carried out at the AEC's Nevada test site and was described as a low yield blast. This would indicate a force equivalent of up to 5 000 tons of TNT.

Columbus Meeting Set

OSU Alumni Study Curb On Fullen In Bowl Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Alumni in a dozen Ohio counties are gathering support for an organized move to curb the activities of Ohio State University Alumni Secretary John B. (Jack) Fullen.

Fullen has been the controversial focal point on issues concerning Rose Bowl participation by the Ohio State football team. He is a long-time opponent of post season games.

Twenty - four alumni, including several life members of the university association, met Saturday in Columbus to organize the Alumni Committee for the Advancement of Ohio State University. Jack Cole of Dayton is serving as temporary chairman.

During the three-hour session, several alumni voiced opposition to Fullen's use of the alumni magazine, Ohio State University Monthly, to air his own opinions in the name of all alumni.

George Cole of Springfield told the conclave: "I'm tired of getting the 'needle' from others on articles in the Monthly. Jack Fullen is a good secretary, but I object to having my views presented through his mouth. He has no right to speak for me since I don't agree with him."

Fullen had no comment on the committee's organizing nor its intentions.

William Long of Middletown, a member of the Butler County chapter of the alumni organization, asked "How can we be loyal to the university without being loyal to Jack Fullen?"

Lucas County Association President Edward C. Kern of Toledo told of a survey of his county's membership wherein 25 per cent voiced opposition to Fullen, 25 per cent said they agreed with his ideas and 50 per cent said they would be for Fullen if he stopped feuding with Woody Hayes, the football coach.

The Fullen-Hayes battle began after the university's Faculty Council prevented Ohio State from accepting the Rose Bowl bid. Hayes accused Fullen of having used undue influence over the council and named him the man solely responsible for the council's action.

Although several at the meeting called for Fullen's ouster as alumni secretary, Kern cautioned the group to think carefully.

"Woody put us out on a limb by saying he was going to get Fullen fired," Kern said. "Our real thought has to be of advancing the university."

Dick Fredericks, president of the Allen County chapter, said his group had passed a resolution asking that the alumni secretary "refrain from meddling" in the policies of the university. "The feeling is high in Allen County against Fullen," he said.

"We no longer feel that Jack Fullen represents us and we're tired of defending what he has to say."

The group is scheduled to meet Jan. 13 in Columbus. At that time they hope to approve a statement of objectives being written by a subcommittee.

Radio Blamed In Fire At Virginia Ave. Home

Extensive smoke and heat damage resulted from a fire Saturday afternoon in an East End home, firemen reported.

Firemen said the blaze at the home of Cain Clapp, 515 Virginia Ave., apparently was caused by a radio left on an overstuffed chair. The alarm was received at 1:35 p. m.

The fuse box also was overfused, with a 30-ampere fuse being used, firemen added.

The department was called to the Crable Auditing Co. office on Broadway at 12:59 p. m. when a short circuit developed in an electrical fixture. There was slight damage to the ceiling, they said.

Police Nab 2 In Eastlake

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Two men accused by police of taking a Canton youth's car and robbing him were arrested Sunday after police from five cities in western Lake County trapped them on the roof of an Eastlake shopping center.

The two threw down their guns and surrendered, although earlier they had grabbed an Eastlake policeman and used him as a shield.

Arrested and turned over to Canton authorities were Jerry L. Keith, 19, of Dover and Melvin L. Gochneaur, 24, of Canton.

Capt. P. J. Slutz, chief of Canton detectives, said the pair forced Robert Catazaro, 19, of Canton to drive them from Canton to Ravenna Saturday night. They approached Catazaro in the American Legion parking lot at Canton, Slutz said, held a gun to his ribs and ordered him to drive the car.

At Ravenna, the pair took Catazaro's wallet containing $6 and put him out of the car, police said.

Keith and Gochneaur were sitting in Catazaro's car behind the Morgan Shopping Center in Eastlake when two Eastlake policemen spotted them early Sunday.

Blocking the car with their cruiser, patrolman John Angus and Sgt. Eugene Sidlow ordered the men out of the vehicle. Angus said he started to search Keith when the latter grabbed him as a shield and held a gun to his side.

"Nobody make a move, or there is going to be a dead cop," Angus quoted Keith as saying.

Angus shouted to Sidlow to run and get help. Sidlow, who had his gun out but did not shoot for fear of hitting his partner, stopped a motorist, who called Willoughby police.

In the meantime, the two took Angus' service revolver and told him to run.

Yule Lights Send Greeting Across Berlin's Barrier

BERLIN (AP) — Thousands of Christmas tree lights went on at dusk Sunday along Berlin's Red wall, carrying the greetings of West Berliners to countrymen in the Communist East. The Communists replied over their loudspeakers with propaganda and jazz music.

Mayor Willy Brandt symbolically switched on the lights in a moonlit ceremony as a Communist loudspeaker blared in the background.

More than 3,000 West Berliners braved near-zero cold to hear Brandt say, "We need make no demonstrations. The light of these trees will speak our greetings to our countrymen."

More than 800 evergreens placed along the 25-mile barrier of concrete and barbed wire through the city were lighted at twilight. Almost no part of the border was out of sight of at least one.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average three to six degrees below normal. Normal high 35-39, normal low 19-25. Colder Tuesday night and Wednesday, a little warmer by Friday, colder Saturday. Precipitation will average one-half to three-fourths of an inch in occasional rain tonight and Tuesday and occasional periods of snow during the remainder of the week.

Painting Tips For Holidays

NEW YORK — Painting ranks high on the pre-holiday preparation list.

Just about everyone can — and does — paint, so just about everyone can — and will — benefit from a brief review of general painting information, starting with the:

Ceiling: Patch cracks if and where necessary and let dry hard —at least two days before painting. If you use a latex paint, first paint a margin around the entire ceiling where it meets the walls. Then paint across the width of the ceiling. Apply paint in strips about two feet wide. Work from a dry area into a wet area. If you use an alkyd paint, don't paint margin around the ceiling. Applying paint in 2-foot-wide strips, use a piece of cardboard as a guard around the walls.

Walls: Dust and fill wher necessary. An easy method is to begin on the upper right hand corner and work toward the left. Paint downward, covering an area of about two feet at a time. Here too, work from a dry area into a wet area.

Woodwork: Remove any smudges with soap and water. If you're using the same paint on the woodwork as you used on the walls, you can start painting this area while the walls are still wet. However, if you're using a different paint or enamel on woodwork, wait until the walls are dry before you paint.

Doors: Clean. Then begin with the panels. Next, paint the center rail, then the top and bottom rails, and finaly the vertical stiles and edges. If it's a flush door, begin in upper right hand corner, working toward the left and painting from a dry area into a wet one.

Windows: Professional painters use a special method which can be modified for do-it-yourselfers. But first be sure windows are clean and all loose or peeling paint is removed. Prime bare wood spots with enamel undercoat. On metal windows, remove any rust and prime bare metal spots with enamel undercoat. On metal windows, remove any rust and prime bare metal spots with a good metal primer. Protect glass with masking tape or use a metal shield as you paint.

Raise the bottom sash and lower the top sash so there are a few inches clearance at each end. Paint bottom sash first, covering as many areas as possible, but do not paint its bottom horizontal. This must be left unpainted until later.

Now begin painting the top sash. Here again, paint everything possible, with the exception of its top horizontal. Now, take hold of the unpainted bottom horizontal of lower sash and move to normal position. Raise upper sash, by pushing its unpainted top horizontal. Leave a slight space between sash and window opening. Paint unfinished parts of upper and lower sashes.

Floors: The tough floor enamels, available in decorator colors and natural wood tones, are handsome camouflage for worn softwood floors and worn linoleum, too. Painting technique? Just don't paint yourself into a corner. But if you do, rest easy. Modern quality paints dry in a couple of hours.

Area Man Participate In Military Exercises

Two East Liverpool and Irondale soldiers recently participated in Exercise Brandywine, a field training maneuver involving 26,000 troops in Germany.

They are Sp. 4 Fred D. Gaines, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gaines of Route 2, and Sgt. 1C Neal D. Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver D. Walters of Irondale Route 1.

Gaines, a bridge specialist in the 37th Engineer Group, entered the Army in November 1959. He completed basic training at Ft. Hood, Tex., and was sent overseas in April 1960. Before entering the Army, he was employed at Riverview Florists.

Walters, a platoon sergeant in the 26th Artillery, entered the Army in 1943 and arrived overseas in August 1958. His wife, Lott, is with him in Germany.

Cleveland Wife Slays Mate After Argument

CLEVELAND (AP)—A domestic quarrel ended in the death of Windrell Marshall, 52, who was shot eight times, police said.

Marshall's wife, Allien, 52, admitted emptying a .22-caliber revolver at her husband during a fight in their East Side home Sunday, police said.

Chemist Claimed

NEW YORK (AP)—Max Mayer, 81, German-born inventor of chemical processes and retired consultant for several chemical firms, died Saturday of a heart attack.

James Chadwick of the Cavendish Laboratory in Cambridge discovered the neutron in 1932.

Construction is progressing on the new $1,533,795 Western Beaver County Junior - Senior High School in Industry and doors are expected to be opened for students next September.

Shown is the front of the main building near one end with workmen on the roof above the cafeteria and auditorium area.

The wing at the right will house the gymnasium and industrial arts department. Walls have been erected, cement floors poured and roof and plumbing installed. Window openings have been covered with plastic, since a glass strike is holding up window installation.

The new building, which is also known as the "Burgett Building," is about 454 feet long and 324 feet wide. It will contain 15 regular classrooms besides a library, gymnasium, cafeteria - auditorium combination, offices and other rooms. It will accommodate 713 pupils.

Groundbreaking for the new school was held last April 15. It is located on the Fairview-Ohio View Rd. across from the new Ray W. Snyder elementary school, which was dedicated in August of 1960.

Louisiana Awaits Hot Ballot Battle

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—One of the hottest two-party political fights in Louisiana in years winds up Tuesday when the 4th District elects its new congressman.

A larger-than-normal absentee vote in the largest of the northwest Louisiana district's seven parishes indicated high interest in the election between Democrat Joe D. Waggonner and Republican Charlton H. Lyons Sr.

Waggonner, 43, of Plain Dealing, a member of the State Board of Education, remained a strong favorite to succeed the late Rep. Overtoon Brooks despite the vigorous campaign by Lyons, 67, Shreveport oilman.

The district has not elected a Republican since 1873.

Both candidates are segregationists and extreme conservatives. Their platforms are similar.

An indication of the degree of Lyons' uphill struggle is in the district's registration figures. About 97 per cent of the 95,221 registered voters are Democrats.

The Republican presidential ticket, with more than 40 per cent of the vote, led both the States Rights party's unpledged electors (including Waggonner) and the Democrats in the 1960 election.

At the same time, however, Brooks defeated Republican Fred McClanahan 48,286-16,827. Brooks died Sept. 16.

Ohio Municipal Group Gives Post To Mayor

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet has been named to the Board of Trustees of the Ohio Municipal League, an organization which represents 514 cities and villages throughout the state.

Mayor Goodballet will represent District 4, which includes Columbiana, Lake, Ashtabula, Geauga, Trumbull, Portage and Mahoning Counties.

The league's new president is Grant T. Apthrop, finance director of East Cleveland. The league maintains headquarters in Columbus.

Here's A Report On New Products

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

What's new on the market?

The product — A line of wood fiber acoustical ceiling tiles with special qualities.

The manufacturer's claim—That these tiles have flame spread ratings comparable to non - combustible mineral tiles, due to a scientific process which impregnates every wood fiber with fireproofing chemicals.

The product — A kit which contains all the hardware required to build a 32-inch-square tool or all-purpose cabinet.

The manufacturer's claim — That, in addition to plans for the construction of a cabinet 32 inches by 32 inches and 8 inches deep, the kit contains, among its hardware, a set of four exclusive corner brackets that eliminate all mitering and dadoing.

THE PRODUCT — Dimensional carved panels which can be used for walls, folding doors, room dividers, shutters, carports, etc.

The manufacturer's claim — That a high-speed carving process give the wood the appearance of hand-sculptured grille work and that it also can be obtained in a variety of hardboards.

The product: An electronic instrument which permits music to flow out of every hot air register in a home.

The manufacturer's claim: That this instrument, mounted directly on the sheet metal chamber or duct above the hot air furnace and then connected to a hi-fi fidelity amplifier, radio or TV set, will transmit music evenly throughout the house without distortion.

The product: A new instant spray satin varnish.

The manufacturer's claim: That this varnish has a simulated hand-rubbed effect and, because of a polyurethane base, will resist household staining or spotting, even by alcohol, citrus juices and grease.

—:—

THE PRODUCT: A kit for making ceramic tile and similar repairs.

The manufacturer's claim: That this kit, which contains a grout mix, mortar box, trowel and mixer-edger, can be used for applying a mixture which dries to a white, rock-hard finish that resembles porcelain and therefore is especially useful in the bathroom.

Final Act Played In 'Penny Opera' After Record Run

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Threepenny Opera" is over.

Off-Broadway's long-run champ rang down the final curtain Sunday night after 2,612 performances. It closed with a sigh, a few tears and the pop of champagne corks.

The play, which made "Mack the Knife" a latter-day hit, had more performances than Broadway's current long-run champ, "My Fair Lady." The Lerner-Loewe musical, which opened in 1956 and is still running, had the benefit, however, of a much larger house.

The all-time Broadway long-run king is "Life With Father," which closed after 3,213 performances.

An overflow audience packed the 199-seat Theater de Lys in Greenwich Village for a quietly sentimental farewell.

Afterwards, cast and friends gathered on the stage for farewell toasts to the show that played to 750,000 spectators and grossed $3 million.

Integrationist Slated In Rally At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. was scheduled to address a freedom rally at Zion Baptist Church tonight.

The integrationist leader was arrested Saturday during mass demonstrations at Albany, Ga., but Baptist ministers here said King's secretary told them he expected to be freed in time to make the scheduled speech.

Professor, 44, Dies

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Private services will be held Tuesday for Robert T. Kretchmar, professor of physical education at Oberlin College, who died Sunday. He was 44.

Fire Aide Warns On Tree Hazards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Fire Marshal's Office has issued its annual warning about preventing Christmas tree fires.

"Although there is no positive method for flame-proofing trees, there are precautions that families can take to render them less susceptible to flames," Fire Marshal Wilson McLaughlin warned.

They are:

1. Purchase a tree that is freshly cut. To test this, bounce butt of tree hard on the ground. If needles shower down, tree is dry and not fresh.
2. Stand tree in water or snow until ready to use it indoors.
3. Just before setting up the tree, saw off trunk at an angle at least one inch above original cut.
4. Stand tree in water, making sure it is well supported to prevent it from being knocked over.
5. Keep tree away from sources of heat (fireplaces, radiators, hot air registers, etc.).

New York Police Hold Little Girl's Yule List

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're the little girl who lost a beige change purse in a midtown Manhattan five-and-ten cent store, here's your Christmas list:

Pappa, shaving cream.
Daddy, shaving cream.
Mamma, hanki.
Grandma, hanki.
Brother, lead pencil.
Mommy, another.

The purse also contained three $1 bills, a nickel and three pennies.

Police of the West 30th Street station are holding the purse, hoping the little girl will come and claim it. They don't want pappa, daddy, mamma, grandma, brother and mommy to have to do without their Christmas gifts.

Firebug Sets 5 More Blazes At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Michael J. Melillo, state arson investigator, says Youngstown "is faced with a dangerous situation and heavy financial loss" unless authorities capture a firebug who has been active the last two weekends.

Five places were hit on the South Side Saturday night. Damage to buildings and cars was estimated at $5,000. This is the same area where eight automobiles were set afire Dec. 9.

Mediators Join Talks In Long Elyria Strike

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—A three-man team of mediators today tackles the deadlocked negotiations between the Bendix-Westinghouse Automotive Air Brake Co. and United Auto Workers Local 971 in an effort to end a 38-day strike.

James L. MacPherson, regional director of the federal Mediation Service, took the unusual step Sunday of naming two additional mediators from the Cleveland office to work with mediator Clair Willmeth, who has been in on negotiations to date.

Other mediators assigned were George R. Harris and Gilbert Seldin.

Issues include production standards, rates for certain jobs and health and safety measures.

Quakers Drop 1st To Akron Club, 53-49

SALEM — Akron Central staved off a fourth - quarter bid by Salem to hand the Quakers their first loss in two games, 53-49.

The strong Akron club, which put on a dazzling shooting exhibition to win an Akron City League contest the night before, grabbed a 20-13 lead at the first quarter then held the same margin, 33-26 at halftime.

Coach John Cabas' Quakers perked up and came within two points at the third quarter pole, 45-43, but failed to get ahead of the invaders.

Larry Davidson paced the Central charge with 18 points while Ted Thorne's 13 markers were high for Salem.

Salem's reserves nipped Akron, 47-45.

Heaton's Late Foul Shot Is Difference

SEBRING — Hanging on the edge of its first defeat, Lee Heaton became the man of the hour to keep Crestview's winning streak in tact at six straight with a 48-47 victory over Sebring Saturday night.

With only five seconds remaining and the score knotted a 47-47, Heaton calmly converted a foul shot for the slim edge.

In addition to being the hero with the last shot Heaton, a 5-foot-8 junior, led the scoring for Coach Bruce Weber's team by dumping in 23 points.

Crestview led 40-33 going into the fourth quarter but Sebring put on a dazzling spurt that finally put the hometeam even at 47-47 before Heaton made his winning charity toss.

Jerry Billingsley paced the losers with 16 points.

Sebring turned the tables on Crestview in the reserve game by coming out on top, 40-39.

Holiday Rest Set For Wife Of President

The First Lady reportedly was fatigued from the hectic pace of the 6,300-mile trip to Latin America. She had kept up a steady pace for some 18 hours on the Colombia leg of the presidential trip. The day before in Caracas it was 16 hours.

Mrs. Kennedy gathered crowds of many thousands as she went to visit a charity children's hospital. Men, women and children, some of whom had waited for hours, turned out to catch a glimpse of her.

The crowds in Bogota shouted "Look! Look!" and "What a beauty!" as they caught sight of the 32-year-old First Lady of the United States in a gay yellow wool suit and matching straw hat.

She and the President shook hands with some 400 guests at an evening reception in their honor at San Carlos Palace, the historic 16th century residence of Colombia's President Alberto Lleras Camargo.

Mrs. Kennedy, who is fond of antiques, told Latin Americans she has long admired their culture.

Twice she used Spanish in public talks and won delighted applause.

'Coil' System Erases Snow

CHICAGO — Businessmen have found that the hydronic (circulating water) system of melting snow and ice is the easiest, best and usually most inexpensive way to beat this ravage of winter.

It quickly clears slick and dangerous sidewalks, streets, loading areas — any place where people and vehicles are slowed down and otherwise inconvenienced by ice, snow and slush.

The system is simply a network of coils imbedded in concrete or asphalt through which a heated water and anti-freeze solution is circulated to warm the surface above.

It operates very much like the radiant panel heating systems found in so many of today's modern homes, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau points out.

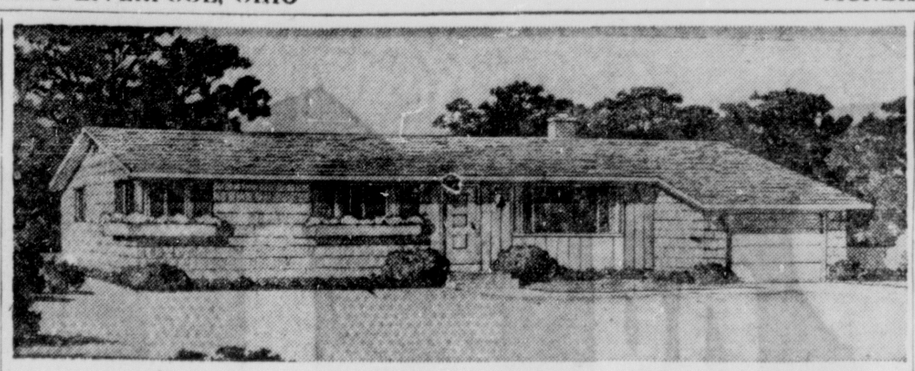
Many stores, hotels, restaurants and theaters have found, for one thing, that installation of this unique snow-melting system decreases labor costs. It eliminates the need for snowplows, corrosive chemicals and manual effort. More savings are found in drastically reduced cleaning costs for carpets and floors just inside main doors.

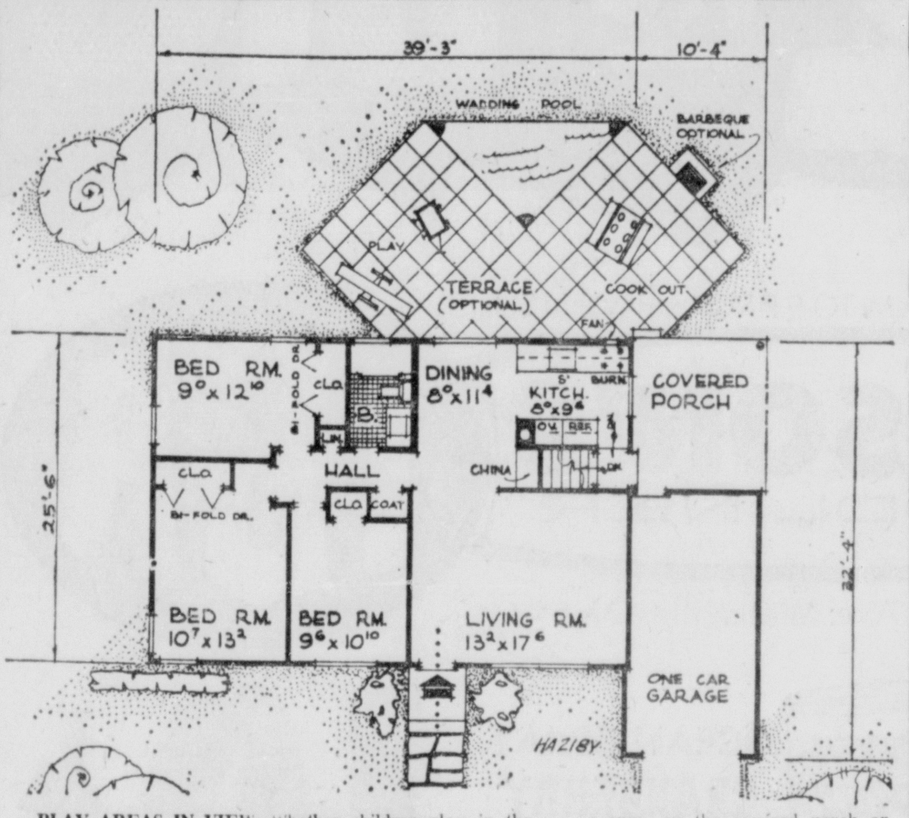
The greatest benefit, though, is increased business, as a clean, dry store front area invariably attracts customers. The convenience, good will and publicity it brings more than offset the nominal installation and operation costs.

Service stations, hospitals and transportation terminals are likewise benefited by this service to their customers, not to mention the greatly reduced risk of accidents from slipping on an icy walkway.

Businesses and industries of all kinds can enjoy the economic necessity of having loading areas and delivery ramps ice - free for traffic.

City, county and state governments have installed hydronic snow-melting systems on many potentially dangerous hills and curves to reduce driving hazards.





PLAY AREAS IN VIEW. Whether children play in the dining area, on the covered porch or outside on the terrace, they can be watched from the kitchen of this ranch house. The porch can be screened for summer dining; the bathroom is centrally located and convenient to all three bedrooms; cellar steps are accessible without walking through any habitable area; square footage is 1002, plus a 200 square-foot garage. Officers Cite Young Driver In City Crash

An 18-year-old Wellsville driver was cited by police after a two-way crash Saturday at 3:45 p. m. on W. 8th St. at Oak Ln.

James K. Glitsch, 702 Aten Ave., was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his 1954 model station wagon hit the rear of another halted station wagon operated by Howard W. Gill, 36, of 940 Fairview St.

Gill told police he was halted in a traffic lane, waiting for oncoming autos to clear before making a turn from W. 8th St. into Oak Ln., when his vehicle was hit from the rear by the Glitsch auto.

Glitsch told police he applied the brakes, but they did not hold properly and his car skidded into the rear of Gill's. He estimated his speed at 40 miles an hour. The Glitsch vehicle skidded 60 feet, police said.

Glitsch forfeited a $32.50 bond this morning in Municipal Court.

Two cars were damaged in another mishap Sunday at 1 p. m. in the 700 block of the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.," police said.

A 1960 four-door sedan driven by Paul E. Carter, 34, of 610 Walnut St. hit the rear of a 1957 two-door sedan operated by Norma K. Cornman, 34, of Dixonville, officers said.

Both cars were westbound. Carter said his attention was distracted when his young daughter toppled from the seat and he attempted to catch her, causing his car to hit the rear of the Cornman auto, which was turning into a driveway.

There was damage to the entire left side of the Carter auto and the right rear of the Cornman car, police said.

A mishap at Jefferson and W. 6th Sts. Sunday at 1 a. m. damaged cars driven by Dorothy M. Adams, 38, of 507 Elm St. and Lester McClure, 252 Baum St., officers said. The woman driver said she was halted for a red traffic signal when her auto was struck in the rear.

It's Not Hard To Make Pair Of New Steps

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY
Written For Superior Features

As many suburban and country home owners know, wood steps have a habit of rotting away in spite of seasonal painting and general upkeep. To have them replaced is an expensive job.

In 90 out of 100 cases the rotting of the steps is caused by the fact that when the steps were built they were not painted on the underside where dampness is nearly always present. It is more important to paint the underside than it is to paint the top of the steps. Sun and wind get at the top and dry it.

The thing that makes step replacement an easy job for the amateur repairman is that he has a perfect pattern to follow in the old steps.

There is no estimating to be done regarding the number of steps, the slope of the carriage, or the height of the risers. It is all there in the old steps, which can be pried apart and new lumber cut to exactly the same measurements. A very simple operation.

After the new lumber has been cut, the first step is to paint each piece separately and thoroughly with heavy, outdoor paint. It is particularly important to paint the butts or ends which are freshly sawed. When this coat has dried, a second coat should be applied to the surfaces which will be on the underside.

In cases where the bottom of the steps rested upon posts sunk in the ground, the home owner may be surprised to find the posts solid and sound.

This will be because they are either locust or cypress posts. They can be used as they stand and probably will be good for another 50 years. If they are rotted away they should be pulled and replaced with cement blocks sunk to ground level as a footing for the sloping carriage.

Group At Newell Collects Food In Aid For Needy

A committee working to spread Christmas cheer to needy families of Newell collected about 18 bushel baskets of canned food in a house-to-house solicitation Saturday.

The Newell Lions Club and American Legion Post 114 will purchase other food to fill baskets for the needy. The food will be distributed Saturday.

Aiding in the solicitation were Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts. The Globe Brick Co. furnished a truck and another used is owned by William Gamble, co-chairman of the joint committee. The Newell fire truck also was pressed into service.

Gamble said 44 families have been tentatively scheduled to receive the food baskets. The names will be screened, he said. Albert Logston is co-chairman.

Home Insulation Tips Are Offered

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We expect to have a house built to order within a few months and have decided we would like to have electric heating.

We understand that our heating expense can be reduced considerably with the use of insulation. We would like to use mineral wool insulation. Can you tell us something about this in connection with electric heating?

Answer: First of all, any kind of insulation can cut down heating expenses, no matter how the house is heated.

For your specific problem, from 4 to 6 inches of mineral wool should be used in the ceilings and roof. Three-inch batts or blankets are recommended for the walls, with 2-or-3-inch batts or blankets underneath the floors. If the house is to have concrete slab floors, then what is known as perimeter insulation is necessary.

All this is merely for your information, since the final decision on how much insulation should be used is something that should be determined by your contractor or architect once you explain to him that you expect your new home to be insulated properly. The chances are that, even if you did not mention it, such insulation would be recommended and provided.

U.S. Fires 7th Blast Of New Atomic Series

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has announced its seventh underground nuclear explosion since the United States began its current series of tests.

The detonation Sunday was carried out at the AEC's Nevada test site and was described as a low yield blast. This would indicate a force equivalent of up to 5 000 tons of TNT.

Oilers Should Win Title

What's This? Boston Whips Western AFL Champs, 41-0

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston's Oilers have won nine in a row and are champions of the American Football League's Eastern Division.

Sunday's results indicated that they could pretty well count on making it 10 in a row before winding up the 1961 season.

San Diego's Chargers don't look like they will offer much resistance when the clubs clash at San Diego next Sunday for the league championship.

Houston ran over Oakland 47-16 in a record-making day and this was expected but when San Diego was beaten 41-0 by Boston it caused league officials to blanch.

San Diego sewed up the Western Division championship long ago but was beaten by Houston 33-13. Since then the Chargers have looked about like Houston did before it took stock of itself, brought in a new coach and started off on a nine-game winning streak.

San Diego had some injuries but the Chargers never complained about them when they were roaring through 11 straight games—before meeting Houston. Definitely there's something wrong with the really fine team of a month ago.

Houston's George Blanda and Billy Cannon led the record-smashing parade Sunday. Blanda threw for four touchdowns, giving him 36 scoring passes for the season. That bettered the league record of 34 set last year by Frank Tripucka of Denver.

Cannon ran for 145 yards to capture the league rushing title with 948 yards and better the record of 875 yards set by Abner Haynes of Dallas last year.

The Boston-San Diego game also produced a record when Gino Cappelletti of Boston scored 37 points and that was 24 better than the 1960 record of Gene Mingo of Denver.

Dallas beat New York 35-24 in the other game on Sunday's closing schedule and there was a record in it, too. Dave Grayson of Dallas ran a pass interception back 99 yards for a touchdown, which was 19 yards farther than the record set by Dave Webster of Dallas last year.

Ex-Major Leaguer Ping Bodie Dies At 74

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ping Bodie, 74, one of major league baseball's colorful characters four decades ago, died Sunday.

Bodie was an American League outfielder for nine seasons, with the Chicago White Sox 1911-14, the Philadelphia Athletics in 1917, and the New York Yankees 1918-21. He was a roommate of Babe Ruth's while playing for the Yankees.

Bodie, a slugger of the dead ball era, was christened Francis Pezzalo. He derived his baseball name from the "ping" of his bat when it met the ball and a ghost mining town he once lived in, Bodie, Calif.

Bodie inspired Bugs Baer's line about an unsuccessful attempt to steal a base—"Ping had larceny in his heart, but his feet were honest"—and furnished material for Ring Lardner's famous baseball fiction series, "You Know Me, Al."

Saturday's Liberty Bowl May Be Last

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Syracuse beat Miami 15-14 Saturday in a crackling good Liberty Bowl football game, but apparently even top-flight performance is no match for bad weather.

Ambrose (Bud) Dudley, head of the bowl association, said that unless he gets financial help the third game Saturday could have been the last.

Dudley suggested that business and industry buy blocks of tickets as a means of preserving the game in Philadelphia. He indicated there was a possibility he might promote the game elsewhere.

Only 15,712 showed up for Saturday's Syracuse-Miami game played in sub-freezing temperatures. Even with the $100,000 television money contributed by the National Broadcasting Co., Dudley and his associates will have to absorb a sizeable loss.

The game was everything a football fan could desire with Ernie Davis, Syracuse's All-America halfback, putting on a great show. The 210-pound workhorse carried the ball 30 times for 140

52,000 See Kansas, Rice In Bluebonnet

HOUSTON (AP)—A final audit of the Bluebonnet Bowl's box office probably won't be finished for several weeks, but the bowl president said today he expects the figures to be black again.

Bob Abercrombie, president of the bowl association, said he anticipates a profit on Saturday's Rice-Kansas game. He said the three-year-old bowl has never lost money. Proceeds go to charity.

Kansas, a three-point underdog, put on a second half rush to stun Rice, 33-7, before 52,000 fans.

Kansas had a 6-3-1 record before the bowl game. Rice was 7-3 for the season.

List Of Unbeaten College Outfits To Be Shortened

By The Associated Press

This could be a week of decision for a host of collegiate basketball powers as they put imposing records on the line in an effort to separate the men from the boys.

The ranks of the unbeaten definitely will dwindle with at least two games tonight and Tuesday involving undefeated teams. Several other games on the agenda tonight could produce a surprise or two.

Only one major tournament is scheduled this weekend—the Kentucky Invitational at Lexington. Kansas State, No. 8 in the preseason Associated Press poll, opposes Xavier of Ohio and Tennessee faces host Kentucky in the opening round Friday night.

An intersectional test tonight features a battle of unbeatens. Fifth-ranked Providence (5-0), winner of the postseason National Invitation Tourney last spring, visits DePaul (5-0).

Tuesday night St. Bonaventure (6-0) travels to Duquesne (5-0) in a clash between two teams that won tournaments this past weekend. The Bonnies edged Louisville 73-72 to win the Bluegrass Invitational at Louisville while Duquesne turned back Pittsburgh 73-70 in the Steel Bowl final at Pittsburgh.

Two other tournaments were played over the weekend. Tenth-ranked Seattle captured the City of Roses Tourney at Portland, Ore., with a 78-68 victory over St. Mary's and Auburn vanquished Virginia Tech 77-63 in the championship game of the Birmingham Classic.

Ohio State and Cincinnati, rated 1-2 nationally and each 5-0, are on the road tonight. Ohio State, a 92-72 victor over Chicago Loyola Saturday, meets St. Louis. Cincinnati, which posted its 27th straight triumph at the expense of Marshall 77-49 Saturday, faces Wichita, winner of six of seven starts.

Nicholson Is Top Jockey; Final Double Pays $258

Waterford Park closed the gates on its 1961 winter meeting but not before a handsome daily double was paid and Craig Nicholson rode three winners to capture riding honors.

A 4-2 combination of Russet Orange and Wee Cherie returned its backers $258.60. Both were of the longshot variety with Russet Orange paying $19, $10.60 and $6.40 while Wee Cherie was worth $23.80, $11.20 and $7.

Nicholson was aboard Russet Orange for his first of three winners Saturday and placed his total at 38 for the meeting edging runnerup Jesse Davidson by two winning mounts.

The total handle for the meeting was an impressive $9,880,989 while attendance totaled 134,462. A crowd of 4,094 showed up for the final card Saturday.

Painting Tips For Holidays

NEW YORK — Painting ranks high on the pre-holiday preparation list.

Just about everyone can — and does — paint, so just about everyone can — and will — benefit from a brief review of general painting information, starting with the:

Ceiling: Patch cracks if and where necessary and let dry hard —at least two days before painting. If you use a latex paint, first paint a margin around the entire ceiling where it meets the walls. Then paint across the width of the ceiling. Apply paint in strips about two feet wide. Work from a dry area into a wet area. If you use an alkyd paint, don't paint margin around the ceiling. Applying paint in 2-foot-wide strips, use a piece of cardboard as a guard around the walls.

Walls: Dust and fill wher necessary. An easy method is to begin on the upper right hand corner and work toward the left. Paint downward, covering an area of about two feet at a time. Here too, work from a dry area into a wet area.

Woodwork: Remove any smudges with soap and water. If you're using the same paint on the woodwork as you used on the walls, you can start painting this area while the walls are still wet. However, if you're using a different paint or enamel on woodwork, wait until the walls are dry before you paint.

Doors: Clean. Then begin with the panels. Next, paint the center rail, then the top and bottom rails, and finaly the vertical stiles and edges. If it's a flush door, begin in upper right hand corner, working toward the left and painting from a dry area into a wet one.

Windows: Professional painters use a special method which can be modified for do-it-yourselfers. But first be sure windows are clean and all loose or peeling paint is removed. Prime bare wood spots with enamel undercoat. On metal windows, remove any rust and prime bare metal spots with enamel undercoat. On metal windows, remove any rust and prime bare metal spots with a good metal primer. Protect glass with masking tape or use a metal shield as you paint.

Raise the bottom sash and lower the top sash so there are a few inches clearance at each end. Paint bottom sash first, covering as many areas as possible, but do not paint its bottom horizontal. This must be left unpainted until later.

Now begin painting the top sash. Here again, paint everything possible, with the exception of its top horizontal. Now, take hold of the unpainted bottom horizontal of lower sash and move to normal position. Raise upper sash, by pushing its unpainted top horizontal. Leave a slight space between sash and window opening. Paint unfinished parts of upper and lower sashes.

Floors: The tough floor enamels, available in decorator colors and natural wood tones, are handsome camouflage for worn softwood floors and worn linoleum, too. Painting technique? Just don't paint yourself into a corner. But if you do, rest easy. Modern quality paints dry in a couple of hours.

Area Man Participate In Military Exercises

Two East Liverpool and Irondale soldiers recently participated in Exercise Brandywine, a field training maneuver involving 26,000 troops in Germany.

They are Sp. 4 Fred D. Gaines, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gaines of Route 2, and Sgt. 1C Neal D. Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver D. Walters of Irondale Route 1.

Gaines, a bridge specialist in the 37th Engineer Group, entered the Army in November 1959. He completed basic training at Ft. Hood, Tex., and was sent overseas in April 1960. Before entering the Army, he was employed at Riverview Florists.

Walters, a platoon sergeant in the 26th Artillery, entered the Army in 1943 and arrived overseas in August 1958. His wife, Lott, is with him in Germany.

Cleveland Wife Slays Mate After Argument

CLEVELAND (AP)—A domestic quarrel ended in the death of Windrell Marshall, 52, who was shot eight times, police said.

Marshall's wife, Allien, 52, admitted emptying a .22-caliber revolver at her husband during a fight in their East Side home Sunday, police said.

Chemist Claimed

NEW YORK (AP)—Max Mayer, 81, German-born inventor of chemical processes and retired consultant for several chemical firms, died Saturday of a heart attack.

James Chadwick of the Cavendish Laboratory in Cambridge discovered the neutron in 1932.

Construction is progressing on the new $1,533,795 Western Beaver County Junior - Senior High School in Industry and doors are expected to be opened for students next September.

Shown is the front of the main building near one end with workmen on the roof above the cafeteria and auditorium area.

The wing at the right will house the gymnasium and industrial arts department. Walls have been erected, cement floors poured and roof and plumbing installed. Window openings have been covered with plastic, since a glass strike is holding up window installation.

The new building, which is also known as the "Burgett Building," is about 454 feet long and 324 feet wide. It will contain 15 regular classrooms besides a library, gymnasium, cafeteria - auditorium combination, offices and other rooms. It will accommodate 713 pupils.

Groundbreaking for the new school was held last April 15. It is located on the Fairview-Ohio View Rd. across from the new Ray W. Snyder elementary school, which was dedicated in August of 1960.

Louisiana Awaits Hot Ballot Battle

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—One of the hottest two-party political fights in Louisiana in years winds up Tuesday when the 4th District elects its new congressman.

A larger-than-normal absentee vote in the largest of the northwest Louisiana district's seven parishes indicated high interest in the election between Democrat Joe D. Waggonner and Republican Charlton H. Lyons Sr.

Waggonner, 43, of Plain Dealing, a member of the State Board of Education, remained a strong favorite to succeed the late Rep. Overtoon Brooks despite the vigorous campaign by Lyons, 67, Shreveport oilman.

The district has not elected a Republican since 1873.

Both candidates are segregationists and extreme conservatives. Their platforms are similar.

An indication of the degree of Lyons' uphill struggle is in the district's registration figures. About 97 per cent of the 95,221 registered voters are Democrats.

The Republican presidential ticket, with more than 40 per cent of the vote, led both the States Rights party's unpledged electors (including Waggonner) and the Democrats in the 1960 election.

At the same time, however, Brooks defeated Republican Fred McClanahan 48,286-16,827. Brooks died Sept. 16.

Ohio Municipal Group Gives Post To Mayor

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet has been named to the Board of Trustees of the Ohio Municipal League, an organization which represents 514 cities and villages throughout the state.

Mayor Goodballet will represent District 4, which includes Columbiana, Lake, Ashtabula, Geauga, Trumbull, Portage and Mahoning Counties.

Union Strikes Lorain Air Reduction Facility

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Management personnel are maintaining production at the Air Reduction Sales Co. after a strike by 24 members of Local 707, International Union of Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (AFL-CIO).

The plant, employing 33, was struck Sunday after a negotiation session Saturday was unsuccessful.

Law Figure Taken

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Sayre Macneil, 75, dean emeritus of Loyola Law School and former professor at Harvard Law School, died Saturday after a long illness. He was born in Los Angeles.

Here's A Report On New Products

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

What's new on the market?

The product — A line of wood fiber acoustical ceiling tiles with special qualities.

The manufacturer's claim—That these tiles have flame spread ratings comparable to non - combustible mineral tiles, due to a scientific process which impregnates every wood fiber with fireproofing chemicals.

The product — A kit which contains all the hardware required to build a 32-inch-square tool or all-purpose cabinet.

The manufacturer's claim — That, in addition to plans for the construction of a cabinet 32 inches by 32 inches and 8 inches deep, the kit contains, among its hardware, a set of four exclusive corner brackets that eliminate all mitering and dadoing.

THE PRODUCT — Dimensional carved panels which can be used for walls, folding doors, room dividers, shutters, carports, etc.

The manufacturer's claim — That a high-speed carving process give the wood the appearance of hand-sculptured grille work and that it also can be obtained in a variety of hardboards.

The product: An electronic instrument which permits music to flow out of every hot air register in a home.

The manufacturer's claim: That this instrument, mounted directly on the sheet metal chamber or duct above the hot air furnace and then connected to a hi-fi fidelity amplifier, radio or TV set, will transmit music evenly throughout the house without distortion.

The product: A new instant spray satin varnish.

The manufacturer's claim: That this varnish has a simulated hand-rubbed effect and, because of a polyurethane base, will resist household staining or spotting, even by alcohol, citrus juices and grease.

—:—

THE PRODUCT: A kit for making ceramic tile and similar repairs.

The manufacturer's claim: That this kit, which contains a grout mix, mortar box, trowel and mixer-edger, can be used for applying a mixture which dries to a white, rock-hard finish that resembles porcelain and therefore is especially useful in the bathroom.

Final Act Played In 'Penny Opera' After Record Run

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Threepenny Opera" is over.

Off-Broadway's long-run champ rang down the final curtain Sunday night after 2,612 performances. It closed with a sigh, a few tears and the pop of champagne corks.

The play, which made "Mack the Knife" a latter-day hit, had more performances than Broadway's current long-run champ, "My Fair Lady." The Lerner-Loewe musical, which opened in 1956 and is still running, had the benefit, however, of a much larger house.

The all-time Broadway long-run king is "Life With Father," which closed after 3,213 performances.

An overflow audience packed the 199-seat Theater de Lys in Greenwich Village for a quietly sentimental farewell.

Afterwards, cast and friends gathered on the stage for farewell toasts to the show that played to 750,000 spectators and grossed $3 million.

Integrationist Slated In Rally At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. was scheduled to address a freedom rally at Zion Baptist Church tonight.

The integrationist leader was arrested Saturday during mass demonstrations at Albany, Ga., but Baptist ministers here said King's secretary told them he expected to be freed in time to make the scheduled speech.

Professor, 44, Dies

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Private services will be held Tuesday for Robert T. Kretchmar, professor of physical education at Oberlin College, who died Sunday. He was 44.

Fat around beef and ham steaks is usually gashed to prevent curling during cooking.

Fire Aide Warns On Tree Hazards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Fire Marshal's Office has issued its annual warning about preventing Christmas tree fires.

"Although there is no positive method for flame-proofing trees, there are precautions that families can take to render them less susceptible to flames," Fire Marshal Wilson McLaughlin warned.

They are:

1. Purchase a tree that is freshly cut. To test this, bounce butt of tree hard on the ground. If needles shower down, tree is dry and not fresh.
2. Stand tree in water or snow until ready to use it indoors.
3. Just before setting up the tree, saw off trunk at an angle at least one inch above original cut.
4. Stand tree in water, making sure it is well supported to prevent it from being knocked over.
5. Keep tree away from sources of heat (fireplaces, radiators, hot air registers, etc.).

New York Police Hold Little Girl's Yule List

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're the little girl who lost a beige change purse in a midtown Manhattan five-and-ten cent store, here's your Christmas list:

Pappa, shaving cream.
Daddy, shaving cream.
Mamma, hanki.
Grandma, hanki.
Brother, lead pencil.
Mommy, another.

The purse also contained three $1 bills, a nickel and three pennies.

Police of the West 30th Street station are holding the purse, hoping the little girl will come and claim it. They don't want pappa, daddy, mamma, grandma, brother and mommy to have to do without their Christmas gifts.

Firebug Sets 5 More Blazes At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Michael J. Melillo, state arson investigator, says Youngstown "is faced with a dangerous situation and heavy financial loss" unless authorities capture a firebug who has been active the last two weekends.

Five places were hit on the South Side Saturday night. Damage to buildings and cars was estimated at $5,000. This is the same area where eight automobiles were set afire Dec. 9.

Mediators Join Talks In Long Elyria Strike

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—A three-man team of mediators today tackles the deadlocked negotiations between the Bendix-Westinghouse Automotive Air Brake Co. and United Auto Workers Local 971 in an effort to end a 38-day strike.

James L. MacPherso.., regional director of the federal Mediation Service, took the unusual step Sunday of naming two additional mediators from the Cleveland office to work with mediator Clair Willmeth, who has been in on negotiations to date.

Other mediators assigned were George R. Harris and Gilbert Seldin.

Issues include production standards, rates for certain jobs and health and safety measures.

Quakers Drop 1st To Akron Club, 53-49

SALEM — Akron Central staved off a fourth - quarter bid by Salem to hand the Quakers their first loss in two games, 53-49.

The strong Akron club, which put on a dazzling shooting exhibition to win an Akron City League contest the night before, grabbed a 20-13 lead at the first quarter then held the same margin, 33-26 at halftime.

Coach John Cabas' Quakers perked up and came within two points at the third quarter pole, 45-43, but failed to get ahead of the invaders.

Larry Davidson paced the Central charge with 18 points while Ted Thorne's 13 markers were high for Salem.

Salem's reserves nipped Akron, 47-45.

Heaton's Late Foul Shot Is Difference

SEBRING — Hanging on the edge of its first defeat, Lee Heaton became the man of the hour to keep Crestview's winning streak in tact at six straight with a 48-47 victory over Sebring Saturday night.

With only five seconds remaining and the score knotted a 47-47, Heaton calmly converted a foul shot for the slim edge.

In addition to being the hero with the last shot Heaton, a 5-foot-8 junior, led the scoring for Coach Bruce Weber's team by dumping in 23 points.

Crestview led 40-33 going into the fourth quarter but Sebring put on a dazzling spurt that finally put the hometeam even at 47-47 before Heaton made his winning charity toss.

Jerry Billingsley paced the losers with 16 points.

Sebring turned the tables on Crestview in the reserve game by coming out on top, 40-39.

Oilers Should Win Title

What's This? Boston Whips Western AFL Champs, 41-0

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston's Oilers have won nine in a row and are champions of the American Football League's Eastern Division.

Sunday's results indicated that they could pretty well count on making it 10 in a row before winding up the 1961 season.

San Diego's Chargers don't look like they will offer much resistance when the clubs clash at San Diego next Sunday for the league championship.

Houston ran over Oakland 47-16 in a record-making day and this was expected but when San Diego was beaten 41-0 by Boston it caused league officials to blanch.

San Diego sewed up the Western Division championship long ago but was beaten by Houston 33-13. Since then the Chargers have looked about like Houston did before it took stock of itself, brought in a new coach and started off on a nine-game winning streak.

San Diego had some injuries but the Chargers never complained about them when they were roaring through 11 straight games—before meeting Houston. Definitely there's something wrong with the really fine team of a month ago.

Houston's George Blanda and Billy Cannon led the record-smashing parade Sunday. Blanda threw for four touchdowns, giving him 36 scoring passes for the season. That bettered the league record of 34 set last year by Frank Tripucka of Denver.

Cannon ran for 145 yards to capture the league rushing title with 948 yards and better the record of 875 yards set by Abner Haynes of Dallas last year.

The Boston-San Diego game also produced a record when Gino Cappelletti of Boston scored 37 points and that was 24 better than the 1960 record of Gene Mingo of Denver.

Dallas beat New York 35-24 in the other game on Sunday's closing schedule and there was a record in it, too. Dave Grayson of Dallas ran a pass interception back 99 yards for a touchdown, which was 19 yards farther than the record set by Dave Webster of Dallas last year.

Ex-Major Leaguer Ping Bodie Dies At 74

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ping Bodie, 74, one of major league baseball's colorful characters four decades ago, died Sunday.

Bodie was an American League outfielder for nine seasons, with the Chicago White Sox 1911-14, the Philadelphia Athletics in 1917, and the New York Yankees 1918-21. He was a roommate of Babe Ruth's while playing for the Yankees.

Bodie, a slugger of the dead ball era, was christened Francis Pezzalo. He derived his baseball name from the "ping" of his bat when it met the ball and a ghost mining town he once lived in, Bodie, Calif.

Bodie inspired Bugs Baer's line about an unsuccessful attempt to steal a base—"Ping had larceny in his heart, but his feet were honest"—and furnished material for Ring Lardner's famous baseball fiction series, "You Know Me, Al."

Saturday's Liberty Bowl May Be Last

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Syracuse beat Miami 15-14 Saturday in a crackling good Liberty Bowl football game, but apparently even top-flight performance is no match for bad weather.

Ambrose (Bud) Dudley, head of the bowl association, said that unless he gets financial help the third game Saturday could have been the last.

Dudley suggested that business and industry buy blocks of tickets as a means of preserving the game in Philadelphia. He indicated there was a possibility he might promote the game elsewhere.

Only 15,712 showed up for Saturday's Syracuse-Miami game played in sub-freezing temperatures. Even with the $100,000 television money contributed by the National Broadcasting Co., Dudley and his associates will have to absorb a sizeable loss.

The game was everything a football fan could desire with Ernie Davis, Syracuse's All-America halfback, putting on a great show. The 210-pound workhorse carried the ball 30 times for 140

52,000 See Kansas, Rice In Bluebonnet

HOUSTON (AP)—A final audit of the Bluebonnet Bowl's box office probably won't be finished for several weeks, but the bowl president said today he expects the figures to be black again.

Bob Abercrombie, president of the bowl association, said he anticipates a profit on Saturday's Rice-Kansas game. He said the three-year-old bowl has never lost money. Proceeds go to charity.

Kansas, a three-point underdog, put on a second half rush to stun Rice, 33-7, before 52,000 fans.

Kansas had a 6-3-1 record before the bowl game. Rice was 7-3 for the season.

List Of Unbeaten College Outfits To Be Shortened

By The Associated Press

This could be a week of decision for a host of collegiate basketball powers as they put imposing records on the line in an effort to separate the men from the boys.

The ranks of the unbeaten definitely will dwindle with at least two games tonight and Tuesday involving undefeated teams. Several other games on the agenda tonight could produce a surprise or two.

Only one major tournament is scheduled this weekend—the Kentucky Invitational at Lexington. Kansas State, No. 8 in the preseason Associated Press poll, opposes Xavier of Ohio and Tennessee faces host Kentucky in the opening round Friday night.

An intersectional test tonight features a battle of unbeatens. Fifth-ranked Providence (5-0), winner of the postseason National Invitation Tourney last spring, visits DePaul (5-0).

Tuesday night St. Bonaventure (6-0) travels to Duquesne (5-0) in a clash between two teams that won tournaments this past weekend. The Bonnies edged Louisville 73-72 to win the Bluegrass Invitational at Louisville while Duquesne turned back Pittsburgh 73-70 in the Steel Bowl final at Pittsburgh.

Two other tournaments were played over the weekend. Tenth-ranked Seattle captured the City of Roses Tourney at Portland, Ore., with a 78-68 victory over St. Mary's and Auburn vanquished Virginia Tech 77-63 in the championship game of the Birmingham Classic.

Ohio State and Cincinnati, rated 1-2 nationally and each 5-0, are on the road tonight. Ohio State, a 92-72 victor over Chicago Loyola Saturday, meets St. Louis. Cincinnati, which posted its 27th straight triumph at the expense of Marshall 77-49 Saturday, faces Wichita, winner of six of seven starts.

Nicholson Is Top Jockey; Final Double Pays $258

Waterford Park closed the gates on its 1961 winter meeting but not before a handsome daily double was paid and Craig Nicholson rode three winners to capture riding honors.

A 4-2 combination of Russet Orange and Wee Cherie returned its backers $258.60. Both were of the longshot variety with Russet Orange paying $19, $10.60 and $6.40 while Wee Cherie was worth $23.80, $11.20 and $7.

Nicholson was aboard Russet Orange for his first of three winners Saturday and placed his total at 38 for the meeting edging runnerup Jesse Davidson by two winning mounts.

The total handle for the meeting was an impressive $9,880,989 while attendance totaled 134,462. A crowd of 4,094 showed up for the final card Saturday.

"What's happened to the nation's moral fiber? . . . All those men doing their gift shopping at the lingerie counter without a quiver of embarrassment!"

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I improve the appearance of dingy - looking rubber overshoes?

A. You can make these shoes presentable by washing with water containing a few drops of ammonia, then giving them a thin coating of liquid shoe dressing.

Q. How can I prevent cracking of patent - leather covering on the heels of a woman's shoes?

A. By coating this leather with some colorless fingernail polish.

Q. Is there anything I can do to remedy a blanket that's too short for a bed, or for the occupant therein?

A. You can make this blanket usable by sewing a 15-inch piece of flannel or flannelette to the bottom of the blanket. Nobody will notice it if you tuck the flannel part under the foot of the bed — and the rest of the blanket will then be long enough for practical use.

Q. Is there any way I can renovate the soles of rubber overshoes or boots that have worn smooth and are dangerous to wear on snow or ice?

A. You can retread these soles with a hot soldering iron. Simply burn shallow diagonal lines in criss-cross fashion for non-skid treads that will provide good traction.

Q. How can I clean a velvet coat collar?

A. By sponging it lightly with hot water and ammonia. Let dry, and sponge with alcohol. If the nap is badly crushed, steam it over the spout of a steaming teakettle.

Q. How can I remove fish and onion odors from my cutlery?

A. By adding a little ammonia or vinegar to your warm dish water. A little butter rubbed on the forks will also remove any odor.

Underweight Should Avoid Over-Fatigue

Thin girls, we'll take the column from your angle today and tomorrow. While you may not be able to gain during the holiday season, you can keep happy and hold your own by avoiding over-fatigue. Burning the candle at both ends does not give a lovely light for tense, tired underweights.

Ida Jean Kain

It's normal to be tired, but over-fatigue, particularly nervous fatigue, is destructive to both health and efficiency. The causes of nervous fatigue still remain somewhat of a mystery to scientists.

The very thing that makes one person nervous and jittery may help another to relax. Even more baffling is the fact that what may help you to relax at one time can have just the reverse effect at another time.

ONE MEDICAL authority on physical fitness has pointed out that regular rest periods are of the greatest value. There is simply no time to rest?

Well, the more one has to do, the more important it is to take the time to relax and rest. You will find that when you plan for regular rest periods you can actually accomplish more.

It's your time, and you will have to work out your own system. A resourceful young mother treats herself to a full hour in the middle of the day. With five children and no maid this takes a bit of doing.

While preparing the children's lunch, she sets aside a tray for herself, and always arranges to include one tasty treat in her lunch, such as a luscious pear and maybe a lemon drop for her tea.

After the children have finished lunch, she kisses the schoolers good-bye and tucks the little ones in for their nap. Having nap time at the same hour every day affords the added advantage of helping to establish a rest-rhythm.

This wise young mother then takes her tray into the living room...or to some favorite spot away from the kitchen. She eats a leisurely lunch and relaxes for a full, lovely hour. . .reading, relaxing to good music or dozing. This "daily vacation" restores her energies in an almost magical way, she claims.

STUDIES HAVE shown that weight gaining in both children and adults can be accomplished by a rest period before the evening meal, and a brief rest and change prior to the noon meal.

The number of calories needed daily to hold your own, or gain, depends upon the calories of energy expended daily, including those used up in tension as well as actual movement.

Our medical authority emphasized that the establishment of rest periods is the most important step a highly - strung underweight can take to prevent over-fatigue.

Child Under 6 Too Young For Chores

Many letters from parents relate to successes and failures at teaching their children to do home chores. Among those who report failures are mothers who have been trying to make children under six, some as young as three or four, responsible for chores. I've never advised mothers to assign regular chores to children so young. On the contrary, I have urged parents not to command the child under five to do anything they might ask of a child seven, nine or 12, and to limit their commands to the preschool-age child to the few things he must not do.

WHEN YOU MAKE a command you must carry it out. If not, you pave the way for the child's disobedience. While it might be very easy to command the child, three or four, not to throw a block at the window—one slap on his bare thigh might deter him or keep him from repeating such a forbidden act—you might beat him half to death without making him pick up the block if he chose not to do so.

If, therefore, you try to make your child of three or four do a regulary assigned chore, you can see how difficult it would be to make him responsible for this task. After six or seven, he may have had sufficient experience and development to be able to learn responsibility for one or more regular chores.

EVEN REQUIRING a child, three or four, to pick up his toys regularly at bedtime might not be easy to accomplish. Many wise and skillful parents, through positive suggestions, promptings, a little assistance and repeated approvals, might gradually win this tot's cooperation. By similar measures, he may even do many other things you ask him.

In general, I would entreat parents not to try to hold a child under five or six to doing an assigned, regular chore. But after he is six or seven, he should and could be required, as a rule, to do one or more chores, with a gradual increase in number and difficulty as he grows older.

My bulletins, "How to Teach Your Child to Help at Home" and "Stubborness," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Stores Raided At Weirton In Sunday Sales

Enforcement of the state's "Blue Laws" disrupted the business routine of five West Virginia retail establishments again yesterday.

Officers paraded into three Weirton discount stores, arresting only the three managers, and two Huntington establishments, picking up 24 employes.

Pick-Way Shoe Mart and Jim's Bargain Fair, both in Weirton, were struck twice yesterday, according to Manager Louis Cohen of Pick-Way. Both establishments had opened up after the first raid, only to be visited again within a few hours.

Also raided for conducting business on Sunday were the Value Center in Weirton and the Bazaar and Heck's Discount Stores in Huntington. It was the third successive Sunday that the Weirton stores had been raided and the second for Heck's.

Whiz Discount Store at Huntington, which constables raided the previous weekend, was not touched yesterday. A store spokesman said it was decided to close shop for the day shortly before 5 p.m. because the employes became tired and a cash register caught fire, apparently from ringing up sales.

Warrants were signed by retail merchants and their employes in the two areas.

Six persons were arrested at Heck's and 18 at the Bazaar.

Steelworkers' Union Will Stage Yule Party

Steelworkers Union Local 1212 will hold its annual Christmas party for the children of its members Friday afternoon at 3 at the Midland Union Hall.

Some 3,000 are expected to attend. Santa Claus will distribute gifts. Movies will be screened.

Prayers will be offered by Fr. Francis E. Paul of the Presentation Catholic Church, the Rev. Milorad Dobrota of St. Geroge's Serbian Orthodox Church and the Rev. J. M. Marbrey of the First Baptist Church.

All union officers will be present. Joseph D'Alesio, president of Local 1212, is in charge of arrangements.

Driver, 34, Cited In 3-Way Mishap

An area motorist was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after a three-car collision Saturday at 11:30 a. m. on Route 7 about four miles south of Toronto, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Jack Lee Chamberlin, 34, of Sprucevale Rd. struck the rear of another car driven by Eugene Jeans, 48, of Toronto and then veered off and hit the rear of a third car driven by Bernard Howell, 39, of Lewisville.

Chamberlin and Jeans were headed south when Howell pulled onto the highway into the path of the Jeans car. Jeans skidded, but managed to halt while Chamberlin was unable to do so.

Howell was arrested for failure to yield the right-of-way, the patrol said. A passenger in the Chamberlin car, Edna Chamberlin, 28, suffered an abrasions of the right arm.

Cumberland Crowns Miss Meissner Queen

NEW CUMBERLAND — Miss Johanna Meissner, blue - eyed brunette, reigned as queen at the high school's annual Christmas formal dance Saturday night in the school auditorium.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Meissner, 706 2nd Ave., she was escorted by George Myers.

The queen, 17, was crowned by Miss Mary Alice Spaulding, last year's winner. She was presented a bouquet of yellow mums during the coronation ceremony.

About 35 couples attended the dance, sponsored by the Senior Class.

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I improve the appearance of dingy - looking rubber overshoes?

A. You can make these shoes presentable by washing with water containing a few drops of ammonia, then giving them a thin coating of liquid shoe dressing.

Q. How can I prevent cracking of patent - leather covering on the heels of a woman's shoes?

A. By coating this leather with some colorless fingernail polish.

Q. Is there anything I can do to remedy a blanket that's too short for a bed, or for the occupant therein?

A. You can make this blanket usable by sewing a 15-inch piece of flannel or flannelette to the bottom of the blanket. Nobody will notice it if you tuck the flannel part under the foot of the bed — and the rest of the blanket will then be long enough for practical use.

Q. Is there any way I can renovate the soles of rubber overshoes or boots that have worn smooth and are dangerous to wear on snow or ice?

A. You can retread these soles with a hot soldering iron. Simply burn shallow diagonal lines in criss-cross fashion for non-skid treads that will provide good traction.

Q. How can I clean a velvet coat collar?

A. By sponging it lightly with hot water and ammonia. Let dry, and sponge with alcohol. If the nap is badly crushed, steam it over the spout of a steaming teakettle.

Q. How can I remove fish and onion odors from my cutlery?

A. By adding a little ammonia or vinegar to your warm dish water. A little butter rubbed on the forks will also remove any odor.

After the children have finished lunch, she kisses the schoolers good-bye and tucks the little ones in for their nap. Having nap time at the same hour every day affords the added advantage of helping to establish a rest-rhythm.

This wise young mother then takes her tray into the living room...or to some favorite spot away from the kitchen. She eats a leisurely lunch and relaxes for a full, lovely hour. . .reading, relaxing to good music or dozing. This "daily vacation" restores her energies in an almost magical way, she claims.

STUDIES HAVE shown that weight gaining in both children and adults can be accomplished by a rest period before the evening meal, and a brief rest and change prior to the noon meal.

The number of calories needed daily to hold your own, or gain, depends upon the calories of energy expended daily, including those used up in tension as well as actual movement.

Our medical authority emphasized that the establishment of rest periods is the most important step a highly - strung underweight can take to prevent over-fatigue.

Stores Raided At Weirton In Sunday Sales

Enforcement of the state's "Blue Laws" disrupted the business routine of five West Virginia retail establishments again yesterday.

Officers paraded into three Weirton discount stores, arresting only the three managers, and two Huntington establishments, picking up 24 employes.

Pick-Way Shoe Mart and Jim's Bargain Fair, both in Weirton, were struck twice yesterday, according to Manager Louis Cohen of Pick-Way. Both establishments had opened up after the first raid, only to be visited again within a few hours.

Also raided for conducting business on Sunday were the Value Center in Weirton and the Bazaar and Heck's Discount Stores in Huntington. It was the third successive Sunday that the Weirton stores had been raided and the second for Heck's.

Whiz Discount Store at Huntington, which constables raided the previous weekend, was not touched yesterday. A store spokesman said it was decided to close shop for the day shortly before 5 p.m. because the employes became tired and a cash register caught fire, apparently from ringing up sales.

Warrants were signed by retail merchants and their employes in the two areas.

Six persons were arrested at Heck's and 18 at the Bazaar.

Steelworkers' Union Will Stage Yule Party

Steelworkers Union Local 1212 will hold its annual Christmas party for the children of its members Friday afternoon at 3 at the Midland Union Hall.

Some 3,000 are expected to attend. Santa Claus will distribute gifts. Movies will be screened.

Prayers will be offered by Fr. Francis E. Paul of the Presentation Catholic Church, the Rev. Milorad Dobrota of St. Geroge's Serbian Orthodox Church and the Rev. J. M. Marbrey of the First Baptist Church.

All union officers will be present. Joseph D'Alesio, president of Local 1212, is in charge of arrangements.

Child Under 6 Too Young For Chores

Many letters from parents relate to successes and failures at teaching their children to do home chores. Among those who report failures are mothers who have been trying to make children under six, some as young as three or four, responsible for chores. I've never advised mothers to assign regular chores to children so young. On the contrary, I have urged parents not to command the child under five to do anything they might ask of a child seven, nine or 12, and to limit their commands to the preschool-age child to the few things he must not do.

WHEN YOU MAKE a command you must carry it out. If not, you pave the way for the child's disobedience. While it might be very easy to command the child, three or four, not to throw a block at the window—one slap on his bare thigh might deter him or keep him from repeating such a forbidden act—you might beat him half to death without making him pick up the block if he chose not to do so.

If, therefore, you try to make your child of three or four do a regulary assigned chore, you can see how difficult it would be to make him responsible for this task. After six or seven, he may have had sufficient experience and development to be able to learn responsibility for one or more regular chores.

EVEN REQUIRING a child, three or four, to pick up his toys regularly at bedtime might not be easy to accomplish. Many wise and skillful parents, through positive suggestions, promptings, a little assistance and repeated approvals, might gradually win this tot's cooperation. By similar measures, he may even do many other things you ask him.

In general, I would entreat parents not to try to hold a child under five or six to doing an assigned, regular chore. But after he is six or seven, he should and could be required, as a rule, to do one or more chores, with a gradual increase in number and difficulty as he grows older.

Driver, 34, Cited In 3-Way Mishap

An area motorist was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after a three-car collision Saturday at 11:30 a. m. on Route 7 about four miles south of Toronto, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Jack Lee Chamberlin, 34, of Sprucevale Rd. struck the rear of another car driven by Eugene Jeans, 48, of Toronto and then veered off and hit the rear of a third car driven by Bernard Howell, 39, of Lewisville.

Chamberlin and Jeans were headed south when Howell pulled onto the highway into the path of the Jeans car. Jeans skidded, but managed to halt while Chamberlin was unable to do so.

Howell was arrested for failure to yield the right-of-way, the patrol said. A passenger in the Chamberlin car, Edna Chamberlin, 28, suffered an abrasions of the right arm.
